Vote Is in Public Interest: AMA View

Kennedy Brands Medicare Defeat Serious Loss to Every American

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has killed the administration's compromise medical care plan for the elderly on a 52-48 vote, branded by President Kennedy as "a most serious defeat for every American family."

Kennedy promptly fired his stinging reverse by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats into a major issue for the November congressional elections and said he would offer the program again next year.

Coalition Follows Pattern

The American Medical Association, which led the fight against the program that would have been financed through higher Social Security payments, said Tuesday's Senate action was "a vote in the public interest."

Kennedy had placed the medical care plan in the top priority bracket of his legislative program. The coalition that scrapped it was of the same pattern of the one that had killed two of his other major proposals in the House —his farm bill and his plan to set up a Department of Urban Affairs.

Joining 31 Republicans to kill the medical care plan were 21 Democrats, 17 of them Southerners. Five Republicans who cosponsored the compromise voted with 43 Democrats in trying to save it.

The showdown was on approval of a motion by Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to table and thus kill an amendment by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., that would have hooked the plan onto a House-passed public welfare bill.

Bitterly Fought Issue

The climax to the most bitterly fought issue of the current session came at midafternoon in a packed Senate chamber. All 100 senators were on hand. Many House members and Senate employes huddled at the rear of the floor. Capacity crowds filled the galleries.

An hour after the Senate vote, Kennedy went before television cameras and radio microphones to read a statement. He said the defeat had dealt a setback to 17 million Americans over 65, and was a blow to children of older persons who have to educate their families and help their parents meet medical expenses.

Then he added:

"I think the American people are going to make a decision in November as to whether they want this bill, and similar bills, to be passed, or whether they want it to be defeated. Nearly all the Republicans and a handful of Democrats joined with them to give us today's setback. . .

"We have to decide, the United States, in 1962, in November, in

Albany Is For Botein In Top Job

Stratton Camp Is Yelling Tammany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The tightly knit Albany County Democratic organization has joined Manhattan in supporting Justice Bernard Botein for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Although the Upstate county commands only 33 votes at the party's nominating convention, the influence of the county chairman, Daniel P. O'Connell, is strong and of long-standing in statewide party affairs.

Has Tompkins County

Albany is the second Upstate area to join in support of Botein. The Tompkins county Democratic chairman came out in support of the 62-year-old New York City jurist earlier this week.

The Albany Times-Union said in a copyrighted story today it had learned that Botein had gathered enough support to win the nomination. The support includes that of Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon, the newspaper said.

McKeon's office said, however, that the chairman considered the race to be wide open. McKeon "will support whichever candidate is selected by the state convention," his office said.

Blast From Stratton Camp

The effort to draft Botein, who is presiding justice of the First Department of the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, drew a blast from George Palmer, Schenectady County Democratic chairman and supporter of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton for the nomination.

Palmer said the movement indicated that "the cynical forces of Tammany bossism have again taken over the Democratic Party." He pledged to fight against Botein at the nominating convention, which will be held in Syracuse in September.

Launched Saturday

Edward M. Costikyan, Manhattan chairman, launched the Botein movement Saturday. None of the other county chairmen in the city have joined him. Manhattan will send 118 delegates to the convention. The convention is made up of 1,138 delegates, 544 from the five New York City counties.

One of the other gubernatorial candidates is Frank D. O'Connor, district attorney of Queens, which has a delegate strength of 119.

Besides Botein, Stratton and O'Connor, the other candidate commanding some support is Howard W. Samuels, an industrialist from Canandaigua. He was endorsed Tuesday by Schuyler County, the sixth county to do so.

Dobrynin, JFK Talk Laos, Arms

Berlin Deadlock Likely to Remain

WASHINGTON (AP)—In words destined for Premier Khrushchev, President Kennedy is reported to have told the Soviet ambassador that the Soviet Union's demand for removal of U.S. troops from West Berlin is totally unacceptable.

Kennedy met with Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin for an hour Tuesday night in his office at the White House. They also discussed Laos, disarmament and the problem of a ban on nuclear tests.

Has No Comment

Dobrynin said as he climbed into his limousine to return to his embassy, "It would be improper for me to comment."

Kennedy intervened personally in U.S.-Soviet talks on the Berlin situation in the evident hope of overcoming any lingering belief in Moscow that the troops issue may be negotiable or that the United States would yet yield to threats and pressures and accept some kind of compromise for West Berlin's military protection.

Rusk to See Gromyko

The President's move came two days before Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves for Geneva where he plans to talk over the East-West Berlin stalemate with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The occasion for their gathering in Geneva will be the signing of accords on the neutralization of Laos.

The effect of Kennedy's action is to reinforce Rusk's position at a crucial stage of the U.S.-Soviet talks.

Deadlocked Now

The talks which began last September are deadlocked. There is little hope in official quarters that the deadlock can be broken in the predictable future. There is some lingering hope that if Khrushchev fully understands U.S. determination in support of West Berlin he may be willing to reach some agreement on what the diplomats call a "modus vivendi"—a way of living with the situation without stirring up major crises periodically.

It was authoritatively reported that Kennedy's main concern in the unusual session with Dobrynin was to emphaszie personally the importance he attaches to the U.S. position that the Soviet demand for withdrawal of U.S., British and French troops from West Berlin is nonnegotiable.

Area Conservative Would Like Debate With Sen. Javits

Frank S. Meyer of Woodstock, a member of the executive committee of the Conservative Party of New York State, Inc., has accepted a challenge on behalf of the Conservative Party Club of Woodstock to debate Republican Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York.

Meyer, a member of the Woodstock Conservative Club, said: "It would be a pleasure to debate the Senator," when informed of the challenge issued by Donald MacCollam, president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club.

Refers to Voting Record

The challenge was issued after Meyer, a former member of the Communist Party in the United States, had castigated Senator Javits as "Mr. A.D.A." in referring to the senator's voting record which has a 100 per cent rating from the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action. The senator, Meyer said, is the only Republican member of the U. S. Senate on the ADA's 100 per cent list, which also includes 19 Democrats.

William Jackson, chairman of the Conservative Party Club of Woodstock, has asked MacCollam to set the time and place for the meeting between Meyer and Senator Javits.

If the debate is arranged, Meyer and Senator Javits will discuss Republican party principles as interpreted by the Conservatives and the present Republican party.

Not Local Fight

The Conservative Party is in no way fighting the Republican Party at the local level, Meyer stated. The Conservatives would consider endorsing a local candidate, if a qualified candidate requested endorsement from the party. He said this was unlikely since the New York State Re-

Prado Seized In Bloodless Peruvian Coup

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Troops moved in on the government palace early today and seized President Manuel Prado in a military coup.

Weeks of Crisis

The coup, climaxing weeks of crisis, was bloodless.

Tanks and troops surrounded the palace, then Prado was taken away in a military vehicle.

The military acted after charging that the June 10 presidential elections were fraudulent.

A last minute political deal to swing the disputed presidency to former dictator Manuel Odria failed.

The target of the army wrath was Victor Raul Maya de la Torre, controversial political figure who ran first in the election but failed to get enough votes for the presidency.

A leftist but anti-Communist, he long has been at odds with the army and other politicians.

His Popular Revolutionary Alliance (APRA) agreed Tuesday to throw the presidency to the rightist Odria, who was third in the voting.

Balked at Arrangement

The military, however, apparently would not settle for such an arrangement although Odria is a conservative. Odria would need the support of Haya's forces in Congress, where the Odria and Haya groups would have a majority.

The constitution requires that Congress choose the president from among the three top men in the election unless the high man gets one-third of the total vote. Haya fell 6,000 votes short, Fernando Belaunde Terry came second and Odria was third. The leftist APRA and the rightist Odrista Union together will have a comfortable majority in the new Congress—if the military lets it meet.

After the APRA-Odria deal, outgoing President Manuel Prado restored Premier Carlos Monreyra Paz Soldan and his Cabinet to office, rejecting all but one of the resignations the Cabinet had submitted Monday. The sole holdout,

'Big Shot' Really Big Show

Space Balloon Largest Fired; Success: NASA

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The largest space vehicle ever sent aloft — a balloon which inflated to the height of a 13-story building — was rocketed 950 miles above the Atlantic Ocean today as a forerunner of an advanced Echo communications satellite.

The gleaming silvery sphere, dubbed "Big Shot," provided a brief but spectacular show for ground observers in the Cape Canaveral area as it separated from the Thor booster, expanded to its full 135-foot diameter, and drifted across the predawn sky. It was visible for nearly 10 minutes before becoming obscured by haze and cloud.

Clouds apparently confined observation of the big ball to the Cape area. Clear skies would have permitted observation of the balloon throughout much of the eastern United States.

Today's shot was to determine whether the balloon would expand and hold its form after being sent aloft. There were no communications tests.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced success of the mission, which paves the way for launching a similar balloon into orbit later this year as the Echo II experimental communications satellite.

After rising to 950 miles the balloon plunged back and burned up as intended in the earth's atmosphere. Death of the sphere occurred about 23 minutes after the 4:30 a.m. launching, some 600 miles south of the cape.

"Big Shot" is easily the largest package ever sent into space. However, many U.S. satellites have weighed much more than its 510 pounds.

A television camera mounted in the head of the Thor booster rocket sent live pictures of the balloon inflation to a monitor on the Cape. Officials reported they were of excellent quality and clearly showed the inflating of the balloon after it was released from a canister in the nose of the Thor.

Recovery craft waited about 250 miles northeast of San Salvador to try to pick up films made by a movie camera board the rocket that also recorded the inflation process.

To Distribute Ravena Cement at New Conn. Plant

Plans for a $750,000 cement distribution plant to be constructed at Middletown, Conn., as part of the $64 million construction program of Atlantic Cement Co., Inc., which is erecting at Ravena "the largest cement plant in the world ever to have been built at one time," was announced Monday by the company.

The 20,000-barrel plant will be located on a 2.5 acre site occupied by Charles Gordon & Sons, Portland. The Connecticut facility is the tenth on an expanding network of distribution plants Atlantic is building along the Eastern seaboard from New England to Florida.

Atlantic Cement Company was formed in March 1961, by Cerro Corp., and Newmont Mining Corp., and is erecting the large plant at Ravena, a few miles south of Albany on the Hudson River. All of the cement distributed through the facilities at Boston, Bayonne, Baltimore, Norfolk, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa, Ft. Lauderdale, Charleston, N. C., and the new Connecticut facility, will be manufactured at Ravena in the plant capable of producing 10 million barrels of cement annually.

Atlantic will transport cement by specially designed ocean-going barges to the tidewater distribution plants. One of the transportation ships is the "Angela" a 420 by 80 foot vessel believed to be the world's largest ocean going barge in the world with a capacity of 15,000 long tons or 90,000 barrels of bulk cement, and is self-unloading. She is expected to make her maiden trip this year.

Savings Banks Ask Restrictions Cut On Branch Offices

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Savings banks asked the Legislature today to remove restrictions on the number and location of savings bank branch offices.

The request was made by Alfred S. Mills, president of the Savings Banks Association of New York State, in remarks prepared for delivery at a hearing of the Joint Legislative Committee on Revision of the Banking Law.

It was the second day of the two-day hearing on bills that will be introduced in the 1963 session of the Legislature.

In addition to removal of branch office restrictions, Mills also asked that savings banks be allowed to offer personal loans, that restrictions be removed on the amounts that may be held in individual savings accounts, and that savings banks be permitted to offer thrift service features available in competing financial institutions.

He said the 127 savings banks in the state were united in requesting the changes. Their object, Mills said, is "to make more savings bank services conveniently available to more people in New York State."

Dedicated to Education

Gilday's Aim Is to Increase Public Interest in Schools

Andrew T. Gilday, newly-elected president of the Kingston Board of Education, has set as his major goals the development of greater community interest in the city schools and the strengthening of the internal functions of the board.

When Gilday was chosen by his colleagues at the reorganizational meeting on July 2 to head the board in the 1962-63 school year, he declared the enthusiasm of the school administration and staff and the understanding and cooperation of the public were essential "to give the youngsters of the Kingston city schools the type of education they deserve."

Expanding on these views in an interview this week, Gilday said that he was disappointed in the lack of public interest in our public schools, especially at the budget hearing in June when only three citizens of Kingston appeared for the meeting and during the last school election when less than one-fifth of the qualified voters of the consolidation turned out at the polls. However, he said he believed a trend toward more active public participation was under way in the city.

"Until recently," he stated, "there has been distinct apathy. But now various segments of the public and community groups that have contacted me seem to indicate a new interest. It would be well if a greater cross section of the public would let the board know their views. Parents and the community at large should be actively concerned with the curriculum and what goes on in the schools."

According to Gilday, there is room for improvement not only in the board's relations with the

24 Counties Are Scorched

Over Half of State Farmland Included in Disaster Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Twenty-four counties representing more than half of the state's farmland were listed by the state today as disaster areas because of the 10-week drought.

Gov. Rockefeller added 14 counties to the list of 10 Tuesday. He acted upon the recommendation of the State Disaster Committee, which met here.

The additional counties are Clinton, Columbia, Cortland, Dutchess, Onondaga, Orange, Otsego, Rensselaer, Sullivan, Chemung, Broome, Tioga, Steuben and Madison.

The governor previously had declared as disaster areas the counties of Allegany, Chenango, Delaware, Franklin, Herkimer, Oneida, Schuyler, Tompkins, Yates and St. Lawrence.

The State Agriculture Department said the 24 counties represented more than 7 million acres of farmland and included 38,000 of the state's 80,000 farms.

The action by Rockefeller is the first step in assisting farmers in those areas to obtain federal aid in the form of low-interest loans and permission to use lands retired in the soil bank.

Joseph Sugden, chairman of the State Disaster Committee, said he expected that the U.S. Agriculture Department would act promptly on the requests for aid.

Dairy farmers have been hardest hit by the drought. Hay and feed crops have been cut back up to 60 per cent and many grazing pastures have been burned out.

Sugden said the drought also had ruined about 25 per cent of the the vegetable and fruit crops in the state and the quality of the remainder would be affected.

"It's going to get a lot worse if it doesn't rain soon," he said.

The Weather Bureau could offer only the hope of scattered showers in the state today or Thursday. The long-range forecast is for subnormal rainfall.

Sugden said he expected more counties to apply for designation as disaster areas. His committee is to meet Thursday in Syracuse to consider applications from Ontario, Ulster and Jefferson counties.

In Washington, D.C., Rep. Samuel S. Stratton urged the secretary of agriculture to suspend temporarily sections of the New York-New Jersey milk-marketing order. The suspension would permit dairymen a higher return on their milk.

A county welfare official in Utica said distribution of surplus food were being made to migrant farm workers unable to work a full week because of the drought. The bean crop has been reduced, he said.

Kennedy Brands Medicare Defeat Serious Loss to Every American

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has killed the administration's compromise medical care plan for the elderly on a 52-48 vote, branded by President Kennedy as "a most serious defeat for every American family."

Kennedy promptly fired his stinging reverse by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats into a major issue for the November congressional elections and said he would offer the program again next year.

Coalition Follows Pattern

The American Medical Association, which led the fight against the program that would have been financed through higher Social Security payments, said Tuesday's Senate action was "a vote in the public interest."

Kennedy had placed the medical care plan in the top priority bracket of his legislative program. The coalition that scrapped it was of the same pattern of the one that had killed two of his other major proposals in the House —his farm bill and his plan to set up a Department of Urban Affairs.

Joining 31 Republicans to kill the medical care plan were 21 Democrats, 17 of them Southerners. Five Republicans who cosponsored the compromise voted with 43 Democrats in trying to save it.

An hour after the Senate vote, Kennedy went before television cameras and radio microphones to read a statement. He said the defeat had dealt a setback to 17 million Americans over 65, and was a blow to children of older persons who have to educate their families and help their parents meet medical expenses.

Then he added:

Although the Upstate county commands only 33 votes at the party's nominating convention, the influence of the county chairman, Daniel P. O'Connell, is strong and of long-standing in statewide party affairs.

Albany is the second Upstate area to join in support of Botein. The Tompkins county Democratic chairman came out in support of the 62-year-old New York City jurist earlier this week.

McKeon's office said, however, that the chairman considered the race to be wide open. McKeon "will support whichever candidate is selected by the state convention," his office said.

Blast From Stratton Camp

The effort to draft Botein, who is presiding justice of the First Department of the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, drew a blast from George Palmer, Schenectady County Democratic chairman and supporter of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton for the nomination.

Palmer said the movement indicated that "the cynical forces of Tammany bossism have again taken over the Democratic Party." He pledged to fight against Botein at the nominating convention, which will be held in Syracuse in September.

Launched Saturday

Edward M. Costikyan, Manhattan chairman, launched the Botein movement Saturday. None of the other county chairmen in the city have joined him. Manhattan will send 118 delegates to the convention. The convention is made up of 1,138 delegates, 544 from the five New York City counties.

One of the other gubernatorial candidates is Frank D. O'Connor, district attorney of Queens, which has a delegate strength of 119.

Besides Botein, Stratton and O'Connor, the other candidate commanding some support is Howard W. Samuels, an industrialist from Canandaigua. He was endorsed Tuesday by Schuyler County, the sixth county to do so.

Frank S. Meyer of Woodstock, a member of the executive committee of the Conservative Party of New York State, Inc., has accepted a challenge on behalf of the Conservative Party Club of Woodstock to debate Republican Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York.

Meyer, a member of the Woodstock Conservative Club, said: "It would be a pleasure to debate the Senator," when informed of the challenge issued by Donald MacCollam, president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club.

Today's shot was to determine whether the balloon would expand and hold its form after being sent aloft. There were no communications tests.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced success of the mission, which paves the way for launching a similar balloon into orbit later this year as the Echo II experimental communications satellite.

After rising to 950 miles the balloon plunged back and burned up as intended in the earth's atmosphere. Death of the sphere occurred about 23 minutes after the 4:30 a.m. launching, some 600 miles south of the cape.

"Big Shot" is easily the largest package ever sent into space. However, many U.S. satellites have weighed much more than its 510 pounds.

A television camera mounted in the head of the Thor booster rocket sent live pictures of the balloon inflation to a monitor on the Cape. Officials reported they were of excellent quality and clearly showed the inflating of the balloon after it was released from a canister in the nose of the Thor.

Recovery craft waited about 250 miles northeast of San Salvador to try to pick up films made by a movie camera board the rocket that also recorded the inflation process.

380th Chemical Company in Fort Bragg Ceremony

Kingston's 380th Chemical Company (Maintenance), due for release from active duty Aug. 8, is to be one of the marching units participating in the formal departure ceremony Saturday morning for the mobilized National Guard and Reserve units stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C.

The 380th Chemical was activated in October of 1961 and has been stationed at Fort Bragg since that time. The unit is due to arrive in Kingston between Aug. 6 and Aug. 8 according to Capt. Michael Zdrodowski, unit commander.

To Distribute Ravena Cement at New Conn. Plant

Plans for a $750,000 cement distribution plant to be constructed at Middletown, Conn., as part of the $64 million construction program of Atlantic Cement Co., Inc., which is erecting at Ravena "the largest cement plant in the world ever to have been built at one time," was announced Monday by the company.

The 20,000-barrel plant will be located on a 2.5 acre site occupied by Charles Gordon & Sons, Portland. The Connecticut facility is the tenth on an expanding network of distribution plants Atlantic is building along the Eastern seaboard from New England to Florida.

Atlantic Cement Company was formed in March 1961, by Cerro Corp., and Newmont Mining Corp., and is erecting the large plant at Ravena, a few miles south of Albany on the Hudson River. All of the cement distributed through the facilities at Boston, Bayonne, Baltimore, Norfolk, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa, Ft. Lauderdale, Charleston, N. C., and the new Connecticut facility, will be manufactured at Ravena in the plant capable of producing 10 million barrels of cement annually.

Atlantic will transport cement by specially designed ocean-going barges to the tidewater distribution plants. One of the transportation ships is the "Angela" a 420 by 80 foot vessel believed to be the world's largest ocean going barge in the world with a capacity of 15,000 long tons or 90,000 barrels of bulk cement, and is self-unloading. She is expected to make her maiden trip this year.

Savings Banks Ask Restrictions Cut On Branch Offices

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Savings banks asked the Legislature today to remove restrictions on the number and location of savings bank branch offices.

The request was made by Alfred S. Mills, president of the Savings Banks Association of New York State, in remarks prepared for delivery at a hearing of the Joint Legislative Committee on Revision of the Banking Law.

It was the second day of the two-day hearing on bills that will be introduced in the 1963 session of the Legislature.

In addition to removal of branch office restrictions, Mills also asked that savings banks be allowed to offer personal loans, that restrictions be removed on the amounts that may be held in individual savings accounts, and that savings banks be permitted to offer thrift service features available in competing financial institutions.

He said the 127 savings banks in the state were united in requesting the changes. Their object, Mills said, is "to make more savings bank services conveniently available to more people in New York State."

Dedicated to Education

Gilday's Aim Is to Increase Public Interest in Schools

Andrew T. Gilday, newly-elected president of the Kingston Board of Education, has set as his major goals the development of greater community interest in the city schools and the strengthening of the internal functions of the board.

When Gilday was chosen by his colleagues at the reorganizational meeting on July 2 to head the board in the 1962-63 school year, he declared the enthusiasm of the school administration and staff and the understanding and cooperation of the public were essential "to give the youngsters of the Kingston city schools the type of education they deserve."

Expanding on these views in an interview this week, Gilday said that he was disappointed in the lack of public interest in our public schools, especially at the budget hearing in June when only three citizens of Kingston appeared for the meeting and during the last school election when less than one-fifth of the qualified voters of the consolidation turned out at the polls. However, he said he believed a trend toward more active public participation was under way in the city.

"Until recently," he stated, "there has been distinct apathy. But now various segments of the public and community groups that have contacted me seem to indicate a new interest. It would be well if a greater cross section of the public would let the board know their views. Parents and the community at large should be actively concerned with the curriculum and what goes on in the schools."

According to Gilday, there is room for improvement not only in the board's relations with the

Over Half of State Farmland Included in Disaster Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Twenty-four counties representing more than half of the state's farmland were listed by the state today as disaster areas because of the 10-week drought.

Gov. Rockefeller added 14 counties to the list of 10 Tuesday. He acted upon the recommendation of the State Disaster Committee, which met here.

The additional counties are Clinton, Columbia, Cortland, Dutchess, Onondaga, Orange, Otsego, Rensselaer, Sullivan, Chemung, Broome, Tioga, Steuben and Madison.

The governor previously had declared as disaster areas the counties of Allegany, Chenango, Delaware, Franklin, Herkimer, Oneida, Schuyler, Tompkins, Yates and St. Lawrence.

The State Agriculture Department said the 24 counties represented more than 7 million acres of farmland and included 38,000 of the state's 80,000 farms.

The action by Rockefeller is the first step in assisting farmers in those areas to obtain federal aid in the form of low-interest loans and permission to use lands retired in the soil bank.

Joseph Sugden, chairman of the State Disaster Committee, said he expected that the U.S. Agriculture Department would act promptly on the requests for aid.

Dairy farmers have been hardest hit by the drought. Hay and feed crops have been cut back up to 60 per cent and many grazing pastures have been burned out.

Sugden said the drought also had ruined about 25 per cent of the the vegetable and fruit crops in the state and the quality of the remainder would be affected.

"It's going to get a lot worse if it doesn't rain soon," he said.

The Weather Bureau could offer only the hope of scattered showers in the state today or Thursday. The long-range forecast is for subnormal rainfall.

Sugden said he expected more counties to apply for designation as disaster areas. His committee is to meet Thursday in Syracuse to consider applications from Ontario, Ulster and Jefferson counties.

In Washington, D.C., Rep. Samuel S. Stratton urged the secretary of agriculture to suspend temporarily sections of the New York-New Jersey milk-marketing order. The suspension would permit dairymen a higher return on their milk.

A county welfare official in Utica said distribution of surplus food were being made to migrant farm workers unable to work a full week because of the drought. The bean crop has been reduced, he said.

General Clay Thinks Khrush Would Fight Over Berlin to Smash Unity Movement

Morale Is Not Broken Over Wall

Freedom Program Thorn to Soviets

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Writer

President Kennedy's personal representative to Berlin feels Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be using that perennial crisis to sow fears and differences among the Western Allies and impede European progress toward political unity.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who commanded the 1948-49 operation that broke the Berlin blockade, says he notes substantial improvement in West Berlin's situation at the moment and adds he sees no immediate change in prospect.

But he cautions Khrushchev conceivably might risk war over the city, not because he wants free West Berlin that badly, but because "he wants to destroy the movement toward political unity in Western Europe."

Symbol of Promise

Clay, to many Germans a symbol of a U.S. promise not to abandon West Berlin to communism, advanced his views in an exclusive and unusually illuminating interview in New York with The Associated Press, the first half of which follows in question and answering form. The second half of the interview will be presented Thursday.

Q. You are getting to be quite a commuter to Berlin aren't you, general?

A. Well I hope I'll be lengthening the time between visits, because I think they are in a status quo there now. It could last for many, many months.

Q. Why?

A. Well in the first place the morale of the people in Berlin has withstood the wall and there is not much that the Communists can do to frighten Berlin short of those measures that would undoubtedly lead to massive counter measures. The pin-pricks which they might exert against the Allies carried great risk. And they proved to be a failure in disturbing the Berliners. So I don't see what they have to gain out taking that risk.

Q. Will your mission continue for the duration of the Berlin crisis?

A. I don't think we know. The President has asked me to continue as an advisor and obviously there is very little advice to give as long as we stay in the position of status quo. As far as Berlin is concerned there has been a substantial improvement.

Q. In what way?

A. Well the morale of the people has returned to normal and in fact I think they are probably more determined than ever to hold out. The economy of the city has recovered from the initial shock and looks like it is on the move again.

Q. But the basic situation as between the West and the Russians?

A. It remains unchanged and I don't see any immediate change in prospect.

Q. What do you suppose was behind Khrushchev's recent proposal, which we rejected, that Western troops in Berlin be replaced by Norwegian-Danish or Belgian-Dutch plus Czech-Polish forces?

A. I think Mr. Khrushchev would like very much to get the Allies out of West Berlin. The presence of the Allied troops there and the rapid development of the city has of course made it a veritable citadel of freedom behind the Iron Curtain which he would like to destroy.

Now this proposal to replace the Allies with the troops of other nations, of course, doesn't make very much sense. We are in Berlin as a result of victory in war. Many of these nations were not even in the war. There is no right to garrison Berlin per se. The people of West Berlin cannot be made to accept garrisons from any and all countries.

We have added to that a firm commitment to the people of West Berlin that as long as they want our troops there they will be there. We couldn't give up on that commitment under any circumstances.

Q. Why do you suppose Khrushchev brought it up? Is it some sort of a gambit?

Compromise Sign

A. Yes. I think it's to show—before the world—that he is willing to compromise and find a settlement. He has several times said he would be glad to see West Berlin made into an international city. Now by that he means a city completely free and independent but having no connections with the Federal Republic of Germany. And of course a little enclave like West Berlin, entirely behind the Iron Curtain, would quickly fade away if it did not have its connections with the Federal Republic.

Q. Khrushchev said that the possibility of war over Berlin is "ever more ominous." What do you think?

A. I would say that possibility is entirely under the control of Mr. Khrushchev. Only if Mr. Khrushchev takes aggressive actions to destroy the city, to lesson the authority and responsibility of the Allies, will war become a possibility or a threat. So Mr. K to this extent is in control. He can make it a place where war can easily break out. But no one but Mr. K can do that.

Q. But your general feeling is that tension has lessened and the possibility of war is lower?

A. I think you have got to remember that the tensions we are speaking of are two different kinds. The important tension which existed between the U.S. and its Allies and Russia has abated. The constant needling of the Allies by the Soviets and East Germans has stopped. They are no longer threatening our air corridors. The general atmosphere is much more free of tension than it has been for some time. This is why it is possible to conduct talks that are going on now.

On the other hand the tension between the East German and the West German in Berlin has not abated. The wall is still there. The constant attempts of desperate people to escape through the wall leads to constant shootings across the border. People are killed quite frequently.

Q. The question of Berlin constantly comes up in Communist discussions of other issues such as nuclear weapons and diarmament. In propaganda to Germany the Communists say the U.S. is planning "new harassing maneuvers" against any solution in Berlin and intending to direct some sort of West German atomic aggression eastward. Are they leading up to something?

Use Fear Tactics

A. Of course, the Soviet government has already indicated its considerable apprehension over the growth of the Common Market and over its movement toward political unity. It has always been their view that these kinds of movements could be stopped by creating new tensions, new apprehensions, new fears. I have a feeling that their actions against Berlin have this in view.

For this reason, and since the alliance continues to grow very strongly towards eventual political union, I am inclined to believe that we may expect further pushes from Mr. K against Berlin.

At the present moment the economy of East Germany is in rather bad shape. That economy is oriented to West Germany and without trade with Western Germany it might indeed put East Germany in a very difficult economic position. Great efforts are being made to re-orient the economy of East Germany toward Warsaw Pact countries. This will take some time.

I doubt if the Communist countries will be included to take any moves that risk a break in the East German West German trade until they have succeeded in re-orienting the East German economy. This is another reason why I think we have an interlude of relative quiet in Berlin.

Q. You think, then, if he does do anything about Berlin it's primarily with an eye toward undermining the Western alliance?

Not For Berlin Alone

A. There is a possibility that to stop the development of Western European political unity he might even be willing to risk war. It is certain he wouldn't risk war just for Berlin. So if these developments take place, if he begins to take the actions which could lead to war in Berlin it would not be because he wants Berlin. It would be because he wants to destroy the movement toward political unity in Western Europe.

Q. Khrushchev and other Communists have been repeating word for word the Warsaw Pact declaration of June 7, that unless the West agrees to sign peace treaties with both Germanys, the East will go ahead on its own with all the consequences that it involves. Does this sound to you like a new ultimatum in the making?

A. This ultimatum has been one that has existed since 1958 and it is now 1962. I would suppose that there will come a time when Mr. K does have to go ahead with a peace treaty. Even if he does he could put in the reservations which would protect the rights of the Allies in West Berlin. If he doesn't why of course the peace treaty could lead to very serious consequences. I don't know when he is going to sign this peace treaty, if ever. I can't get excited because he talks about it again, since it has been a constant threat since 1958.

I also think it is very important that we must remember several things about this Berlin situation. One—I think a very important one—is that we gave up almost half of what is now East Germany for the position which we hold in Berlin. There wouldn't be an East Germany of any consequence if we had not given up the territory which we had captured in exchange for the position which we hold in West Berlin.

Q. You are speaking of the wartime agreements?

Use Allied Troops

A. Yes. Under these agreements, too, the only troops allowed in West Berlin were Allied troops. We have lived up to that. On the other hand, the Soviet government started raising an East German army very quickly and they have stationed that army in East Berlin. We have never stationed any troops from the Federal Republic of West Germany in West Berlin. Now as a result of all that, certain basic commitments have been made publicly and solemly, and negotiations cannot break away from these firm commitments. There are not very many.

They are basically — first, we will maintain Allied right of access on the ground and complete freedom of access in the air. Second, we will maintain the liability of West Berlin, meaning freedom of movement for persons and goods into West Berlin. Third, we have agreed that we will maintain our garrisons in West Berlin as long as the people of West Berlin want them.

We have also agreed with the Federal Republic not to recognize any other government as speaking for any portion of the German people other than the Federal Republic until the German people themselves have selected in free elections a government of their own. We have also agreed to support the future reunification of Germany. Finally, and I also think very importantly, we have said that we intend to support no lessening of the ties that exist between West Berlin and the Federal Republic.

The second half of the Clay interview will appear Thursday.

Rail Rules Likely To Set Off Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The nation's railroads have set Aug. 16 as the date to put into effect new work rules recommended by a presidential commission five months ago. The move is expected to trigger a national strike call by the five operating brotherhoods.

Jobs of 13,000 firemen employed on diesel locomotives would be eliminated under the carriers' plan, announced Tuesday in Chicago.

Some 27,000 other firemen, working as second men in diesel locomotives cabs in freight yard service and pulling freight trains, would keep their jobs.

Officials of three of the five affected unions drafted a reply to the railroads' proposal.

The dispute, involving claimed "featherbedding" problems the carriers say has cost them $500 million a year unneeded expenditures, seems headed for the White House.

There is little likelihood of a strike in the near future by the 200,000 employes who operate the trains, the locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen, trainmen and switchmen.

President Kennedy has the power to bar a strike for at least 60 days. He has the authority to invoke emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act and name a board to make settlement recommendations during the cooling-off period.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the carriers' joint bargaining committee, made the announcement to a Chicago news conference a day after the Railway Mediation Board formally ended its efforts on reaching a settlement in the manpower economy dispute. The unions rejected the board's arbitration offer and called for further negotiations.

A. It remains unchanged and I don't see any immediate change in prospect.

Q. What do you suppose was behind Khrushchev's recent proposal, which we rejected, that Western troops in Berlin be replaced by Norwegian-Danish or Belgian-Dutch plus Czech-Polish forces?

A. I think Mr. Khrushchev would like very much to get the Allies out of West Berlin. The presence of the Allied troops there and the rapid development of the city has of course made it a veritable citadel of freedom behind the Iron Curtain which he would like to destroy.

Now this proposal to replace the Allies with the troops of other nations, of course, doesn't make very much sense. We are in Berlin as a result of victory in war. Many of these nations were not even in the war. There is no right to garrison Berlin per se. The people of West Berlin cannot be made to accept garrisons from any and all countries.

We have added to that a firm commitment to the people of West Berlin that as long as they want our troops there they will be there. We couldn't give up on that commitment under any circumstances.

Q. Why do you suppose Khrushchev brought it up? Is it some sort of a gambit?

Compromise Sign

A. Yes. I think it's to show—before the world—that he is willing to compromise and find a settlement. He has several times said he would be glad to see West Berlin made into an international city. Now by that he means a city completely free and independent but having no connections with the Federal Republic of Germany. And of course a little enclave like West Berlin, entirely behind the Iron Curtain, would quickly fade away if it did not have its connections with the Federal Republic.

Q. Khrushchev said that the possibility of war over Berlin is "ever more ominous." What do you think?

A. I would say that possibility is entirely under the control of Mr. Khrushchev. Only if Mr. Khrushchev takes aggressive actions to destroy the city, to lesson the authority and responsibility of the Allies, will war become a possibility or a threat. So Mr. K to this extent is in control. He can make it a place where war can easily break out. But no one but Mr. K can do that.

Q. But your general feeling is that tension has lessened and the possibility of war is lower?

A. I think you have got to remember that the tensions we are speaking of are two different kinds. The important tension which existed between the U.S. and its Allies and Russia has abated. The constant needling of the Allies by the Soviets and East Germans has stopped. They are no longer threatening our air corridors. The general atmosphere is much more free of tension than it has been for some time. This is why it is possible to conduct talks that are going on now.

On the other hand the tension between the East German and the West German in Berlin has not abated. The wall is still there. The constant attempts of desperate people to escape through the wall leads to constant shootings across the border. People are killed quite frequently.

Q. The question of Berlin constantly comes up in Communist discussions of other issues such as nuclear weapons and diarmament. In propaganda to Germany the Communists say the U.S. is planning "new harassing maneuvers" against any solution in Berlin and intending to direct some sort of West German atomic aggression eastward. Are they leading up to something?

Use Fear Tactics

A. Of course, the Soviet government has already indicated its considerable apprehension over the growth of the Common Market and over its movement toward political unity. It has always been their view that these kinds of movements could be stopped by creating new tensions, new apprehensions, new fears. I have a feeling that their actions against Berlin have this in view.

For this reason, and since the alliance continues to grow very strongly towards eventual political union, I am inclined to believe that we may expect further pushes from Mr. K against Berlin.

At the present moment the economy of East Germany is in rather bad shape. That economy is oriented to West Germany and without trade with Western Germany it might indeed put East Germany in a very difficult economic position. Great efforts are being made to re-orient the economy of East Germany toward Warsaw Pact countries. This will take some time.

I doubt if the Communist countries will be included to take any moves that risk a break in the East German West German trade until they have succeeded in re-orienting the East German economy. This is another reason why I think we have an interlude of relative quiet in Berlin.

Q. You think, then, if he does do anything about Berlin it's primarily with an eye toward undermining the Western alliance?

Not For Berlin Alone

A. There is a possibility that to stop the development of Western European political unity he might even be willing to risk war. It is certain he wouldn't risk war just for Berlin. So if these developments take place, if he begins to take the actions which could lead to war in Berlin it would not be because he wants Berlin. It would be because he wants to destroy the movement toward political unity in Western Europe.

Q. Khrushchev and other Communists have been repeating word for word the Warsaw Pact declaration of June 7, that unless the West agrees to sign peace treaties with both Germanys, the East will go ahead on its own with all the consequences that it involves. Does this sound to you like a new ultimatum in the making?

A. This ultimatum has been one that has existed since 1958 and it is now 1962. I would suppose that there will come a time when Mr. K does have to go ahead with a peace treaty. Even if he does he could put in the reservations which would protect the rights of the Allies in West Berlin. If he doesn't why of course the peace treaty could lead to very serious consequences. I don't know when he is going to sign this peace treaty, if ever. I can't get excited because he talks about it again, since it has been a constant threat since 1958.

I also think it is very important that we must remember several things about this Berlin situation. One—I think a very important one—is that we gave up almost half of what is now East Germany for the position which we hold in Berlin. There wouldn't be an East Germany of any consequence if we had not given up the territory which we had captured in exchange for the position which we hold in West Berlin.

Q. You are speaking of the wartime agreements?

Use Allied Troops

A. Yes. Under these agreements, too, the only troops allowed in West Berlin were Allied troops. We have lived up to that. On the other hand, the Soviet government started raising an East German army very quickly and they have stationed that army in East Berlin. We have never stationed any troops from the Federal Republic of West Germany in West Berlin. Now as a result of all that, certain basic commitments have been made publicly and solemly, and negotiations cannot break away from these firm commitments. There are not very many.

They are basically — first, we will maintain Allied right of access on the ground and complete freedom of access in the air. Second, we will maintain the liability of West Berlin, meaning freedom of movement for persons and goods into West Berlin. Third, we have agreed that we will maintain our garrisons in West Berlin as long as the people of West Berlin want them.

We have also agreed with the Federal Republic not to recognize any other government as speaking for any portion of the German people other than the Federal Republic until the German people themselves have selected in free elections a government of their own. We have also agreed to support the future reunification of Germany. Finally, and I also think very importantly, we have said that we intend to support no lessening of the ties that exist between West Berlin and the Federal Republic.

Rail Rules Likely To Set Off Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The nation's railroads have set Aug. 16 as the date to put into effect new work rules recommended by a presidential commission five months ago. The move is expected to trigger a national strike call by the five operating brotherhoods.

Jobs of 13,000 firemen employed on diesel locomotives would be eliminated under the carriers' plan, announced Tuesday in Chicago.

Some 27,000 other firemen, working as second men in diesel locomotives cabs in freight yard service and pulling freight trains, would keep their jobs.

Officials of three of the five affected unions drafted a reply to the railroads' proposal.

The dispute, involving claimed "featherbedding" problems the carriers say has cost them $500 million a year unneeded expenditures, seems headed for the White House.

There is little likelihood of a strike in the near future by the 200,000 employes who operate the trains, the locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen, trainmen and switchmen.

President Kennedy has the power to bar a strike for at least 60 days. He has the authority to invoke emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act and name a board to make settlement recommendations during the cooling-off period.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the carriers' joint bargaining committee, made the announcement to a Chicago news conference a day after the Railway Mediation Board formally ended its efforts on reaching a settlement in the manpower economy dispute. The unions rejected the board's arbitration offer and called for further negotiations.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 18, 1962

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

Canada's plan to keep more of her own dollars at home and attract more United States dollars into Canada is going through its first major test with tourists.

The recent action of pegging the Canadian dollar at 92.5 cents in U.S. money had the double effect of encouraging Americans to spend more in Canada and making Canadians relatively poorer in American stores, where their dollars fall short of price tag figures. The duty-free allowance for a Canadian bringing merchandise home from the United States has been dropped from $100 to $25 every three months, which also discourages Canadian spending outside the country.

So far, as expected, more U.S. currency is moving into Canadian hands and fewer Canadian dollars are leaving. Canada also is experiencing the obvious gains of brisker business in channels normally pursued by travelers—to the disadvantage of some American business men.

Although this may be what Canadian high finance needs, the program adds a bit of strain to human relations. Many Canadians, understandably, have been a little resentful of the fact that the United States has been able to move faster economically and hence attain a somewhat higher standard of living. Canadians might well take note, however, of actions taken by the United States to curb the flow of its dollars overseas.

Because Americans and Canadians have such a community of interests, it is desirable for them to maintain a sense of freedom about traveling back and forth and making reasonable purchases wherever they choose. Not many years ago the Canadian dollar was worth more than ours. It will be better for international relations if the two currencies can get back in balance before long.

MARKET GUIDELINES

For several years following the 1929 stock market crash the word "margin" was the butt of many a wry joke. Investors who suffered a sellout during those difficult times knew the sting of those words.

Yet, in principle, buying stocks on margin is no more culpable than any other credit transaction. The danger lies in too much credit, and this is what we had in 1929. There were no official restrictions then on the amount one could borrow to purchase stocks. Consequently many people bought on a shoestring, using heavily overpriced stocks as collateral.

This put the market in an extremely vulnerable position, the memory of which makes Wall Street shudder even to this day. Crashing prices forced the hurried call of millions of dollars in margin. Most of the shoestring people were ruined.

But the lesson was well learned. Nowadays buying on margin is carefully controlled by the Federal Reserve Board. An added benefit of this control is the power to 50 per cent of the price of the shares purchased, rather than only 30 per cent, the previous limit.

Some persons with long memories may be a little apprehensive about this liberalization. But there is little reason to fear with the Federal Reserve Board as a watchdog. On the contrary, reduction in margin requirements should give a boost to the capital market—and along with it a zing to the rest of the economy.

the "Fed" has to stimulate or depress market activity.

It is the former effect which the board hopes to produce by its recent market action. Henceforth investors may borrow up

A PRACTICAL PROJECT

A dozen students at Glassboro State Teachers' College in New Jersey are helping to establish a teachers' school in Uganda, a British dependency in East Africa which will become independent next October.

So far the students, working with two faculty members, have collected more than 20,000 textbooks. Schools throughout the state have offered to donate desks, blackboards and other equipment. Uganda officials have promised to provide land and building materials. After graduating in June 1963, the students will go to Uganda to construct the school. Glassboro graduates also will train Uganda natives to run the school, and as soon as possible it will be turned over to the new government.

This project was conceived when the students visited the United Nations and were told by a Russian official that the United States was too "decadent" to inspire underdeveloped nations. It is an effective answer to Soviet propaganda.

POPULATION AND WELFARE

It is difficult to explain to one generation that it cannot have the benefits which were the natural advantage of another generation. For instance, as the population of the United States increased, the water supply of the country has decreased and unless economical use of sea water can be developed in a reasonable time, this country will be in real trouble. Similarly, as long as such a supply of iron ore as the Mesabi Range served us, we were able to create the largest steel plant on Earth; now, we are importing iron ore from Newfoundland and Venezuela and other places. It makes a difference.

The population of Europe and the United States, as given by the Population Reference Bureau, is as follows:

The Common Market	169,585,000
The EFTA	89,729,000
Soviet Russia	214,400,000
Total for Soviet bloc	310,190,000
United States	180,670,000

The largest areas in square miles among these countries are:

Soviet Russia	8,992,644
United States	3,615,207

Canada, with a tiny population of about 18,000,000, covers 3,851,806 square miles.

There is no absolute relationship between population and area and the standard of living of a people or their national significance. The United Kingdom, for instance, one of the most significant nations, has a population of 52,539,000 and an area of only 94,215 square miles. Nevertheless, this country dominated the world politically and commercially for three centuries from Elizabeth I to World War II. France, which was the leading nation in Europe for many centuries, has only a population of 45,540,000 and an area of 212,821 square miles. Nor does density of population prove a point. Soviet Russia, now so powerful, has a density of 25 per square mile; the United States has a density of 50 per square mile; whereas the Netherlands has a density of 916 per square mile and Belgium a density of 777.

As population increases, the problem of natural resources becomes more severe. Great Britain and Japan are countries with limited natural resources, and their history is the story of the search for countries with ample resources which became colonies. Great Britain eventually developed them into dominions in a system called Imperial Preference. The Japanese fought four wars to conquer China and other parts of East Asia and failed largely as a result of American interference. Great Britain and Japan are still seeking to regain protected markets for both raw materials and manufactured goods.

The mixture of peoples continues on as large a scale as ever because peoples since World War II have been migrating either as refugees or as workers. There are no realistic national admixtures when Italians settle in France or Switzerland, but between 1953-58 about 674,000 Algerian Moslems settled in France; thus, a new racial element was introduced similar to the Puerto Rican and Cuban migration to New York and Miami. Although many Algerians returned to their own country in due course, they inevitably leave a racial trace if they stay long enough.

A similar migration has been taking place to the Netherlands to which Indonesians have been moving. It is not so long ago since what is today called Indonesia was known as the Dutch East Indies. Soviet Russia contains within its borders a vast conglomeration of people racially remote from each other. However, these people move within the Soviet Union and the races intermingle.

Such racial admixtures have little effect on production or consumption. The United States with a very sharp racial admixture enjoys the highest standard of living measured by national possessions. According to 1959-60 figures, the United States showed 339 autmobiles per 1000 persons. No European country reached a comparable figures. This proves so with all consumers goods both as to quantity and quality. However, the standard of living nearly everywhere is rising and therefore opens vast unsaturated markets. George W. Ball, Under-Secretary of State, recently observed:

"Most Europeans are only just beginning to enjoy many of the consumer goods that Americans have known for years — automobiles, electric refrigerators, air-conditioning. Ther demands are increasing. Europe is undergoing a revolution of rising expectations quite as profound as that which is sweeping the less-developed countries—but, of course, on a higher plane."

A family tragedy inspired Dr. Marion C. Collins to establish a nonprofit organization that has helped 55,000 persons lead a safer life.

Five years ago Dr. Collins' daughter died of shock after an injection of antitetanus serum. Had the doctor known that she would have a reaction to the injection she would have been spared.

Dr. Collins has set up the Medic-Alert Foundation in Turlock, Calif. The group provides indestructible, stainless steel or silver bracelets or necklaces with engraved warnings.

Some messages state that the wearer is a diabetic or taking insulin. Others that he is an epileptic. Others warn that the person is allergic to some specific substance such as serum, penicillin, morphine and its derivatives or to local anesthetics.

Other emblems carry the blood type in much the manner of Army "dog tags." Still others state that the wearer is taking a certain drug such as antabuse, in the case of an alcoholic; cortisone, in the case of an arthritic or asthmatic; digitalis, in the case of a cardiac; one of the cumarols, in instances where the blood clotting time has had to be lengthened (following a coronary thrombosis or a stroke).

In each of these instances, the emblem also contains a serial number and these serial numbers, together with the information engraved on the bracelet or necklace, are kept in a central file that is maintained on 24-hour call at 700 Montgomery Street, San Francisco 11, Calif. (EXbrook 2-6552). Also in the file are kept the wearer's address, the family physician's name and address, and the name and address of the nearest relative or friend.

If you are sufficiently fortunate to have no medical need for wearing one of these emblems, you might be wise to provide yourself with one anyway just in case you happen to be involved in some serious accident.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Kennedy's expressed interest in seeing if any parts of the western European phenomenal economic growth plans are adaptable to the United States focus principally on France, which pioneered the idea.

This was in 1946 when Gen. Charles de Gaulle headed the postwar provisional government. He created a Commissariat for General Planning. Fortunately, he had M. Jean Monnet to head the planning organization. He continued its operations even while General De Gaulle was out of office and is its active brain today, though Ministry of Finance is responsible for the show and runs it.

A first requisite for any United States plan based on French experience, now widely imitated in Europe, would be to find an American equivalent for Monnet to make it work.

DR. WALTER W. HELLER, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, has just returned from Europe where he has been studying its growth patterns. Alfred C. Neal, president of the private business research Committee for Economic Development — CED — has also had a staff in Europe making a study for the administration.

France is now implementing its fourth Four Year Plan, to carry it through 1965. It calls for a 24 per cent increase in gross national product. This is 5.5 per cent a year, compounded annually. The average U. S. growth rate ince 1946 has been 3.5 per cent and it has been gradually slowing down.

A main factor of French growth seems to be complete economic planning. It took a staff of 3,200 people in 25 commissions to draw up the new plan. Twenty of these commissions were for separate sectors of the economy and social development. The other five covered financing, manpower, research, productivity and regional planning. But the administrative staff is only 100.

FRENCH PLANNERS STRESS that their plan is not compulsory. Neither management nor labor is subject to administrative sanctions. In recent debate before the French National Assembly in presenting the new plan, it was stressed that there is no plan for each enterprise. There are only national or regional objectives for each part of the economy.

Economic freedoms are said to remain intact. Heads of enterprises are free to take or refuse risks. Consumers exercise their sovereignty over the market place by free choice and prices are competitive.

At the same time, the government offers a number of incentives which make co-operation attractive and non co-operation less profitable. The incentives include investment loans at preferential rates, subsidies and premiums for reconversion, degressive amortization and tax exemption on dividends from growth investments for initial periods.

This is a decided change from the first French plan, which contained price control and rationing. As late as 1958, when General De Gaulle—back in government again — announced his financial and economic policies, he included increases in corporation and high income taxes, higher wine, liquor and tobacco taxes.

General De Gaulle also withdrew subsidies on consumer goods, reduced the financing for nationalized industries like the railroads, cut social insurance and war veterans pensions, abolished escalator clauses in cost of living and wage agreements for labor.

ON THE OTHER HAND, DeGaulle increased government investments by 25 per cent to open up new opportunities for young people and to create new sources of wealth.

All these were drastic measures. Getting the United States Congress and the general public to accept such sacrifices in peace time is considered difficult.

In carrying out such a plan, France has an advantage in that it is a smaller geographic area—not quite as big as Texas. And France has only 45 million, compared to the 180 million in the U. S. The bigger the administrative unit and the more people it covers, the harder it is to make any plan work.

In Quest of Prosperity, Is Spending Dependable?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Everybody, irrespective of party or faction, wants America to enjoy an era of prosperity, but if unsound counsel prevails at the White House and in Congress, the United States may experience in the next few years its deepest depression of this century.

A dangerous doctrine has lately been warmed up from New Deal days and has been given respectability by advisers to President Kennedy. It is that "spending" by the Federal government, even if it produces deficits, will somehow, by some magic of its own, produce an economic Utopia.

If "spending" were the solution to economic ills, then the United States should still be going through the most prosperous 45-year period in its history. World War I spending reached a peak of nearly $20 billion in 1919. At the end of World War II, spending reached another peak—nearly $100 billion — in 1945. But the big war was over only five years when the Korean conflict sent Federal spending upward to around $75 billion in 1953. Instead of tapering off substantially after the Korean War, spending during the "cold war" has kept on climbing, and this year is back up to around $90 billion.

The idea that mere spending of money produces prosperity is fallacious. It is the way the money is spent which counts — especially whether the funds are used in private investment for productive purposes that last beyond just a short-term period.

Rebuts Spending Theory

The key is not how much is spent, but what the money is spent for. Defense money expended on weapons doesn't develope a high volume of transactions that percolate through the whole economy. Private spending, on the other hand, is usually for goods that have a long-term value and that multiply the number of transactions in the business world.

A devastating rebuttal of the "spending" theory was made recently by Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier. He was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers from 1957 through 1960, but his advice wasn't always followed. In a speech on June 18 before the Babson Institute of Business Administration, he said in part:

"What recent history tells us about the effect of increases in Federal spending is not very favorable to the view that an economy such as ours can spend itself into prosperity via the Federal budget. . . .

"What this experience tells us is that, if the environment is not favorable to an increase in private spending, an increase in Federal spending, is a well-nigh futile exercise. . . .

Surplus and Deficit

"In the first four months of this calendar year, the cash budget of the United States ran a deficit of close to $10 billion, on a seasonally adjusted annual-rate basis. In the comparable four months of the 1958-'59 recovery, the Federal cash budget showed a surplus of $4.6 billion, on an annual-rate basis.

"Yet the unemployment rate has actually been somewhat higher under the recent deficit than it was under the earlier surplus. There were clouds on the economic horizon in those months of surplus in 1960, but it must be conceded that the economic sky in 1962, under very large deficits, is far from entirely clear."

Dr. Saulnier said pointedly that to those "who regard budgetary defiits as a more or less guaranteed formula for producing a brisk recovery, the present cycle must be a veritable nightmare.' He argued bluntly that tax reductions will not by themselves furnish a remedy. He added:

"If there is a need to cut taxes in the expansion phase of a cycle, when we already have a large deficit, then there is equally a need to consider whether we are now spending too much money on programs that make no contribution whatever to our capacity for growth and to consider whether we are doing other things, entirely outside of the tax field, that are tending to suppress private investment spending.

Red Ink No Remedy

"If this is what we are doing, and I think it is, then we cannot retrieve the situation with governmental red ink, and very few really sophisticated people will believe that we can."

This is a period of self-examination and it is becoming clearer every day that "across-the-board" tax cuts or simplified tax rules on depreciation or other artificial measures will not and cannot of themselves do as much good for the economy as can a healthy reduction in unproductive expenditures for armament and an avoidance of excessive spending for social welfare programs that the national economy at this time cannot really afford.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Odessa, Tex., recently celebrated a festival called "Appreciation Week" in tribute to three majestic new industries which have raised awe-inspiring structures on the old cattle prairies a mile south of town. They are El Paso Natural Gas Products Co., the General Tire Co., which now goes in for petroleum products, and Rexall Chemical, which produces plactic things like pill bottles and slip-covers for porch furniture.

Concurrently, in the much more stylish and pretentious city of Midland, 20 miles to the east, the news is not good. There have been 471 foreclosoures on dwellings, both FHA and VA, and there are 271 delinquents. And only 247 oil drilling rigs are working as against 800 about eight years ago. Some of the mortgage defaulters are upgrading themselves into bigger homes as the prices drop, but the figures altogether justify only one conclusion. The economy is absolutely out of joint.

Odessa used to be the mud-spattered rough-neck. Odessa still is the roughneck, which is an honored name of a formidable calling, the roustabout, who works on oil rigs. Midland is the executive and financial capital of the great Permian oil basin. Both cities now have tall buildings on streets which were dirt roads 20 years ago. Midland is the outpost of Wall Street. The geologists live there, too.

Odessa sells, salvages, repairs, and generally keeps the machinery going. It is not jewelry. It is unsightly pipe of many dimensions, derricks, pumps and heavy-duty trucks. Odessa now has about 75,000, people. Midland has about 60,000. Both cities now have expensive stores, including jewelry stores, whereas only an hour and a half to the north the ghastly ghost-town of Wink is on the public hide like a tick on a cow, for more than a million dollars' public charity for "urban rehabilitation." It would have been better to level the damned mess with earth-movers, for it has no conceivable use for any useful people now that the oil beneath the spread has been exhausted. But has it been exhausted? I will come back to that.

Texas is really a distressed area for all her reputation as a blow-hard spendthrift in New York, Chicago, and latterly, Washington. The base of the prosperity, the economy, of Texas, next to farming, which means cotton and beef, is oil and natural gas. But the State Government has been strangling the "little fellows" of the oil industry with a limitation on the number of days that a well is permitted to produce up to its normal, rated capacity. This is called the "allowable," commonly pronounced "the lobble".

The lobble is now static at eight days a month. This is very popular with the giants of international oil such as Humble, a subsidiary of Jersey; Shell, Mobil, Cities Service, and Tidewater.

They import foreign oil from the Near East and Venezuela for a dollar a barrel at the rate of about two million barels a day. Texas oil brings about $3 a barrel. So the Big Fellows have it made either way. The lower the Texas lobble, the more foreign oil they can market here. But if Texas were to abandon control absolutely, her own known reserves would be used up in a very few years. But her known reserves are not her unproven potential. Thousands of the wildcat and development holes drilled by the Little Fellows are just liddy-bidy ol' worm-holes down to 7,000 feet or so. Such a hole will cost from $25,000 to $50,000. If it makes oil, or gas, the Little Fellow pulls up his pipe, lowers the rig and —

Well, he does not necessarily begin to sell oil or gas, although he has it to sell, underground. First he must either connect with a pipeline or contract with a man to come around with a tank-truck on his lobble days and fetch it to the market. Or, if he has a gas mine in some cavern down there in the dark, he must first wheedle some pipeline to come and tap him and then submit to arbitrary prices imposed by the Federal Power Commission in Washington in the most fascinating tangle of court decisions and appeals ever amassed. Meanwhile some companies which produce and buy gas are putting money into dead storage against a day when they may have to refund hundreds of millions to householders and other customers if current retail prices are disallowed.

Some of the court appeals take three years. A mere motion may take six months. Nobody on this earth understands all the technicalities which have been raised to disguise the fact that a Federal bureau in Washington presumes to tell a citizen in Texas how much he may charge for a thousand cubic feet of gas in his own ground. No other fuel is so controlled. In the last three months El Paso laid off more than a hundred of the best men of its small staff. The future was too uncertain to justify exploration and the accumulation of leases on further reserves. Other companies are up against about the same problem.

The Big Fellows probably have the future of Texas oil and gas in their chubby hands. For they can go down to 20,00 or 25,000 feet. Nobody really knows what is down that far. But they can afford to try and results to date justify a strong hope that if Russia and the Near East should run the United States out of other world markets, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Louisiana could produce quantities not yet imagined from way down deep.

Odessa is only 70 miles east of Pecos, which is coming on with a rush as a producer. But thus far, Pecos is only tentative and the business men there who are scoffing at their Estes disaster, are whistling past the graveyard. It does the economy of a farming country no good to have most of her prominent men wiped out in a confidence game. That is the fact in Pecos and still the public indignation of this old-line church going American town runs not against Billie Sol but against Dr. John Dunn, a local physician and member of the John Birch Society, for snatching the mask off a psalm-singing pulpit-slapper.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 18, 1962

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

Canada's plan to keep more of her own dollars at home and attract more United States dollars into Canada is going through its first major test with tourists.

The recent action of pegging the Canadian dollar at 92.5 cents in U.S. money had the double effect of encouraging Americans to spend more in Canada and making Canadians relatively poorer in American stores, where their dollars fall short of price tag figures. The duty-free allowance for a Canadian bringing merchandise home from the United States has been dropped from $100 to $25 every three months, which also discourages Canadian spending outside the country.

So far, as expected, more U.S. currency is moving into Canadian hands and fewer Canadian dollars are leaving. Canada also is experiencing the obvious gains of brisker business in channels normally pursued by travelers—to the disadvantage of some American business men.

Although this may be what Canadian high finance needs, the program adds a bit of strain to human relations. Many Canadians, understandably, have been a little resentful of the fact that the United States has been able to move faster economically and hence attain a somewhat higher standard of living. Canadians might well take note, however, of actions taken by the United States to curb the flow of its dollars overseas.

Because Americans and Canadians have such a community of interests, it is desirable for them to maintain a sense of freedom about traveling back and forth and making reasonable purchases wherever they choose. Not many years ago the Canadian dollar was worth more than ours. It will be better for international relations if the two currencies can get back in balance before long.

MARKET GUIDELINES

For several years following the 1929 stock market crash the word "margin" was the butt of many a wry joke. Investors who suffered a sellout during those difficult times knew the sting of those words.

Yet, in principle, buying stocks on margin is no more culpable than any other credit transaction. The danger lies in too much credit, and this is what we had in 1929. There were no official restrictions then on the amount one could borrow to purchase stocks. Consequently many people bought on a shoestring, using heavily overpriced stocks as collateral.

This put the market in an extremely vulnerable position, the memory of which makes Wall Street shudder even to this day. Crashing prices forced the hurried call of millions of dollars in margin. Most of the shoestring people were ruined.

But the lesson was well learned. Nowadays buying on margin is carefully controlled by the Federal Reserve Board. An added benefit of this control is the power to 50 per cent of the price of the shares purchased, rather than only 30 per cent, the previous limit.

Some persons with long memories may be a little apprehensive about this liberalization. But there is little reason to fear with the Federal Reserve Board as a watchdog. On the contrary, reduction in margin requirements should give a boost to the capital market—and along with it a zing to the rest of the economy.

the "Fed" has to stimulate or depress market activity.

It is the former effect which the board hopes to produce by its recent market action. Henceforth investors may borrow up

A PRACTICAL PROJECT

A dozen students at Glassboro State Teachers' College in New Jersey are helping to establish a teachers' school in Uganda, a British dependency in East Africa which will become independent next October.

So far the students, working with two faculty members, have collected more than 20,000 textbooks. Schools throughout the state have offered to donate desks, blackboards and other equipment. Uganda officials have promised to provide land and building materials. After graduating in June 1963, the students will go to Uganda to construct the school. Glassboro graduates also will train Uganda natives to run the school, and as soon as possible it will be turned over to the new government.

This project was conceived when the students visited the United Nations and were told by a Russian official that the United States was too "decadent" to inspire underdeveloped nations. It is an effective answer to Soviet propaganda.

'These Days'

POPULATION AND WELFARE

It is difficult to explain to one generation that it cannot have the benefits which were the natural advantage of another generation. For instance, as the population of the United States increased, the water supply of the country has decreased and unless economical use of sea water can be developed in a reasonable time, this country will be in real trouble. Similarly, as long as such a supply of iron ore as the Mesabi Range served us, we were able to create the largest steel plant on Earth; now, we are importing iron ore from Newfoundland and Venezuela and other places. It makes a difference.

The population of Europe and the United States, as given by the Population Reference Bureau, is as follows:

The Common Market	169,585,000
The EFTA	89,729,000
Soviet Russia	214,400,000
Total for Soviet bloc	310,190,000
United States	180,670,000

The largest areas in square miles among these countries are:

Soviet Russia	8,992,644
United States	3,615,207

Canada, with a tiny population of about 18,000,000, covers 3,851,806 square miles.

There is no absolute relationship between population and area and the standard of living of a people or their national significance. The United Kingdom, for instance, one of the most significant nations, has a population of 52,539,000 and an area of only 94,215 square miles. Nevertheless, this country dominated the world politically and commercially for three centuries from Elizabeth I to World War II. France, which was the leading nation in Europe for many centuries, has only a population of 45,540,000 and an area of 212,821 square miles. Nor does density of population prove a point. Soviet Russia, now so powerful, has a density of 25 per square mile; the United States has a density of 50 per square mile; whereas the Netherlands has a density of 916 per square mile and Belgium a density of 777.

As population increases, the problem of natural resources becomes more severe. Great Britain and Japan are countries with limited natural resources, and their history is the story of the search for countries with ample resources which became colonies. Great Britain eventually developed them into dominions in a system called Imperial Preference. The Japanese fought four wars to conquer China and other parts of East Asia and failed largely as a result of American interference. Great Britain and Japan are still seeking to regain protected markets for both raw materials and manufactured goods.

The mixture of peoples continues on as large a scale as ever because peoples since World War II have been migrating either as refugees or as workers. There are no realistic national admixtures when Italians settle in France or Switzerland, but between 1953-58 about 674,000 Algerian Moslems settled in France; thus, a new racial element was introduced similar to the Puerto Rican and Cuban migration to New York and Miami. Although many Algerians returned to their own country in due course, they inevitably leave a racial trace if they stay long enough.

A similar migration has been taking place to the Netherlands to which Indonesians have been moving. It is not so long ago since what is today called Indonesia was known as the Dutch East Indies. Soviet Russia contains within its borders a vast conglomeration of people racially remote from each other. However, these people move within the Soviet Union and the races intermingle.

Such racial admixtures have little effect on production or consumption. The United States with a very sharp racial admixture enjoys the highest standard of living measured by national possessions. According to 1959-60 figures, the United States showed 339 autmobiles per 1000 persons. No European country reached a comparable figures. This proves so with all consumers goods both as to quantity and quality. However, the standard of living nearly everywhere is rising and therefore opens vast unsaturated markets. George W. Ball, Under-Secretary of State, recently observed:

"Most Europeans are only just beginning to enjoy many of the consumer goods that Americans have known for years—automobiles, electric refrigerators, air-conditioning. Ther demands are increasing. Europe is undergoing a revolution of rising expectations quite as profound as that which is sweeping the less-developed countries—but, of course, on a higher plane."

A family tragedy inspired Dr. Marion C. Collins to establish a nonprofit organization that has helped 55,000 persons lead a safer life.

Five years ago Dr. Collins' daughter died of shock after an injection of antitetanus serum. Had the doctor known that she would have a reaction to the injection she would have been spared.

Dr. Collins has set up the Medic-Alert Foundation in Turlock, Calif. The group provides indestructible, stainless steel or silver bracelets or necklaces with engraved warnings.

Some messages state that the wearer is a diabetic or taking insulin. Others that he is an epileptic. Others warn that the person is allergic to some specific substance such as serum, penicillin, morphine and its derivatives or to local anesthetics.

Other emblems carry the blood type in much the manner of Army "dog tags." Still others state that the wearer is taking a certain drug such as antabuse, in the case of an alcoholic; cortisone, in the case of an arthritic or asthmatic; digitalis, in the case of a cardiac; one of the cumarols, in instances where the blood clotting time has had to be lengthened (following a coronary thrombosis or a stroke).

In each of these instances, the emblem also contains a serial number and these serial numbers, together with the information engraved on the bracelet or necklace, are kept in a central file that is maintained on 24-hour call at 700 Montgomery Street, San Francisco 11, Calif. (EXbrook 2-6552). Also in the file are kept the wearer's address, the family physician's name and address, and the name and address of the nearest relative or friend.

If you are sufficiently fortunate to have no medical need for wearing one of these emblems, you might be wise to provide yourself with one anyway just in case you happen to be involved in some serious accident.

"No Tax Cut!"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Kennedy's expressed interest in seeing if any parts of the western European phenomenal economic growth plans are adaptable to the United States focus principally on France, which pioneered the idea.

This was in 1946 when Gen. Charles de Gaulle headed the postwar provisional government. He created a Commissariat for General Planning. Fortunately, he had M. Jean Monnet to head the planning organization. He continued its operations even while General De Gaulle was out of office and is its active brain today, though Ministry of Finance is responsible for the show and runs it.

A first requisite for any United States plan based on French experience, now widely imitated in Europe, would be to find an American equivalent for Monnet to make it work.

DR. WALTER W. HELLER, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, has just returned from Europe where he has been studying its growth patterns, Alfred C. Neal, president of the private business research Committee for Economic Development — CED — has also had a staff in Europe making a study for the administration.

France is now implementing its fourth Four Year Plan, to carry it through 1965. It calls for a 24 per cent increase in gross national product. This is 5.5 per cent a year, compounded annually. The average U. S. growth rate ince 1946 has been 3.5 per cent and it has been gradually slowing down.

A main factor of French growth seems to be complete economic planning. It took a staff of 3,200 people in 25 commissions to draw up the new plan. Twenty of these commissions were for separate sectors of the economy and social development. The other five covered financing, manpower, research, productivity and regional planning. But the administrative staff is only 100.

FRENCH PLANNERS STRESS that their plan is not compulsory. Neither management nor labor is subject to administrative sanctions. In recent debate before the French National Assembly in presenting the new plan, it was stressed that there is no plan for each enterprise. There are only national or regional objectives for each part of the economy.

Economic freedoms are said to remain intact. Heads of enterprises are free to take or refuse risks. Consumers exercise their sovereignty over the market place by free choice and prices are competitive.

At the same time, the government offers a number of incentives which make co-operation attractive and non co-operation less profitable. The incentives include investment loans at preferential rates, subsidies and premiums for reconversion, degressive amortization and tax exemption on dividends from growth investments for initial periods.

This is a decided change from the first French plan, which contained price control and rationing. As late as 1958, when General De Gaulle—back in government again — announced his financial and economic policies, he included increases in corporation and high income taxes, higher wine, liquor and tobacco taxes.

General De Gaulle also withdrew subsidies on consumer goods, reduced the financing for nationalized industries like the railroads, cut social insurance and war veterans pensions, abolished escalator clauses in cost of living and wage agreements for labor.

ON THE OTHER HAND, DeGaulle increased government investments by 25 per cent to open up new opportunities for young people and to create new sources of wealth.

All these were drastic measures. Getting the United States Congress and the general public to accept such sacrifices in peace time is considered difficult.

In carrying out such a plan, France has an advantage in that it is a smaller geographic area—not quite as big as Texas. And France has only 45 million, compared to the 180 million in the U. S. The bigger the administrative unit and the more people it covers, the harder it is to make any plan work.

In Quest of Prosperity, Is Spending Dependable?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Everybody, irrespective of party or faction, wants America to enjoy an era of prosperity, but if unsound counsel prevails at the White House and in Congress, the United States may experience in the next few years its deepest depression of this century.

A dangerous doctrine has lately been warmed up from New Deal days and has been given respectability by advisers to President Kennedy. It is that "spending" by the Federal government, even if it produces deficits, will somehow, by some magic of its own, produce an economic Utopia.

If "spending" were the solution to economic ills, then the United States should still be going through the most prosperous 45-year period in its history. World War I spending reached a peak of nearly $20 billion in 1919. At the end of World War II, spending reached another peak—nearly $100 billion—in 1945. But the big war was over only five years when the Korean conflict sent Federal spending upward to around $75 billion in 1953. Instead of tapering off substantially after the Korean War, spending during the "cold war" has kept on climbing, and this year is back up to around $90 billion.

The idea that mere spending of money produces prosperity is fallacious. It is the way the money is spent which counts — especially whether the funds are used in private investment for productive purposes that last beyond just a short-term period.

Rebuts Spending Theory

The key is not how much is spent, but what the money is spent for. Defense money expended on weapons doesn't develope a high volume of transactions that percolate through the whole economy. Private spending, on the other hand, is usually for goods that have a long-term value and that multiply the number of transactions in the business world.

A devastating rebuttal of the "spending" theory was made recently by Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier. He was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers from 1957 through 1960, but his advice wasn't always followed. In a speech on June 18 before the Babson Institute of Business Administration, he said in part:

"What recent history tells us about the effect of increases in Federal spending is not very favorable to the view that an economy such as ours can spend itself into prosperity via the Federal budget. . . . .

"What this experience tells us is that, if the environment is not favorable to an increase in private spending, an increase to Federal spending, is a well-nigh futile exercise. . . . .

Surplus and Deficit

"In the first four months of this calendar year, the cash budget of the United States ran a deficit of close to $10 billion, on a seasonally adjusted annual-rate basis. In the comparable four months of the 1958-'59 recovery, the Federal cash budget showed a surplus of $4.6 billion, on an annual-rate basis.

"Yet the unemployment rate has actually been somewhat higher under the recent deficit than it was under the earlier surplus. There were clouds on the economic horizon in those months of surplus in 1960, but it must be conceded that the economic sky in 1962, under very large deficits, is far from entirely clear."

Dr. Saulnier said pointedly that to those "who regard budgetary defits as a more or less guaranteed formula for producing a brisk recovery, the present cycle must be a veritable nightmare.' He argued bluntly that tax reductions will not by themselves furnish a remedy. He added:

"If there is a need to cut taxes in the expansion phase of a cycle, when we already have a large deficit, then there is equally a need to consider whether we are now spending too much money on programs that make no contribution whatever to our capacity for growth and to consider whether we are doing other things, entirely outside of the tax field, that are tending to suppress private investment spending.

Red Ink No Remedy

"If this is what we are doing, and I think it is, then we cannot retrieve the situation with governmental red ink, and very few really sophisticated people will believe that we can."

This is a period of self-examination and it is becoming clearer every day that "across-the-board" tax cuts or simplified tax rules on depreciation or other artificial measures will not and cannot of themselves do as much good for the economy as can a healthy reduction in unproductive expenditures for armament and an avoidance of excessive spending for social welfare programs that the national economy at this time cannot really afford.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Odessa, Tex., recently celebrated a festival called "Appreciation Week" in tribute to three majestic new industries which have raised awe-inspiring structures on the old cattle prairies a mile south of town. They are El Paso Natural Gas Products Co., the General Tire Co., which now goes in for petroleum products, and Rexall Chemical, which produces plactic things like pill bottles and slip-covers for porch furniture.

Concurrently, in the much more stylish and pretentious city of Midland, 20 miles to the east, the news is not good. There have been 471 foreclosoures on dwellings, both FHA and VA, and there are 271 delinquents. And only 247 oil drilling rigs are working as against 800 about eight years ago. Some of the mortgage defaulters are upgrading themselves into bigger homes as the prices drop, but the figures altogether justify only one conclusion. The economy is absolutely out of joint.

Odessa used to be the mud-spattered rough-neck. Odessa still is the roughneck, which is an honored name of a formidable calling, the roustabout, who works on oil rigs. Midland is the executive and financial capital of the great Permian oil basin. Both cities now have tall buildings on streets which were dirt roads 20 years ago. Midland is the outpost of Wall Street. The geologists live there, too.

Odessa sells, salvages, repairs, and generally keeps the machinery going. It is not jewelry. It is unsightly pipe of many dimensions, derricks, pumps and heavy-duty trucks. Odessa now has about 75,000, people. Midland has about 60,000. Both cities now have expensive stores, including jewelry stores, whereas only an hour and a half to the north the ghastly ghost-town of Wink is on the public hide like a tick on a cow, for more than a million dollars' public charity for "urban rehabilitation." It would have been better to level the damned mess with earth-movers, for it has no conceivable use for any useful people now that the oil beneath the spread has been exhausted. But has it been exhausted? I will come back to that.

Texas is really a distressed area for all her reputation as a blowhard spendthrift in New York, Chicago, and latterly, Washington. The base of the prosperity, the economy, of Texas, next to farming, which means cotton and beef, is oil and natural gas. But the State Government has been strangling the "little fellows" of the oil industry with a limitation on the number of days that a well is permitted to produce up to its normal, rated capacity. If it makes oil, or gas, the Little Fellow pulls up his pipe, lowers the rig and —

Well, he does not necessarily begin to sell oil or gas, although he has it to sell, underground. First he must either connect with a pipeline or contract with a man to come around with a tank-truck on his lobble days and fetch it to the market. Or, if he has a gas mine in some cavern down there in the dark, he must first wheedle some pipeline to come and tap him and then submit to arbitrary prices imposed by the Federal Power Commission in Washington in the most fascinating tangle of court decisions and appeals ever amassed. Meanwhile some companies which produce and buy gas are putting money into dead storage against a day when they may have to refund hundreds of millions to householders and other customers if current retail prices are disallowed.

Nobody on this earth understands all the technicalities which have been raised to disguise the fact that a Federal bureau in Washington presumes to tell a citizen in Texas how much he may charge for a thousand cubic feet of gas in his own ground. No other fuel is so controlled. In the last three months El Paso laid off more than a hundred of the best men of its small staff. The future was too uncertain to justify exploration and the accumulation of leases on further reserves. Other companies are up against about the same problem.

The Big Fellows probably have the future of Texas oil and gas in their chubby hands. For they can go down to 20,00 or 25,000 feet. Nobody really knows what is down that far. But they can afford to try and results to date justify a strong hope that if Russia and the Near East should run the United States out of other world markets, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Louisiana could produce quantities not yet imagined from way down deep.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt there will be many changes in Kingston and Ulster County during the next few years. I was looking through the New York State Gazetteer of 1860 and find that Ulster County had 903 stone houses, 329 brick houses, 9,028 frame houses and 582 log cabins. Dutchess had only 177 stone houses and 434 brick houses. County of Orange had 232 stone houses and 474 brick houses. I wonder how many of our stone houses are still standing from that 903 count of 1860. I wonder if anyone has the true figures today.

In 1860 they wrote "the capture of whales in open boats from the shores has continued from the first settlement to the present time. Scarcely a year passes without one or more being taken along the shore of Long Island. The whale fisheries from Hudson, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, once large, have ceased altogether. Also it was said in 1860, the Hudson yields shad, sturgeon and other fish in great quantities. It was estimated that $100,000 worth of shad were taken annually below the Highlands. They were caught in seines nearly as far as up as Albany. About $20,000 worth of sturgeon were sold yearly at the Albany market. I wonder how the fishing is today.

For Ulster County in a school statistical report of the superintendents of public instruction for 1859, Ulster had 25,758 children between the age of four and 21 registered. Dutchess had 21,446. We had 219 school houses and Dutchess had 213 school houses. I wonder how we neighboring counties stand today. I also notice the Ellenville High School was established in 1853. It was then a boarding and day school.

In the 1860's Shandaken contained a church, a sawmill, gristmill, 20 houses and a tannery. Pine Hill also had a sawmill, gristmill, 15 houses and a tannery. They also mention that some 200,000 sides of leather were annually manufactured around these towns. I do not know if we exhausted our natural resources around here but at one time they made a good living for many families. Tanneries were set up wherever convenient.

I have a 1901 book by Neltje Blanchan called "Nature's Garden" published by Doubleday, Page and Co. They mention the following about "most sumacs contain more or less tannin in their bark and leaves, they are therefore eagerly sought by agents for the leather business. They also mention certain "tribe of shrubs and trees which contain resinous, milky juice, drying bark like varnish, which in a Japanese species is transformed by the clever native artisans into their famous lacquer." I am just wondering if we have natural resources which the natives and colonists were familiar with but progress has forgotten. This book also mentions "all the harmless sumacs have red fruit clusters at the ends of the branches, whereas both the poison sumac's and the poison ivy's axillary clusters are dull grayish-white." It seems no matter what the weather, hot or dry, the bad plants thrive beautifully.

We live in a very interesting part of the world, and no doubt there is much that is mysterious and unknown and therefore not used in our plant life, and water and mineral facilities. Perhaps it is too handy. The other day, I saw several cars one with out of state plates looking Kingston Point Park over with great interest. I think some of them were visiting Woodstock and they spoke something about making a movie of it. That is all I could find out.

Cole and Pinkham Going to DeBruce, Chosen by Jurors

Two eighth grade students at Myron J. Michael School will go to the New York State Conservation Camp at DeBruce, Sullivan County, next week under the sponsorship of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County.

They are Donald Cole, 15, of 112 Gage Street and Arthur A. Pinkham, 13, of 608 Delaware Avenue.

Selection of the two MJM youngsters, an annual event sponsored by the AGJ, was made through a committee of Mrs. Sam Mann and Mrs. Theresa DeWitt, youth program of the local organization.

Young Cole, who took up arts and industrial arts this year at MJM, is vitally interested in sports—playing baseball and basketball. He also follows hunting, swimming and camping woodcraft. He was a member of the Kingston Boys Club basketball team.

In 1961 young Cole received a certificate of award for his interest in the sound projector field at School 5.

Young Pinkham and his brother raise homing pigeons and now have 40 birds. The two youngsters have flown the birds as far as 40 miles.

Pinkham, who is interested in archery, won the 1960 junior championship of the Kingston Archer's Club and also copped the junior championship at Bowman's indoor range at Hyde Park in 1960. He also has received several trophies at various outdoor contests. Pinkham also is interested in baseball.

Lead on Escapee Fades on Tuesday

Another lead in the search for Donald E. Sims, 30, escaped Wallkill prisoner, faded out Tuesday when an investigation disclosed a man who was observed on the highway near Minnewaska proved to be a guest at a local mountain resort.

Shortly before 10 a. m. while on patrol in the area a state trooper passed a man on Route 44-55. Before he could stop his car and question the man, he had disappeared in the woods. Other troopers were alerted and a search for the man started.

A teletype message was broadcast and a request that bloodhounds from the Hawthorne trooper station be sent to assist in the search. However, so well was the search organized that the identity of the man was soon learned. He was a guest at a mountain house in the area. The search is continuing for Sims who escaped a week ago.

Victory Near for Amish Sect in Social Security Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Amish, who claim they take care of their aged themselves, appeared today to have nearly won exemption from Social Security taxes—and benefits.

The Senate amended a public welfare bill late Tuesday to exempt the Amish and other religious sects who oppose such insurance, and then passed the measure.

The House had passed a similar bill, without the amendment, and is expected to agree today to a conference with the Senate to discuss the Senate amendments.

Bearded Amishmen in austere black suits and their women in bonnets roamed the Capitol corridors Tuesday as the Senate approved the bill. The amendment was introduced by Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

A large number of the Amish live in eastern Pennsylvania.

The "Old Order" Amish claim that social security is a form of insurance that violates their religious beliefs The Bible, they say, requires each family to provide for its own.

Exhale.
Now you know exactly how the Volkswagen engine is cooled. With air.
Water has nothing to do with it.
A big fan swooshes cool air through the engine and swooshes it out again.
The faster you go, the bigger the swoosh. So the engine stays calm, cool and collected.
So your Volkswagen can inch along all day in hot and heavy traffic. You may not enjoy it, but at least you won't have to worry about boiling over.
You also won't have any worries about draining or flushing the radiator in spring. There is no radiator.
Or hoses.
Or water pump.
Or rust.
And so there are no worries about anti-freeze in the fall or cracked blocks in the winter.
If you feel that you owe your Volkswagen's engine a little something special every spring and fall, you can do this much:
Just run it once around the block and let it air itself out.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

No doubt there will be many changes in Kingston and Ulster County during the next few years. I was looking through the New York State Gazetteer of 1860 and find that Ulster County had 903 stone houses, 329 brick houses, 9,028 frame houses and 582 log cabins. Dutchess had only 177 stone houses and 434 brick houses. County of Orange had 232 stone houses and 474 brick houses. I wonder how many of our stone houses are still standing from that 903 count of 1860. I wonder if anyone has the true figures today.

In 1860 they wrote "the capture of whales in open boats from the shores has continued from the first settlement to the present time. Scarcely a year passes without one or more being taken along the shore of Long Island. The whale fisheries from Hudson, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, once large, have ceased altogether. Mildred Dilling In Recital At Sunday Maverick Concert

The eagerly awaited appearance of Mildred Dilling, the world's leading harpist, takes place at 8:40 p. m., Saturday, July 21, at the Maverick Concert Hall, to be followed Sunday, July 22, afternoon, by another concert of Hindemith, Beethoven and Faure by the gifted quartet which opened this year's Maverick Sunday Series a month ago. The double bill insures a big weekend in the music world of Woodstock.

Mildred Dilling, long a favorite among Woodstock concert goers, is being sponsored by the Woodstock Festival Committee in a benefit for the Maverick Concerts in a program of Bach, Couperin, Albeniz and others. She will be joined by Joseph Wolman, the pianist who played here so beautifully two weeks ago, in a Ravel number.

MILDRED DILLING

Miss Dilling's credits are truly impressive; 28 European concert tours, instructor of Harpo Marx, 7 invitation recitals at the White House; first harpist to be televised by the British Broadcasting System; the first harpist to appear on radio in Ireland (the home of the harp); and last year concluded a seven-month's tour of the Far East under the auspices of the State Department.

In addition to this, she owns the largest and finest private collection of harps in the world —85 all told, 65 of which she keeps in her New York apartment, which makes it, according to Harpo Marx, "like an angel's cloakroom." Both as a stage personality and a virtuoso of first rank, Miss Dilling is known the world over as "simply fabulous."

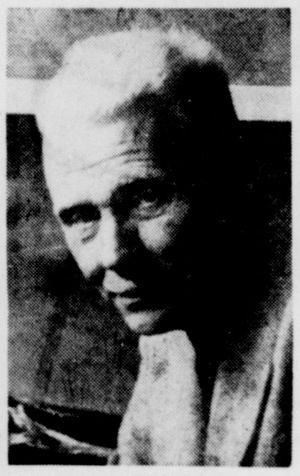
Hindemith's Sonata

At Sunday afternoon's 3 o'clock concert, violinist Alfio Pignotti, violist Frank Mele, Robini Coomara on cello, and Hughette Van Aackere, pianist, will present Hindemith's Sonata in E-flat for Violin and Piano; Beethoven's Trio in G Major for Violin, Piano and Cello and Gabriel Faure's Quartet in C Minor for Strings and Piano.

The rousing audience reception to this excellent quartet's first concert was as much a tribute to the program they had selected as the high level of their musicianship. The Hindemith they will be playing this Sunday is a very early work, post-Romantic in feeling, in two movements with the second movement in the rhythm of a slow, ceremonial dance. In the Beethoven Trio, the piano predominates, as it does in most early Beethoven trios. The Faure Quartet is described by musicologists as not only rhapsodic in quality but, "truly magnificent in construction, the very best in the modern French tradition. Faure, who was the teacher of some of the greatest modern French composers, was in large part responsible for the resurgence of chamber music after a long period when it had suffered a decline.

In addition to the greatly enlarged parking facilities just opened at the Maverick last week, a system of floodlights has been set up there, making parking no longer the arduous consideration at the concert hall which it has been up to now.

Henry Mattson Art on Exhibit At Association



HENRY MATTSON

Henry Mattson, one of the Five Distinguished Artists, who have been invited to exhibit at the fourth exhibition of the season at the Woodstock Artists Association (July 21-Aug. 2) has long been considered one of the giants of the Woodstock art scene.

Now 75, Mattson was born in Gothenburg, Sweden, in 1887 and had been an American citizen for many years. He was largely self-taught. His formal education consisted of three months of night classes at the Worcester Museum and three months in a John Carlson class in Woodstock.

Mattson, one of Woodstock's best known citizens, has won numerous awards. Among these were: Norman Wait Harris Silver Medal, Chicago Art Institution, 1931; Worcester Art Museum, 1933; W.P.A. Commission, 1935; Guggenheim Foundation Fellowship, 1935-36; Corcoran 14th Biennial, Bronze Medal, 1935; W. A. Clark Award, 1935; Carnegie International Exhibition Prize, 1935; Fort Dodge Federation of Art, Purchase Prize, 1940; Corcoran Gold Medal and First W. A. Clark Prize, 1943; Clark Gold Medal, Pennsylvania Academy, 1945; Salamagundi Club, Second Prize, 1946, and many others.

Mattson is represented in the following collections: White House, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Detroit Institute, Worcester Art Museum, City Art Museum, St. Louis; Cleveland Museum of Art, Kansas City Art Institute, Toledo Art Museum, Brooklyn Museum, Cornegie Institute of Art, Cincinnati Art Museum, two murals—U. S. Post Office, Portland, Maine, and in many other private and public collections.

He is a member of the National Academy and the Woodstock Artists Association. His bibliography includes: Twenty Painters, Watson, E. W., 1950; Who's Who in American Art, 1953; Coronet, Salpeter, May, 1939, and Life, Oct. 25, 1943.

Mattson summarizes his philosophy in art, thusly: "I am not interested in the elemental side of nature; I am only interested in the elemental."

Koster Lectures At Rochester U. On Council Work

Ronald Koster, director of student activities at the Onteora Central School, delivered a lecture on "The Work of the Institute" at the closing session of the Student Council Leadership Training Institute at the University of Rochester.

Student Council officers and faculty advisors representing public and private high schools from nearly every county in the state were in attendance. During the week Koster was one of six authorities giving lectures and leading discussion groups on Aims and Objectives of the Student Council, organization of the Student Council, techniques of group leadership, Student Council projects, standards of good Student Council and parliamentary procedure.

Dr. Alexander R. Cameron, Associate Dean of Students at Rochester, described the Student Council Leadership Training Institute as the most successful held to date. It was jointly sponsored by the university and the New York State Association of Student Councils.

Other lecturers included: Dr. Joseph E. McGurn, St. John Fisher College on Morals and Ethics in Leadership; Miss Margaret Stickel, executive secretary, NYSASC, Leadership in the Student Council; Dr. Christopher Lindley, U. of Rochester, Leadership in American History; Miss Jane Stellwagon, Assistant Dean of U. of R., Student Leadership in Higher Education; Dr. Richard Fortner, U. of R. School of Business, Leadership in Business; Dr. Harry Harootunian, U. of R., Leadership in International Affairs; and Dr. Dean Harper, Rochester, Group Dynamics.

Red Barn Slates Pierce Exhibit

An exhibition of paintings by Dorothy Mason Pierce will be held in the Red Barn Gallery, upper level, in Woodstock Aug. 1-5, daily from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Dorothy Mason Pierce is a self-taught artist now residing in Woodstock. Since 1935 she has lived in New York City where her work as a teacher has given her an understanding of and deep interest in children which are reflected in her painting.

Her paintings are in the private collections of Mrs. Steven Clark of New York and Cooperstown; Cyril Richard and others in New York and Washington, D. C. Miss Pierce has exhibited in the Witte Museum, San Antonio, Texas. In 1961 she had her first eastern showing in the Sagittarious Gallery in New York City. The immediate, happy response of the public to her work made the event an outstanding success.

Library Closed Day Before Annual Fair

Mrs. Lynn Wells, librarian of the Woodstock Library, has announced the library will be closed Wednesday, July 25, in preparation for the famous Library Fair Thursday, July 26. Thus readers will want to visit the library at least by Tuesday to select reading for the weekend.

Mrs. Wells also noted that June circulation rose to 4151, or 310 more books circulated than in the same month for 1961. July has been extremely busy and promises to be a record-breaker. One day alone, 444 books were handled on the "outside" with equally large numbers returning.

Evidently, says Mrs. Wells, reading a good book under a shady tree ranks high as a popular summer sport.

Irving Lehman, Covington Art At Gladstone

A special exhibit of the paintings of Harrison Covington, muralist and contemporary painter of distinction, will be shown at the Gladstone Galleries, Lower Byrdcliffe Road in Woodstock, starting Saturday, July 21, at 3 p. m.

Covington's work is also being currently shown in the New York Museum of Modern Art's exhibit, "Recent Painting, U.S.A. —The Figure." The exhibits at Gladstone will include 15 of Covington's most recent canvases, forming a striking display of his painting

Covington, who is instructor of painting at the University of South Florida at Tampa, has won numerous awards and prizes, the most recent being: A $1200 Research Grant from the University of Florida in 1960; First Award, Society of the Four Arts, Palm Beach, 22nd Annual; Honor Award, South Coast Art Show at Ringling Museum, Sarasota, 1961; First Award, Tampa Art Institute, 1962.

Lehman Sculpture

Concurrently with this exhibit, Gladstone Galleries will also display the sculpture and paintings of Irving Lehman, well known New York artist. Lehman has exhibited extensively in this country and abroad. He is represented in the permanent collection of Oxford University, the National Bezalel Museum in Israel, the Musee d'Art Populaire Juif at Paris, and in many private collections. He has won numerous prizes for his painting and sculpture, the most recent being from the Water Color Society of Alabama, the Washington Water Color Society, the Brooklyn Society of Artists, Annual Awards for Painting and Sculpture, 1958 and 1959.

In addition to the Covington and Lehman exhibits, a continuing Group Show of the gallery artists will be displayed in the Studio Hall of the galleries. The combined exhibits will be on view from July 21 to August 3.

Eskin, Marcault Get High Praise

The Sunday afternoon concert at the Maverick offered a cello and piano recital with familiar and new works by Jules Eskin, cellist, and Jacqualine Marcault, pianist. The two major familiar works featured were the Sonata, op. 102 in C Major by Beethoven and the F Major Sonata by Brahms. The others were a Suite in D Minor by the French composer Caix d'Hervelois (1670-1760) and a Suite Francaise by the French cellist Paul Bazelaire. The latter is actually an arrangement of dances and tunes from the different provinces of France.

The novelties on the program consisted of three pieces (Kleine Stuecke) op. 2 by Anton Webern and the 3 Studies by the contemporary Australian composer, Don Banks. Webern, one of the most important dodecaphonists, who together with Alban Berg established the school of their master, Arnold Schoenberg, went even further than Berg and Schoenberg, especially in his efforts to reduce music to very brief and broken up sensitive melodic fragments.

Added to this are rhythmical patterns in intense instances drawn from segments of tone-rows. This contributes to the surprise element of these sketchy musical structures, because, before the listener has been able to absorb their content, the works are already finished. Here we touch on the question of the nature of time and dimension in our minds. Webern's style is now being initiated to a degree, although, in the opinion of the latest avant guard composers, he is already passe! (At the recent Seattle World's Fair concerts, a considerable part of his music was performed.)

The Australian composer Don Banks in his 3 Studies shows great Schoenberg influence. The works are definitely expressionistic and atonal. One's curiosity is aroused to hear more by this composer and other Australians.

Beethoven's Sonata in C Major, op. 102, to come back to the classics, introspective and thoughtful, offers difficult problems for the performer and listener, while the F major Sonata by Brahms, one of the most important works of this type, provides the most satisfactory experience in the cello-piano literature. The Adagio affetuoso is one of the most moving examples of Brahms lyric expressiveness.

Jules Eskin, cellist, and Jacqueline Marcault, pianist, putting their combined artistry at the disposal of this program, achieved a high degree of refined and well balanced ensemble playing, which was emotionally restrained yet never cold. This listener felt that at moments the cello could have displayed more variety in nuance and color. Miss Marcault handled the piano part with a rare clarity of perception, adapting her tone to the demands of the range and dynamic of the cello. Altogether, it was a rewarding and unusually refined concert. . . . SALVADOR LEY.

Mildred Dilling In Recital At Sunday Maverick Concert

The eagerly awaited appearance of Mildred Dilling, the world's leading harpist, takes place at 8:40 p. m., Saturday, July 21, at the Maverick Concert Hall, to be followed Sunday, July 22, afternoon, by another concert of Hindemith, Beethoven and Faure by the gifted quartet which opened this year's Maverick Sunday Series a month ago. The double bill insures a big weekend in the music world of Woodstock.

Mildred Dilling, long a favorite among Woodstock concert goers, is being sponsored by the Woodstock Festival Committee in a benefit for the Maverick Concerts in a program of Bach, Couperin, Albeniz and others. She will be joined by Joseph Wolman, the pianist who played here so beautifully two weeks ago, in a Ravel number.

MILDRED DILLING

Miss Dilling's credits are truly impressive; 28 European concert tours, instructor of Harpo Marx, 7 invitation recitals at the White House; first harpist to be televised by the British Broadcasting System; the first harpist to appear on radio in Ireland (the home of the harp); and last year concluded a seven-month's tour of the Far East under the auspices of the State Department.

In addition to this, she owns the largest and finest private collection of harps in the world —85 all told, 65 of which she keeps in her New York apartment, which makes it, according to Harpo Marx, "like an angel's cloakroom." Both as a stage personality and a virtuoso of first rank, Miss Dilling is known the world over as "simply fabulous."

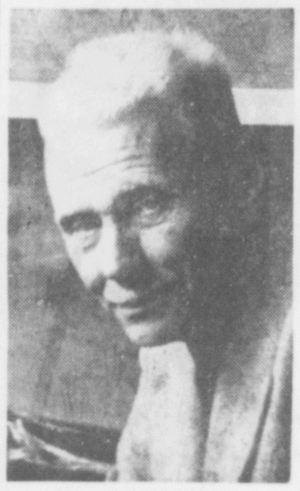
Hindemith's Sonata

At Sunday afternoon's 3 o'clock concert, violinist Alfio Pignotti, violist Frank Mele, Robini Coomara on cello, and Hughette Van Aackere, pianist, will present Hindemith's Sonata in E-flat for Violin and Piano; Beethoven's Trio in G Major for Violin, Piano and Cello and Gabriel Faure's Quartet in C Minor for Strings and Piano.

The rousing audience reception to this excellent quartet's first concert was as much a tribute to the program they had selected as the high level of their musicianship. The Hindemith they will be playing this Sunday is a very early work, post-Romantic in feeling, in two movements with the second movement in the rhythm of a slow, ceremonial dance. In the Beethoven Trio, the piano predominates, as it does in most early Beethoven trios. The Faure Quartet is described by musicologists as not only rhapsodic in quality but, "truly magnificent in construction, the very best in the modern French tradition. Faure, who was the teacher of some of the greatest modern French composers, was in large part responsible for the resurgence of chamber music after a long period when it had suffered a decline.

In addition to the greatly enlarged parking facilities just opened at the Maverick last week, a system of floodlights has been set up there, making parking no longer the arduous consideration at the concert hall which it has been up to now.

Henry Mattson Art on Exhibit At Association



HENRY MATTSON

Henry Mattson, one of the Five Distinguished Artists, who have been invited to exhibit at the fourth exhibition of the season at the Woodstock Artists Association (July 21-Aug. 2) has long been considered one of the giants of the Woodstock art scene.

Now 75, Mattson was born in Gothenburg, Sweden, in 1887 and had been an American citizen for many years. He was largely self-taught. His formal education consisted of three months of night classes at the Worcester Museum and three months in a John Carlson class in Woodstock.

Mattson, one of Woodstock's best known citizens, has won numerous awards. Among these were: Norman Wait Harris Silver Medal, Chicago Art Institution, 1931; Worcester Art Museum, 1933; W.P.A. Commission, 1935; Guggenheim Foundation Fellowship, 1935-36; Corcoran 14th Biennial, Bronze Medal, 1935; W. A. Clark Award, 1935; Carnegie International Exhibition Prize, 1935; Fort Dodge Federation of Art, Purchase Prize, 1940; Corcoran Gold Medal and First W. A. Clark Prize, 1943; Clark Gold Medal, Pennsylvania Academy, 1945; Salamagundi Club, Second Prize, 1946, and many others.

Mattson is represented in the following collections: White House, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Detroit Institute, Worcester Art Museum, City Art Museum, St. Louis; Cleveland Museum of Art, Kansas City Art Institute, Toledo Art Museum, Brooklyn Museum, Cornegie Institute of Art, Cincinnati Art Museum, two murals—U. S. Post Office, Portland, Maine, and in many other private and public collections.

He is a member of the National Academy and the Woodstock Artists Association. His bibliography includes: Twenty Painters, Watson, E. W., 1950; Who's Who in American Art, 1953; Coronet, Salpeter, May, 1939, and Life, Oct. 25, 1943.

Mattson summarizes his philosophy in art, thusly: "I am not interested in the elemental side of nature; I am only interested in the elemental."

Not So: Budget Director

Dems Charge Rocky Trying to Conceal Big State Deficit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democrats accuse the Rockefeller administration of planning to doctor the annual state budget summary to conceal a prospective deficit for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

The accusation was made Tuesday by Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia. It brought a reply from the State Budget Division that the leaders had "plumbed a new low in political irresponsibility and deception of the people."

Predicts $50 Million Deficit

The Democrats predicted a deficit of at least $50 million based on their calculations that included money the state has borrowed to finance a $100-million program of land acquisitions for parks and recreation lands.

Gov. Rockefeller does not include this program in the regular state budget on the theory that regular tax revenues will not be used to repay the loans. The repayment will be made from fees charged those using the facilities.

Zaretzki and Travia, noting that the budget summary has not been published whereas it was out on June 1 last year, said the governor and his budget director were trying to determine "how best to falsify the figures to give the highest degree of credibility to them."

A spokesman for the Budget Division said the state budget was "an honestly balanced budget and there will be no state deficit in this fiscal year."

No Idea of Time

The division had no estimate of when the 1962 summary would be published. The spokesman pointed out that the first budget summary of the administration of former Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, was put out on Nov. 18, 1955.

Zaretzki and Travia said the professional staff of the Budget Division had submitted a budget summary to the governor that forecast a sizeable deficit in the current fiscal year, which ends next March 31.

The record $2.6 billion state budget predicted a slim surplus of approximately $132,000. The Democrats contended that school-aid and other spending added to the budget after Rockefeller had submitted it would result in a deficit.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

A letter home from an Ulster County soldier furnishes a brief pen picture of conditions in Georgia in the wake of advancing Yankees during Sherman's historic march to the sea: "The country from Chattanooga to Marietta, a distance of 150 miles, is totally swept of male inhabitants. Every able-bodied Negro has been impressed into the service of the Federal Army. Georgia is abandoned except for its women and children. This lovely land, well watered and fertile, is now nearly barren before the march of two great armies. The country is cut up with breast-works and rifle pits. All along the railroad you see black embers, charred timbers and chimneys. Large hotels, stripped of furniture and windows all broken are a common sight. The villages are deserted."

A Kingston area matron who was brought up in Georgia, in the course of a conversation with this columnist attests the almost complete destruction wrought by the Union forces in their successful push to split the Confederacy in the Deep South. The family plantation was left a desolate ruins whilst her grandfather and two brothers were away in the Army. This lady also related a touching incident which took place on the great Gettysburg Battlefield, long after the war when graying veterans of both sides were wont to hold anniversary encampments on the site of the "turning point" of the great fratricidal struggle.

Our Column fan—she modestly admits to reading every one of them—says that she married a Yankee and has no hard feelings towards Northerners because of what the Boys in Blue did to her native state. She relates that her grandfather was attending one of these grand encampments and looking over the monuments which mark the battle positions of Southern troops, he sat down on a stone to rest. Soon there came strolling towards him a man in a blue suit who wore the broad-brimmed black hat bearing the insignia of the Grand Army of the Republic, introduced himself with the words, "Sir, I am a Yankee," and the two old veterans shook hands.

"Now," continued the stranger, "I will tell you how I come to visit this particular spot which I do everytime I attend one of these great encampments. It was right here that I was fearfully wounded, and as I lay here amongst the hundreds of dead and dying, I gave up all hope of survival. But then, finally, along came one of your Georgia boys who, seeing I was still alive, picked me up and tenderly carried me to his regiment's hospital tent, where I was given the best of attention and was able after a time to go to a base hospital. Sir, that lad saved my life, and so I always come to this spot, hoping to find the young fellow and properly thank him—but I never have."

(Even if this were a fiction story, it would still be a good one. Our informant's kin unfortunately was not the young hero. But the Yankee vet may have found his man upon a later occasion. Who knows?).

Civil Wartime Briefs

Oct. 6, 1864: Lt. William H. Dederick, 120th Regiment, of West Camp was shot by a Confederate sharpshooter week before last. His remains were brought home for interment.

A vote taken on the railroad cars between Cumberland and Washington, resulted as follows: of 126 men, 40 of whom were Union soldiers, the vote for Lincoln was 111 while 15 were in favor of Gen. George B. McClellan, the Democratic candidate for president.

The editor of a Kingston paper has this to say of a complaint: "L. L. B. is respectfully informed that if his paper was not mailed to him last week it was an oversight. We think, however, that the paper was sent tho' he may not have received it."

November, 1864: Brig Gen. Tyler has forwarded to the adjutant general's office the black flag captured from Gen. Jubal Early's command last August. The famous flag was in charge of two Confederates who set it against a tree while one of them went in search of water. C. H. Marsh, a detective who had been watching the flag, sprang upon the man, secured him and took the flag from the pole and brought it and his prisoner safe to the Yankee lines.

A man from back in the hills who advertised for a wife received answers from 18 husbands saying he could have their's.

Late '64 casuaities: James H. Fosmire, a soldier in the 15th Engineers from Saugerties, died at City Point, Va., Nov. 24, in his 27th year.

Jeremiah Fisher, for many years a resident of Rondout and an engineer in the employ of Major Cornell, died at New Orleans recently.

November, '64 — Sherman is advancing from Atlanta towards Savannah River in two columns. His army of 50,000 men is composed in large portion of troopers under the dashing cavalry leader, Kilpatrick. The invaders expect to find corn and sweet potatoes in abundance, and probably hogs, too. If Sherman on his long march can reach Beaufort, S. C., he can move right on through North Carolina to Danville, Va., this making Eastern Virginia a prison and a grave for Lee's army and the Confederate Government.—C. A. W.

Not So: Budget Director

Dems Charge Rocky Trying to Conceal Big State Deficit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democrats accuse the Rockefeller administration of planning to doctor the annual state budget summary to conceal a prospective deficit for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

The accusation was made Tuesday by Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia. It brought a reply from the State Budget Division that the leaders had "plumbed a new low in political irresponsibility and deception of the people."

Predicts $50 Million Deficit

The Democrats predicted a deficit of at least $50 million based on their calculations that included money the state has borrowed to finance a $100-million program of land acquisitions for parks and recreation lands.

Gov. Rockefeller does not include this program in the regular state budget on the theory that regular tax revenues will not be used to repay the loans. The repayment will be made from fees charged those using the facilities.

Zaretzki and Travia, noting that the budget summary has not been published whereas it was out on June 1 last year, said the governor and his budget director were trying to determine "how best to falsify the figures to give the highest degree of credibility to them."

A spokesman for the Budget Division said the state budget was "an honestly balanced budget and there will be no state deficit in this fiscal year."

No Idea of Time

The division had no estimate of when the 1962 summary would be published. The spokesman pointed out that the first budget summary of the administration of former Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, was put out on Nov. 18, 1955.

Zaretzki and Travia said the professional staff of the Budget Division had submitted a budget summary to the governor that forecast a sizeable deficit in the current fiscal year, which ends next March 31.

The record $2.6 billion state budget predicted a slim surplus of approximately $132,000. The Democrats contended that school-aid and other spending added to the budget after Rockefeller had submitted it would result in a deficit.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

A letter home from an Ulster County soldier furnishes a brief pen picture of conditions in Georgia in the wake of advancing Yankees during Sherman's historic march to the sea: "The country from Chattanooga to Marietta, a distance of 150 miles, is totally swept of male inhabitants. Every able-bodied Negro has been impressed into the service of the Federal Army. Georgia is abandoned except for its women and children. This lovely land, well watered and fertile, is now nearly barren before the march of two great armies. The country is cut up with breast-works and rifle pits. All along the railroad you see black embers, charred timbers and chimneys. Large hotels, stripped of furniture and windows all broken are a common sight. The villages are deserted."

Amenia Trio Is Arrested After Narcotics Check

Three Amenia residents were arrested in Dutchess County Tuesday night on charges arising from an investigation of complaints that narcotics were being used in the area.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan told The Freeman today that Mrs. Veronica Hubbard, 49, of Amenia was charged with selling and furnishing pills and capsules she represented to be narcotics. She also was accused of providing narcotic needles.

Also arrested were Paul E. Tierney, 20, and Robert Simoncelli, 18, both of Amenia on charges of illegal possession of narcotic needles.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace James Murphy, Town of Amenia, the defendants entered pleas of innocent. Bail for the youths was fixed at $1000 each and $500 for the woman. The case was adjourned until July 21.

Tierney and Mrs. Hubbard posted bail today and were released.

Quinlan said the investigation had been under way for the past two weeks following complaints of suspected use of narcotics in the Amenia area.

Gets Suspended Term

A Saugerties man today pleaded guilty to driving a car without a license before Acting Police Justice William D. Brinnier and received a suspended sentence, according to Sgt. Donald Sullivan. Police said Douglas Robinson Sr., of Washington Avenue, Saugerties, was summoned on the charge as the result of an accident on Partition Street, that village, at 2:45 p. m. Saturday. Sgt. Sullivan said Robinson reportedly backed his car from a driveway across Partition Street and collided with a southbound car driven by Mary A. Rooney, of 84 Roosevelt Avenue, Dumont, N. J., and hit a parked car owned by Ignazio Leogrande, of Brooklyn.

Will Probe Blaze

Investigation of a fire that caused heavy damage Tuesday to a vacant two-story East Park frame building, has been requested by Hyde Park Fire Chief Howard Martin. Martin said he has asked Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan to conduct an investigation in an effort to learn the origin of fire which was dicovered early yesterday. The building formerly was occupied by the late William H. Horn, former Hyde Park justice of the peace, who operated a grocery store many years. Four firemen were injured battling the flames, which damaged a New York Telephone Co. cable causing interuption of service in the area.

Plane Buzzing Seen Isolated Incident

BERLIN (AP)—Western officials regard the buzzing of an American plane by a Russian jet in a West Berlin air corridor Tuesday as an isolated incident, informed sources said today.

The officials reportedly could find no evidence that the Soviets planned to resume their harassment of Western planes of last winter. Traffic in the air corridors was normal today.

The United States protested to Soviet officials against the incident.

Opposes $80,000 for Plan

A Dutchess County supervisor said Tuesday he opposes spending $80,000 for preparing a master plan for a county-town highway system. Supervisor Thomas J. Odak, Town of Milan Democrat, contends the highway system could be overhauled without such an expenditure. Eugene Conte, planning board chairman in Dutchess County, said Monday his group plans to apply for federal and state aid for preparing a master plan for the development of a network of county and town roads.

Escapes Injury

A Saugerties woman escaped injury at 10:10 a. m. Tuesday when a truck struck the door on the driver's side of her vehicle as she was alighting from the car on Partition Street, Saugerties. Police said Mrs. Anne Larson, of R.F.D., Box 67, Saugerties, stopped her car and as she was getting out a truck driven by Paul J. Szafran, of 930 Columbia Street, Hudson, hooked the door, causing considerable damage. Patrolman John Washburn investigated.

Occupants Escape Injury

Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury Sunday as the result of a collision of South Partition Street at Hill Street, Saugerties, according to village police. The cars were a 1961 car driven by William Whitney Brandow, 34, of 131 West Bridge Street, Saugerties, and a 1962 vehicle driven by Robert G. Bower, 41, Rt. 4, Box 287, Saugerties. Patrolmen Nicholas Styer and John Pavlak, investigated and reported extensive damage to both cars.

Pardon, Wrong House

BEACON, N.Y. (AP)—A group of workmen started to demolish a vacant house here today to make way for a new office building.

After they had removed almost all of the roof, the owner, Wheaton Avis, who lived nearby, walked up and told them that they were demolishing the wrong house.

The workmen apologized and left to begin tearing down the right building next door.

The local police chief, who reported the incident, said Avis did not seem disturbed by the mistake, noting that the house was old and unused for some time.

Car Skids on Thruway

A Herkimer woman escaped injury at 2:40 p. m. Tuesday, when her car skidded on the Thruway at the Catskill Interchange and struck an abutment. Thruway troopers said Delores M. Veit, 29, of Herkimer, was driving a 1962 car when it skidded on kerosene on the pavement and hit the abutment. According to troopers the kerosene spilled from a truck ahead of the car. The truck was owned by the Westchester Asphalt Distributors, White Plains, and operated at the time by Anthony Antonelli, 48, of Catskill, troopers reported.

Fire in Ice House

Firemen were dispatched to the Knaust property at Cementon late Tuesday to extinguish fire that broke out in an unused frame ice house at Alsen dock. The Fire Control Center reported Cementon firemen responded to a call and West Camp-Malden firemen stood by until two fire trucks arrived from Catskill. A spokesman for the owners said the old ice house had been the scene of fires on two or three occasions, and plans had been made to have a bulldozer remove the remains of the structure. The origin of yesterday's fire was not determined.

Chamber to Have Classified Directory

Plans were made to publish a classified directory of all active members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the executive committee Tuesday afternoon.

Many hundreds of requests are received at the Chamber office as to local sources of all kinds of goods and service. The directory will be used to answer many of these inquiries. A survey of every member will be made to determine the proper classification under which they desire to be listed. Only those who have paid their membership subscription or arranged to pay for the fiscal year which started May 1, will be included.

In making this announcement today Chamber President Sam Pepper said that this is one direct membership service financed entirely by membership subscriptions. The directory will also be distributed among all Chamber members.

Brothers Missing From Foster Home Picked Up Today

Three brothers, ages 8, 11, and 13, reported missing from a foster home at Blue Mountain were found this morning by Saugerties Police, but two of them later made off on bicycles only to be picked up in a wooded area outside Kingston by New York State Troopers.

Sgt. Donald Sullivan of Saugerties reported that the boys left their foster home Tuesday morning and around 7 a. m. today patrolman John Washburn spotted the trio near the Grand Union Market at Saugerties.

The eight-year-old boy was on foot. The other two were riding bicycles. The younger boy was taken in Washburn's car and his brothers were told to follow the police vehicle to headquarters. They took off, went through a back yard, down an embankment and into the woods.

Later Kingston troopers saw the bicyclists on a highway outside Kingston. The boys fled into the woods where they were found by Troopers David Wachtel and John Chapin. The names of the boys are withheld because of their ages.

Check Fire, Gas Threat

Firemen checked a grass fire in the Kingman Park area Tuesday afternoon and washed away gasoline after a gas tank fell from a car on an access street of the Broadway underpass. A unit from Central Station responded to the grass fire call at 5:23 p. m. The other call was at 5:54 p. m. and a unit from Wiltwyck Station responded. The gas tank, apparently loosened by contact with a curb or similar obstruction dropped from a car owned by James Geary, of 41 West O'Reilly Street.

Approves Action

A resolution favoring acquisition of Jefferson Street and Keating Lumber yard sites in downtown Poughkeepsie for a total of 300 low income public housing apartment units, has been approved by the Poughkeepsie Common Council. The Jefferson Street site for 200 dwelling units was approved by unanimous vote of eight of nine members present. The Keating site was approved by a vote of 6 to 2.

Check Theft of $15

Police were notified shortly before 12:30 p. m. today that some $15 had been taken from the cash register at the grocery store of Mrs. M. Caban, 220 Downs Street, by a man who grabbed it and ran. The money was taken, Mrs. Caban said as she was having lunch. She saw the man, she said, as he was leaving the building. Others in the neighborhood also saw him, she said. Detectives are investigating.

Boy Uses Rock To Explode Shell, Suffers Injuries

Ernest Bodie, 15, of 153 Hunter Street, who police said was injured Tuesday afternoon when he exploded a shotgun shell with a rock in the Block Park area, was reported making satisfactory recovery at home today.

The boy found the shell, his mother said, as he was walking in an area near the boat basin along the eastern side of the park. The explosion inflicted multiple, small lacerations of the face and one shot lodged in the flesh. The left eye was slightly injured and powder-burned and he suffered a small laceration of the left leg. He was admitted at the Benedictine Hospital and discharged this morning.

Officer Gerald Every investigated after police were notified at 2:30 p. m. that the boy had been hurt.

L. I. Tour Warmup For Rockefeller

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is swinging through vote-rich Long Island on what is billed as a non-political tour that nonetheless is serving as a warmup for his future campaigning.

Officially, the potential 1964 Republican presidential nominee is visiting state facilities and industrial developments to help coordinate state and regional planning.

But, unofficially, the trip gives him a chance to meet the public, shake hands, pat the heads of children and exchange banter.

He does it with the same informal flair that he showed in 1958 when he walked Delancey Street on New York's Lower East Side with a Salami under his arm on the road to the governorship.

Amenia Trio Is Arrested After Narcotics Check

Three Amenia residents were arrested in Dutchess County Tuesday night on charges arising from an investigation of complaints that narcotics were being used in the area.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan told The Freeman today that Mrs. Veronica Hubbard, 49, of Amenia was charged with selling and furnishing pills and capsules she represented to be narcotics. She also was accused of providing narcotic needles.

Also arrested were Paul E. Tierney, 20, and Robert Simoncelli, 18, both of Amenia on charges of illegal possession of narcotic needles.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace James Murphy, Town of Amenia, the defendants entered pleas of innocent. Bail for the youths was fixed at $1000 each and $500 for the woman. The case was adjourned until July 21.

Tierney and Mrs. Hubbard posted bail today and were released.

Quinlan said the investigation had been under way for the past two weeks following complaints of suspected use of narcotics in the Amenia area.

Gets Suspended Term

A Saugerties man today pleaded guilty to driving a car without a license before Acting Police Justice William D. Brinnier and received a suspended sentence, according to Sgt. Donald Sullivan. Police said Douglas Robinson Sr., of Washington Avenue, Saugerties, was summoned on the charge as the result of an accident on Partition Street, that village, at 2:45 p. m. Saturday. Sgt. Sullivan said Robinson reportedly backed his car from a driveway across Partition Street and collided with a southbound car driven by Mary A. Rooney, of 84 Roosevelt Avenue, Dumont, N. J., and hit a parked car owned by Ignazio Leogrande, of Brooklyn.

Will Probe Blaze

Investigation of a fire that caused heavy damage Tuesday to a vacant two-story East Park frame building, has been requested by Hyde Park Fire Chief Howard Martin. Martin said he has asked Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan to conduct an investigation in an effort to learn the origin of fire which was dicovered early yesterday. The building formerly was occupied by the late William H. Horn, former Hyde Park justice of the peace, who operated a grocery store many years. Four firemen were injured battling the flames, which damaged a New York Telephone Co. cable causing interuption of service in the area.

Plane Buzzing Seen Isolated Incident

BERLIN (AP)—Western officials regard the buzzing of an American plane by a Russian jet in a West Berlin air corridor Tuesday as an isolated incident, informed sources said today.

The officials reportedly could find no evidence that the Soviets planned to resume their harassment of Western planes of last winter. Traffic in the air corridors was normal today.

Opposes $80,000 for Plan

A Dutchess County supervisor said Tuesday he opposes spending $80,000 for preparing a master plan for a county-town highway system. Supervisor Thomas J. Odak, Town of Milan Democrat, contends the highway system could be overhauled without such an expenditure. Eugene Conte, planning board chairman in Dutchess County, said Monday his group plans to apply for federal and state aid for preparing a master plan for the development of a network of county and town roads.

Escapes Injury

A Saugerties woman escaped injury at 10:10 a. m. Tuesday when a truck struck the door on the driver's side of her vehicle as she was alighting from the car on Partition Street, Saugerties. Police said Mrs. Anne Larson, of R.F.D., Box 67, Saugerties, stopped her car and as she was getting out a truck driven by Paul J. Szafran, of 930 Columbia Street, Hudson, hooked the door, causing considerable damage. Patrolman John Washburn investigated.

Occupants Escape Injury

Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury Sunday as the result of a collision of South Partition Street at Hill Street, Saugerties, according to village police. The cars were a 1961 car driven by William Whitney Brandow, 34, of 131 West Bridge Street, Saugerties, and a 1962 vehicle driven by Robert G. Bower, 41, Rt. 4, Box 287, Saugerties. Patrolmen Nicholas Styer and John Pavlak, investigated and reported extensive damage to both cars.

Pardon, Wrong House

BEACON, N.Y. (AP)—A group of workmen started to demolish a vacant house here today to make way for a new office building.

After they had removed almost all of the roof, the owner, Wheaton Avis, who lived nearby, walked up and told them that they were demolishing the wrong house.

The workmen apologized and left to begin tearing down the right building next door.

The local police chief, who reported the incident, said Avis did not seem disturbed by the mistake, noting that the house was old and unused for some time.

Car Skids on Thruway

A Herkimer woman escaped injury at 2:40 p. m. Tuesday, when her car skidded on the Thruway at the Catskill Interchange and struck an abutment. Thruway troopers said Delores M. Veit, 29, of Herkimer, was driving a 1962 car when it skidded on kerosene on the pavement and hit the abutment. According to troopers the kerosene spilled from a truck ahead of the car. The truck was owned by the Westchester Asphalt Distributors, White Plains, and operated at the time by Anthony Antonelli, 48, of Catskill, troopers reported.

Fire in Ice House

Firemen were dispatched to the Knaust property at Cementon late Tuesday to extinguish fire that broke out in an unused frame ice house at Alsen dock. The Fire Control Center reported Cementon firemen responded to a call and West Camp-Malden firemen stood by until two fire trucks arrived from Catskill. A spokesman for the owners said the old ice house had been the scene of fires on two or three occasions, and plans had been made to have a bulldozer remove the remains of the structure. The origin of yesterday's fire was not determined.

Chamber to Have Classified Directory

Plans were made to publish a classified directory of all active members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the executive committee Tuesday afternoon.

Many hundreds of requests are received at the Chamber office as to local sources of all kinds of goods and service. The directory will be used to answer many of these inquiries. A survey of every member will be made to determine the proper classification under which they desire to be listed. Only those who have paid their membership subscription or arranged to pay for the fiscal year which started May 1, will be included.

In making this announcement today Chamber President Sam Pepper said that this is one direct membership service financed entirely by membership subscriptions. The directory will also be distributed among all Chamber members.

Brothers Missing FromFosterHome Picked Up Today

Three brothers, ages 8, 11, and 13, reported missing from a foster home at Blue Mountain were found this morning by Saugerties Police, but two of them later made off on bicycles only to be picked up in a wooded area outside Kingston by New York State Troopers.

Sgt. Donald Sullivan of Saugerties reported that the boys left their foster home Tuesday morning and around 7 a. m. today patrolman John Washburn spotted the trio near the Grand Union Market at Saugerties.

The eight-year-old boy was on foot. The other two were riding bicycles. The younger boy was taken in Washburn's car and his brothers were told to follow the police vehicle to headquarters. They took off, went through a back yard, down an embankment and into the woods.

Later Kingston troopers saw the bicyclists on a highway outside Kingston. The boys fled into the woods where they were found by Troopers David Wachtel and John Chapin. The names of the boys are withheld because of their ages.

Check Fire, Gas Threat

Firemen checked a grass fire in the Kingman Park area Tuesday afternoon and washed away gasoline after a gas tank fell from a car on an access street of the Broadway underpass. A unit from Central Station responded to the grass fire call at 5:23 p. m. The other call was at 5:54 p. m. and a unit from Wiltwyck Station responded. The gas tank, apparently loosened by contact with a curb or similar obstruction dropped from a car owned by James Geary, of 41 West O'Reilly Street.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Helen Baniewski, who passed away nine years ago, July 18.
You're not forgotten, mother, dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our father, Raymond J. Miller, who died 5 years ago, July 18, 1957.
A beautiful memory dearer than gold,
Of a husband and father whose worth can never be told.
With tender love and deep regret
We who loved him will never forget.

Johnson Assault Case to Be Heard By Grand Jury

A second degree assault charge against Peter Johnson, 37, of 69 Liberty Street, goes to the grand jury after city court hearing today, hearing of a forgery charge against another was adjourned to Thursday, and two charges against a downtown man were withdrawn.

Johnson, accused of cutting Florence Peterson, of Ann Street, with a jackknife, was arrested July 3 on the second degree assault charge. He was charged with third degree assault July 13 when she again claimed she had been assaulted. Johnson was under $5,000 property bond when the second charge was lodged. Bail for that, fixed at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property, was not posted at the time.

Attorney Charles J. Saccoman appeared for Johnson and Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr. for the district attorney's office. Preliminary hearing was before Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn.

Charged With Forgery

Robert John Hotaling, 42, of Box 79, Star Route, Rosendale, was charged Tuesday afternoon with second degree forgery after he allegedly used several checks adding to some $200 at local stores in the purchase of merchandise.

Police said he used the name of his wife, who has been in New York. The arrest was by Detective William Slover of the local police, Edward Shannon and Joseph Ventriglia, state police investigators.

Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn put the case over until tomorrow to permit him time to obtain counsel.

Charges Withdrawn

Charges of third degree assault and malicious mischief lodged against Thomas C. Kelly, 20, of 91 Broadway, by Joseph Plock Sr. of 11 East Strand, Tuesday, were withdrawn this morning.

Police said it was charged that Kelly had banged on a door, carried a large knife and shouted threats.

Judge Elwyn also adjourned to Thursday hearing of a third degree assault charge against Joseph Scully, 26, of 69 Lafayette Avenue. The charge, police said, was lodged early today by his wife, Linda. Bail, fixed at $500 was not immediately posted.

Gilday's Aim . . .

community but also in its "internal relations".

Close Association With Education

Gilday has had a close relationship with education for several years as a veteran member of the school board. Receiving an appointment from Mayor Edwin F. Radel in 1958, he is serving his last year of the five-year term. He is the last appointive-member remaining on the Kingston Board of Education.

His wife, Janice, is a school teacher.

With five children of school age, Gilday has been very active in the P-TA, especially at School Number 2. "We have been very fortunate," he stated, "that the P-TA has been so vitally interested in our schools and in education generally. They have been one of the few groups in Kingston who have continued to be vitally interested and active in matters of education. We indeed owe them a debt of gratitude for their support and understanding."

A Monument to Effort

During his four years on the board of education, Gilday has worked very hard for adequate school facilities to replace the outmoded and deteriorated structure at School Number 2. As a member of the P-TA at School Number 2 put it last week, "The new school being built on Mary's Avenue will stand as a monument to the dedication and interest of Mr. Gilday in seeing that the children of our school district get an adequate school building. We are indeed appreciative of his efforts and much of the credit for this new building goes to him."

It is expected that the new president will call a meeting of the Board of Education in the very near future to assign various members to their respective committees.

Skull Is Examined

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A hospital pathologist examined today a discolored human skull found last night on the bank of the Mohawk River near Frankfort. State Police said the age and sex had not been determined.

EAL Makes Last Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern Air Lines has fixed tonight as the deadline for settlement of a labor dispute which has grounded its planes for 26 days.

The announcement of a final contract offer came after a day of meetings Tuesday between representatives of the airline and the striking Flight Engineers International Association. More meetings were scheduled today in Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg's office.

Eastern said if the flight engineers union doesn't accept its offer by 6 p.m. it will be made individually to the flight engineers themselves for acceptance before next Tuesday.

The airline described its proposal as an offer "which requires specific time for its acceptance."

The new proposal defines the qualifications an engineer must have to serve as the third cockpit crew member on jet aircraft. It also calls for an approximate 11 per cent average pay increase plus an additional 3 per cent increase effective next April 1.

Eastern and other major jet carriers want to reduce the number of cockpit personnel from four —three pilots and an engineer—to three. The flight engineers have insisted that the third man be a flight engineer while the airlines want the third man to have pilot training.

Area Conservative

publican Committee would oppose such action on the part of the candidate.

Against Liberals

"The Republicans accuse the Conservative Party of embarking upon a 'rule and ruin' course being composed of hard bitten irreconciliables. We are not out to ruin the Republican Party. We only want to make it possible for the Republican Party to shake loose the tyranny of liberal interlopers.

"In one way, and one way only, we are proudly 'irreconcilable', said Meyer. "We will never be reconciled to the domination of the Republican Party by liberal intrigue. We will never be reconciled to a situation in which the conservative voters of New York are deprived of the possibility of expressing their beliefs at the polls. We will never be reconciled until New York again has a genuine two-party system."

Kennedy Brands

the congressional elections, whether we want to stand still or whether we want to support this kind of legislation for the benefit of the people.

"You are going to have a chance to make that judgment. With your support in November, this will pass in 1963."

Also prompt in its comment was the American Medical Association. Its president, Dr. George M. Fister, said in Chicago:

Inequitable: AMA

"It would have been inequitable to force wage earners to pay substantially higher payroll taxes to provide health care for millions who are able to take care of themselves.

"The American Medical Association will continue its efforts to further implement and strengthen the Kerr-Mills law (which offers federal funds to states to help cover medical care for the aged under certain circumstances) and all voluntary programs to help meet health needs of the aged."

Prado Seized . . .

Navy Minister Guillermo Tirado, said his resignation was irrevocable.

Prado announced that the new Congress will meet July 28, as scheduled, to name the next president.

Odria, president from 1948-56, said in a radio-television broadcast he would accept the post if approved by Congress "for the sake of national unity."

Market Prices Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices declined on a broad front early today, with trading heavy and the ticker running late.

Some stocks, however, showed a tendency to recover from their worst losses. International Business Machines Corp., which was down $12 at one time, soon pared this to a $4 loss at $366.12.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones industrial average was down 4.23 to 573.62.

Herb Named Head Of School Board For Second Term

Robert Herb of Malden was unanimously re-elected president of the Saugerties Central School Board of Education at the annual organization meeting Tuesday night. He has been a member of the board since 1955, and served as president for the past year following the retirement of Jack Lowther.

Herb, a 1942 graduate of Saugerties High School, was elected to a new three year term on the board at the annual meeting of the district.

Also re-elected to official positions at Tuesday night's meeting was Charles Riccardi of Glasco. He will cotinue as vice-president of the board.

Reappointed were Margaret Burger, clerk; Gerald Snyder, treasurer; the law firm of Rosenblum and Lamb, attorney for the district; Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company, official depository for the school funds of the district and Dr. Richard Wenger, physician to the school district.

William Woestendiek, Town of Saugerties tax collector, was also named school tax collector for the Town of Woodstock and Ulster which are included in the Saugerties School District.

The official meeting night was changed to the second Wednesday of each month instead of the second Monday. Meeting time is 8 p. m.

Amini Resigns As Iran Premier

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Ali Amini resigned today after 14 months in office marked by sweeping land reforms and sporadic demonstrations demanding a return to parliamentary government. The shah accepted the resignation.

An authoritative source said Amini told the shah at a "most friendly" two-hour audience Tuesday night that he was resigning because he had been unable to balance the budget.

Amini took office May 5, 1961, as a reform premier. Immediately afterward, the shah dissolved Parliament to give Amini a free hand to attack the many problems besetting the pro-Western nation.

U.S. Shrugs Off Nikita's Boast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite a boast by Russian Premier Khrushchev of an antimissile that "can hit a fly in space," the Defense Department still thinks U.S. missiles can penetrate to their targets.

"We think our knowledge of defensive systems is as good or better than theirs," a Pentagon spokesman said Tuesday when asked about Khrushchev's statemnt. "We are satisfied our missiles can penetrate."

Two Ask Licenses

OTTAWA (AP) — Eastern Air Lines and Mohawk Airlines, two U.S. carriers, have applied for licenses to operate scheduled flights between Buffalo and Toronto, the Air Transport Board announced today.

The board set Aug. 20 as the deadline for filing representations either opposing or supporting the two bids. Both lines were designated in the U.S.-Canada air agreement of 1949 as carriers authorized by the U.S. to conduct Buffalo-Toronto services.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was substantially lower early this afternoon. Trading slowed after an active morning.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.70 to 214.90, with industrials off 2.80, rails off .50, and utilities off .80.

Key stocks were down fractions to more than a point. Some of the "growth" issues lost several points.

The list was hit by fairly heavy selling in the morning. Brokers saw it as a continuation of Tuesday's late weakness which resulted in a sharp loss on the day.

The market was heading into its fourth straight decline following a sharp advance which lasted most of the three weeks. Some kind of corrective reaction was natural after such a prolonged rally, brokers said.

Steels, motors, rails, oils, chemicals, aerospace issues and electronics were among the losers.

Polaroid, upset by a report of lower profits in the second quarter, declined more than 8.

IBM, after some see-saw movements, showed a loss of around 5.

Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway added more than a point to its 5⅜ rise Tuesday following news that Norfolk & Western Railway has signed an agreement to lease the other carrier. N&W fell more than a point.

Big Three motors and the leading steelmakers were fractional losers.

Losses exceeding a point were taken by Air Reduction, Woolworth and Eastman Kodak. General Electric, United Aircraft, and International Telephone were down about a point each.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.73 at 573.12.

Promoted by Troopers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—John P. Nohlen, 51, of Syracuse, was promoted today from lieutenant supervisor of the uniformed force of State Police Troop A to the post of captain in command of the troop.

Troop A headquarters are at Batavia. Nohlen replaces Capt. John P. Ronan, now on detached duty, pending retirement.

Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. of the State Police also announced the promotion of Lt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner, 50, of Hamburg, to the post of lieutenant supervisor to succeed Nohlen.

All the units are part of what military officials say was ". . . the most efficient partial mobilization in American history."

Army officials have said that "The prompt callup of these reservists produced desired results in the shortest time possible. In fact, this speed may have contributed significantly to at least a postponement of the 1 January deadline imposed by the Soviets in connection with the Berlin crisis."

All the called-up National Guard and Reserve personnel—an estimated 156,000 from all military branches—are scheduled for release prior to August 31.

At Fort Bragg, most of the 45 units wil leave during the first 12 days of August.

about in the reorganization of the control system when IBM decided to continue it in Kingston instead of moving to Florida.

In his position at the Washington Data Processing Center, Oldfield wrote the SOAP interpretative system which has been used by many IBM customer installations. In 1956 he became manager of the IBM New York Data Processing Center which was recognized as one of the leading computing groups in the country.

Handled Vanguard Center

In 1958 Oldfield was appointed manager of the Washington Vanguard Computing Center, which had the responsiblity for developing orbital programs for the Naval Research Laboratory and later for the National Aeronautics and space Administration.

Oldfield was active in the Washington Chapter of the Association for computing machinery since its beginning. He was chairman in 1959-60 and a member of the executive council for the last two years. He was program chairman for the 1961 Eastern Joint Computer Conference held in Washington. Oldfield is also a member of the American Ordnance Association and the IBM Corporate Representative to the American Rocket Society.

In Mathematics Division

From 1948 to 1955 Oldfield worked on range instrumentation at the Naval Ordnance Test Station in Inyokern, Calif. He worked in the mathematics division with various types of IBM equipment and later became manager of the station's computing group.

Oldfield graduated from Reed College, Portland, Ore., with a bachelor's degree in physics in 1945. He was selected by the government to represent the Naval Ordnance Test Station at a special graduate course in computing and applied mathematics under Dr. Aiken at Harvard University. He received a master's degree in applied mathematics from Harvard in 1948.

Oldfield, his wife Martha and children Duane, 3, and Laurie, 1, will reside at Finger Lane, Mt. Marion.

Avco and American Distilling Good Stocks

(Q) "I have a little over $2,000 to invest at what I hope will be the right time. I am trying to decide between American Distilling and Avco and would appreciate your comment. Incidentally, I have heard other stockholders say that certain organizations make their products available at a greatly reduced rate to those who attend the annual stockholders' meeting. Is this a common custom?" E.D.

(A) Answering your last question first, I would say that what you mention must be a very uncommon custom, since I haven't seen any evidence of it for years. If this were true in the case of American Distilling, I believe the annual meeting would have to be held in the largest hall in Maryland.

Seriously, however, I think you have selected two good stocks, and I wouldn't worry about fringe benefits. Avco is a leader in missile and other defense work, and American Distilling has shown a strong pattern of rising earnings and dividends since 1954. I suggest you split your investment, putting $1,000 into each issue.

(Q) "Can you advise on Pittsburgh Metallurgical on the New York Stock Exchange? I know nothing whatsoever about stocks but bought a block of this issue at 24 in 1961. Is it worth holding, or should I take my loss and switch into something else?" F.N.

(A) Pittsburgh Metallurgical is one of three major companies making ferroalloys for the steel industry. The others are Union Carbide and Vanadium.

The ferroalloy business is very cyclical, and Pittsburgh Met's earnings and dividends have tended to vary widely, as has the price of the shares. Essentially I do not believe it is the right type of stock for a man in your position to own. There is no real growth here, and the amount of your income cannot be considered fixed.

In your place, I would switch this holding into Marine Midland (NYSE), which should give you far greater security and stability.

Johnson Assault Case to Be Heard By Grand Jury

A second degree assault charge against Peter Johnson, 37, of 69 Liberty Street, goes to the grand jury after city court hearing today, hearing of a forgery charge against another was adjourned to Thursday, and two charges against a downtown man were withdrawn.

Johnson, accused of cutting Florence Peterson, of Ann Street, with a jackknife, was arrested July 3 on the second degree assault charge. He was charged with third degree assault July 13 when she again claimed she had been assaulted. Johnson was under $5,000 property bond when the second charge was lodged. Bail for that, fixed at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property, was not posted at the time.

Attorney Charles J. Saccoman appeared for Johnson and Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr. for the district attorney's office. Preliminary hearing was before Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn.

Charged With Forgery

Robert John Hotaling, 42, of Box 79, Star Route, Rosendale, was charged Tuesday afternoon with second degree forgery after he allegedly used several checks adding to some $200 at local stores in the purchase of merchandise.

Police said he used the name of his wife, who has been in New York. The arrest was by Detective William Slover of the local police, Edward Shannon and Joseph Ventriglia, state police investigators.

Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn put the case over until tomorrow to permit him time to obtain counsel.

Charges Withdrawn

Charges of third degree assault and malicious mischief lodged against Thomas C. Kelly, 20, of 91 Broadway, by Joseph Plock Sr. of 11 East Strand, Tuesday, were withdrawn this morning.

Police said it was charged that Kelly had banged on a door, carried a large knife and shouted threats.

Judge Elwyn also adjourned to Thursday hearing of a third degree assault charge against Joseph Scully, 26, of 69 Lafayette Avenue. The charge, police said, was lodged early today by his wife, Linda. Bail, fixed at $500 was not immediately posted.

Gilday's Aim . . .

community but also in its "internal relations".

Close Association With Education

Gilday has had a close relationship with education for several years as a veteran member of the school board. Receiving an appointment from Mayor Edwin F. Radel in 1958, he is serving his last year of the five-year term. He is the last appointive-member remaining on the Kingston Board of Education.

His wife, Janice, is a school teacher.

With five children of school age, Gilday has been very active in the P-TA, especially at School Number 2. "We have been very fortunate," he stated, "that the P-TA has been so vitally interested in our schools and in education generally. They have been one of the few groups in Kingston who have continued to be vitally interested and active in matters of education. We indeed owe them a debt of gratitude for their support and understanding."

A Monument to Effort

During his four years on the board of education, Gilday has worked very hard for adequate school facilities to replace the outmoded and deteriorated structure at School Number 2. As a member of the P-TA at School Number 2 put it last week, "The new school being built on Mary's Avenue will stand as a monument to the dedication and interest of Mr. Gilday in seeing that the children of our school district get an adequate school building. We are indeed appreciative of his efforts and much of the credit for this new building goes to him."

It is expected that the new president will call a meeting of the Board of Education in the very near future to assign various members to their respective committees.

EAL Makes Last Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern Air Lines has fixed tonight as the deadline for settlement of a labor dispute which has grounded its planes for 26 days.

The announcement of a final contract offer came after a day of meetings Tuesday between representatives of the airline and the striking Flight Engineers International Association. More meetings were scheduled today in Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg's office.

Eastern said if the flight engineers union doesn't accept its offer by 6 p.m. it will be made individually to the flight engineers themselves for acceptance before next Tuesday.

The airline described its proposal as an offer "which requires specific time for its acceptance."

The new proposal defines the qualifications an engineer must have to serve as the third cockpit crew member on jet aircraft. It also calls for an approximate 11 per cent average pay increase plus an additional 3 per cent increase effective next April 1.

Eastern and other major jet carriers want to reduce the number of cockpit personnel from four —three pilots and an engineer—to three. The flight engineers have insisted that the third man be a flight engineer while the airlines want the third man to have pilot training.

Area Conservative

publican Committee would oppose such action on the part of the candidate.

Against Liberals

"The Republicans accuse the Conservative Party of embarking upon a 'rule and ruin' course being composed of hard bitten irreconciliables. We are not out to ruin the Republican Party. We only want to make it possible for the Republican Party to shake loose the tyranny of liberal interlopers.

"In one way, and one way only, we are proudly 'irreconcilable', said Meyer. "We will never be reconciled to the domination of the Republican Party by liberal intrigue. We will never be reconciled to a situation in which the conservative voters of New York are deprived of the possibility of expressing their beliefs at the polls. We will never be reconciled until New York again has a genuine two-party system."

Kennedy Brands

the congressional elections, whether we want to stand still or whether we want to support this kind of legislation for the benefit of the people.

"You are going to have a chance to make that judgment. With your support in November, this will pass in 1963."

Also prompt in its comment was the American Medical Association. Its president, Dr. George M. Fister, said in Chicago:

Inequitable: AMA

"It would have been inequitable to force wage earners to pay substantially higher payroll taxes to provide health care for millions who are able to take care of themselves.

"The American Medical Association will continue its efforts to further implement and strengthen the Kerr-Mills law (which offers federal funds to states to help cover medical care for the aged under certain circumstances) and all voluntary programs to help meet health needs of the aged."

Prado Seized . . .

Navy Minister Guillermo Tirado, said his resignation was irrevocable.

Prado announced that the new Congress will meet July 28, as scheduled, to name the next president.

Odria, president from 1948-56, said in a radio-television broadcast he would accept the post if approved by Congress "for the sake of national unity."

Market Prices Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices declined on a broad front early today, with trading heavy and the ticker running late.

Some stocks, however, showed a tendency to recover from their worst losses. International Business Machines Corp., which was down $12 at one time, soon pared this to a $4 loss at $366.12.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones industrial average was down 4.23 to 573.62.

Herb Named Head Of School Board For Second Term

Robert Herb of Malden was unanimously re-elected president of the Saugerties Central School Board of Education at the annual organization meeting Tuesday night. He has been a member of the board since 1955, and served as president for the past year following the retirement of Jack Lowther.

Herb, a 1942 graduate of Saugerties High School, was elected to a new three year term on the board at the annual meeting of the district.

Also re-elected to official positions at Tuesday night's meeting was Charles Riccardi of Glasco. He will cotinue as vice-president of the board.

Reappointed were Margaret Burger, clerk; Gerald Snyder, treasurer; the law firm of Rosenblum and Lamb, attorney for the district; Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company, official depository for the school funds of the district and Dr. Richard Wenger, physician to the school district.

William Woestendiek, Town of Saugerties tax collector, was also named school tax collector for the Town of Woodstock and Ulster which are included in the Saugerties School District.

The official meeting night was changed to the second Wednesday of each month instead of the second Monday. Meeting time is 8 p. m.

Amini Resigns As Iran Premier

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Ali Amini resigned today after 14 months in office marked by sweeping land reforms and sporadic demonstrations demanding a return to parliamentary government. The shah accepted the resignation.

An authoritative source said Amini told the shah at a "most friendly" two-hour audience Tuesday night that he was resigning because he had been unable to balance the budget.

Amini took office May 5, 1961, as a reform premier. Immediately afterward, the shah dissolved Parliament to give Amini a free hand to attack the many problems besetting the pro-Western nation.

"We think our knowledge of defensive systems is as good or better than theirs," a Pentagon spokesman said Tuesday when asked about Khrushchev's statemnt. "We are satisfied our missiles can penetrate."

Two Ask Licenses

OTTAWA (AP) — Eastern Air Lines and Mohawk Airlines, two U.S. carriers, have applied for licenses to operate scheduled flights between Buffalo and Toronto, the Air Transport Board announced today.

The board set Aug. 20 as the deadline for filing representations either opposing or supporting the two bids. Both lines were designated in the U.S.-Canada air agreement of 1949 as carriers authorized by the U.S. to conduct Buffalo-Toronto services.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was substantially lower early this afternoon. Trading slowed after an active morning.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.70 to 214.90, with industrials off 2.80, rails off .50, and utilities off .80.

Key stocks were down fractions to more than a point. Some of the "growth" issues lost several points.

The list was hit by fairly heavy selling in the morning. Brokers saw it as a continuation of Tuesday's late weakness which resulted in a sharp loss on the day.

The market was heading into its fourth straight decline following a sharp advance which lasted most of the three weeks. Some kind of corrective reaction was natural after such a prolonged rally, brokers said.

Steels, motors, rails, oils, chemicals, aerospace issues and electronics were among the losers.

Polaroid, upset by a report of lower profits in the second quarter, declined more than 8.

IBM, after some see-saw movements, showed a loss of around 5.

Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway added more than a point to its 5⅜ rise Tuesday following news that Norfolk & Western Railway has signed an agreement to lease the other carrier. N&W fell more than a point.

Big Three motors and the leading steelmakers were fractional losers.

Losses exceeding a point were taken by Air Reduction, Woolworth and Eastman Kodak. General Electric, United Aircraft, and International Telephone were down about a point each.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.73 at 573.12.

New Nonaligned Appeal Expected on Test Ban

GENEVA (AP)—Nonaligned nations were expected to appeal again today at the 17-nation disarmament conference for the major nuclear powers to agree speedily on a permanent ban on nuclear weapon tests.

Indian delegate Arthur Lall told the conference Tuesday the Soviet and U.S. delegates have agreed in speeches that a test ban must be concluded, but he said he was "skeptical about their good words."

More Peril Now

"Test series has followed test series," he said, "and I have heard rumors that additional high-altitude test series will be carried out."

Lall also said internationally renowned scientists have changed their views on the danger of nuclear fallout.

"There is now more peril involved in fallout than was thought in the past, and it is now time for the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union to prove what they mean in their statements," he said.

Lall told the conference he thought the United States had accepted—as a basis for negotiations—the compromise test ban proposals put forward by the eight nonaligned conference members last April. But he said he apparently was wrong, judging from a statement last week by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk said that recent developments in the detection of underground explosions might result in progress in the test ban negotiations. Lall said this raised the question of whether the United States was still working on the basis of the neutralist proposal or had reverted to the draft treaty it submitted last year.

Welcomes Memorandum

U.S. delegate Arthur H. Dean told Lall the United States had welcomed the eight-nation memorandum but not as the only basis for negotiation.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told Lall that the Russians accepted the neutralist memorandum as the sole basis for negotiations. His statement drew a quick response from British delegate Joseph B. Godber that in test ban committee sessions the Western Alliance had tried to negotiate on the eight-nation memorandum but the Soviets refused.

Accuse Red Hook Man In Robbery of $25

Accused of robbing a Germantown man of $28, George R. Sims, 40, of Red Hook, waived preliminary examination Tuesday and the case was referred to the Columbia County grand jury for investigation.

Claverack State Police said Sims is accused of robbing LeRoy Lanes, 47, of Germantown, Sunday morning in a car on Route 9G, south of Germantown. Troopers said the men had engaged in a fist fight.

Lanes is in the Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson, suffering a fractured nose and possible head injuries. Troopers said the defendant allegedly took the money from Lanes' shirt pocket.

NHRR Also Loser In Ticket Tiff

NEW YORK (AP)—David Winston, 78, a rugged individualist, pitted himself against the New Haven Railroad Tuesday. He lost, but so did the railroad.

Winston, a retired stock broker who lives in Manhattan, boarded a New Haven train for Boston. When the conductor asked for his ticket, Winston informed him that he had none and had no intention of buying one.

Winston said that for years he has been traveling without tickets on railroads and airlines. He explained that he liked to be billed afterward, as in restaurants.

The conductor said the New Haven Railroad is not a restaurant.

Winston said he saw no reason why he couldn't charge his ticket.

The conductor asked Winston to leave the train. Winston refused. The conductor insisted.

Winston, according to the conductor, became "loud and boisterous."

The conductor called railroad police, who took Winston to Manhattan arrest court where he was paroled pending trial next Tuesday on a charge of disorderly conduct.

His tiff with the conductor delayed the train to Boston 14 minutes.

Marlboro Worker Awaits Jury on Charge of Still

Charged with possessing an illict still, Herbert Sessions, 39-year-old Marlboro farm worker, today was in the Ulster County Jail awaiting grand jury action.

State troopers in charge of Senior Investigator Edward Shannon and Investigator Joseph Ventriglia of the Kingston station, staged the raid Tuesday afternoon on a Lattintown Road farm and found a five-gallon still, which they said produced about two quarts of finished product daily.

The "pot" still was dismantled and Sessions was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten, Town of Town of Woodstock. The defendant waived preliminary hearing and the case was referred to the grand jury.

Troopers said Sessions produced the alcohol with corn mash and sugar.

Babies, Mothers To Get Dividned From Space Age

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Space Dividend

Babies and mothers are promised a dividend from the space age.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., ate from a plastic squeeze tube, squirting food into his mouth, during orbit. Now, the same idea is being developed for no-mess, easy feeding of babies during travel by car or plane, or on picnics. Similar food tubes are equipped with a clear, plastic, hollow-stemmed spoon attached to the tube.

Just the right amount of fruit, vegetable or other food can be squeezed into the spoon. A hermetic seal in the neck of the tube is punctured when the spoon is screwed onto the tube. Tube and spoon are disposed of afterward.

A baby food company is testing the squeeze tubes, originally developed by the American Can Company for feeding astronauts under weightless conditions of space flight.

Medical Passports

To ensure proper emergency medical treatment at home or abroad, you can carry a medical passport listing essential information which a doctor or hospital should know about your own health. The pocket-sized document can contain data on treatment for a heart condition, for diabetes, epilepsy, or other disorders, as well as giving your blood type, allergies, and results of X-ray and laboratory studies.

Published by the Medical Passport Foundation, Inc., New York, the passports are provided to physicians and hospitals at cost.

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. For convenience, buy the large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

Loy Appointed To Transit Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Loy, acting director of policy development for the Federal Aviation Agency, has been appointed to the Tri-State Transportation Committee.

The appointment was announced Tuesday by Gov. Rockefeller. It was made by Rockefeller and Govs. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and John Dempsey of Connecticut.

The announcement said the naming of an FAA representative coincided with the start of two immediate-action aviation studies by the committee. The studies are to determine the future requirements to handle noncommercial flights in the tri-state region, and to find means to improve ground access to Idlewild and LaGuardia Airports here and Newark (N.J.) airport.

Army Guarantees School of Choice Before Enlisting

Under a new policy adopted by the Department of the Army, young men and women who are considering a service enlistment can now be assured of getting a school of their choice prior to enlisting, it was reported by SFC Edward Malenski, local Army Recruiter.

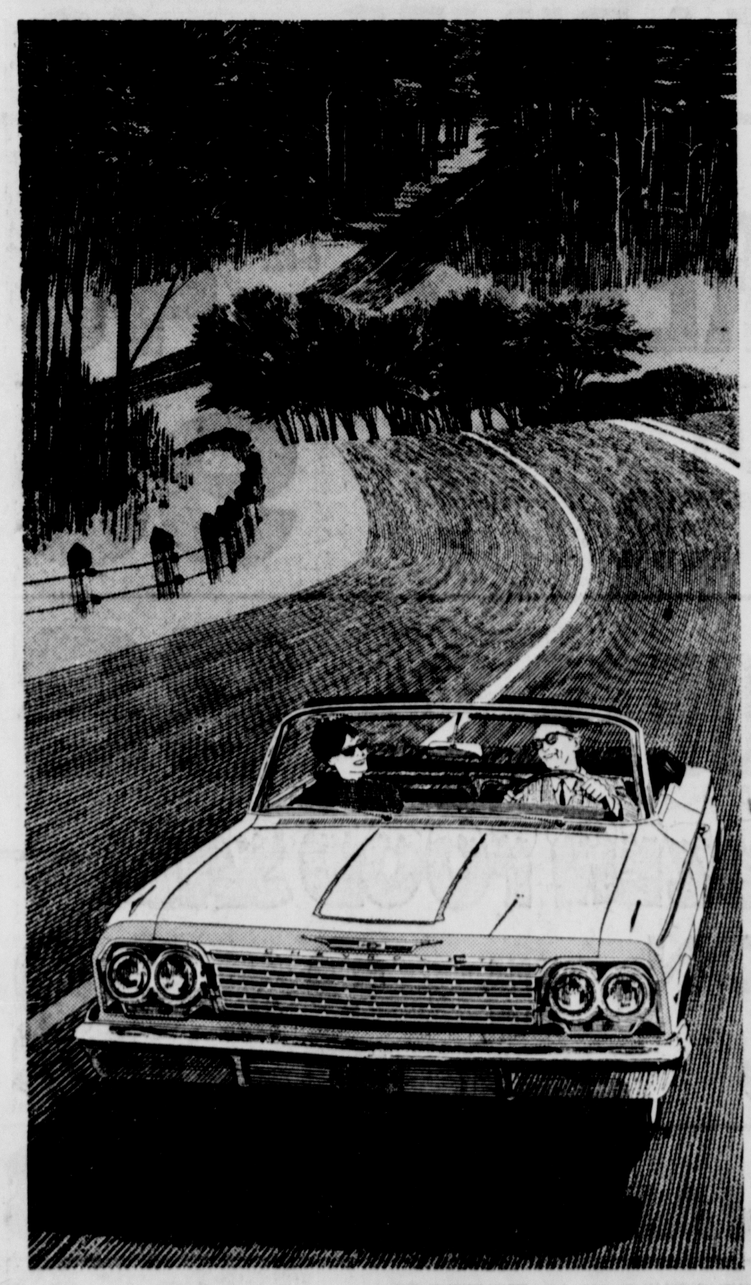
All applicants must be high school graduates or above and satisfactorily pass a rigid physical examination and eight aptitude tests in order to be qualified to submit an application to the Adjutant General, Department of the Army for a specific school.

If found qualified the applicant will receive a letter authorizing attendance at the school of his or her choice. In addition, the parents of each enlistee are notified by the Department of the Army of the school their son or daughter has been accepted for, where the school will be conducted, and where they will be taking basic training.

The sergeant emphasized that applicants are not obligated to Army until they have taken the the oath of enlistment which is the very last phase of this program. Testing and physicals do not in any way obligate an applicant to the service.

Vacancies in career fields and schools which may now be selected by the applicant include Electronics, Mechanics, Guided Missiles, Aviation, Army Security, Airborne, Military Police, and many others.

Interested applicants may contact SFC Malenski at the Municipal Auditorium, 467 Broadway.



CORVAIR MONZA—Everybody's talking July buys but nobody's delivering like Chevrolet. And that Corvair Monza Club Coupe above is just one reason more people are going Chevy than ever before. It's the sure-footed funster that serves up sports car spice without a sports car's price.

JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET—Here's top-down going at its breezy best. That elegant Impala Convertible at left has the clean-etched style, relaxing roominess and Jet-smooth ride that make Chevrolet America's favorite buy. You'd be hard pressed to find a reason for paying more for a car.

CHEVY II NOVA—How about a car that combines luxury, low cost and easy upkeep like nothing else around? The Chevy II Nova wagon below, for instance? You've ten other Chevy II models to choose from in the big selection of buys at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Babies, Mothers To Get Dividned From Space Age

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Space Dividend

Babies and mothers are promised a dividend from the space age.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., ate from a plastic squeeze tube, squirting food into his mouth, during orbit. Now, the same idea is being developed for no-mess, easy feeding of babies during travel by car or plane, or on picnics. Similar food tubes are equipped with a clear, plastic, hollow-stemmed spoon attached to the tube.

Just the right amount of fruit, vegetable or other food can be squeezed into the spoon. A hermetic seal in the neck of the tube is punctured when the spoon is screwed onto the tube. Tube and spoon are disposed of afterward.

A baby food company is testing the squeeze tubes, originally developed by the American Can Company for feeding astronauts under weightless conditions of space flight.

Medical Passports

To ensure proper emergency medical treatment at home or abroad, you can carry a medical passport listing essential information which a doctor or hospital should know about your own health. The pocket-sized document can contain data on treatment for a heart condition, for diabetes, epilepsy, or other disorders, as well as giving your blood type, allergies, and results of X-ray and laboratory studies.

Published by the Medical Passport Foundation, Inc., New York, the passports are provided to physicians and hospitals at cost.

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. For convenience, buy the large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

Loy Appointed To Transit Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Loy, acting director of policy development for the Federal Aviation Agency, has been appointed to the Tri-State Transportation Committee.

The appointment was announced Tuesday by Gov. Rockefeller. It was made by Rockefeller and Govs. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and John Dempsey of Connecticut.

The announcement said the naming of an FAA representative coincided with the start of two immediate-action aviation studies by the committee. The studies are to determine the future requirements to handle noncommercial flights in the tri-state region, and to find means to improve ground access to Idlewild and LaGuardia Airports here and Newark (N.J.) airport.

Army Guarantees School of Choice Before Enlisting

Under a new policy adopted by the Department of the Army, young men and women who are considering a service enlistment can now be assured of getting a school of their choice prior to enlisting, it was reported by SFC Edward Malenski, local Army Recruiter.

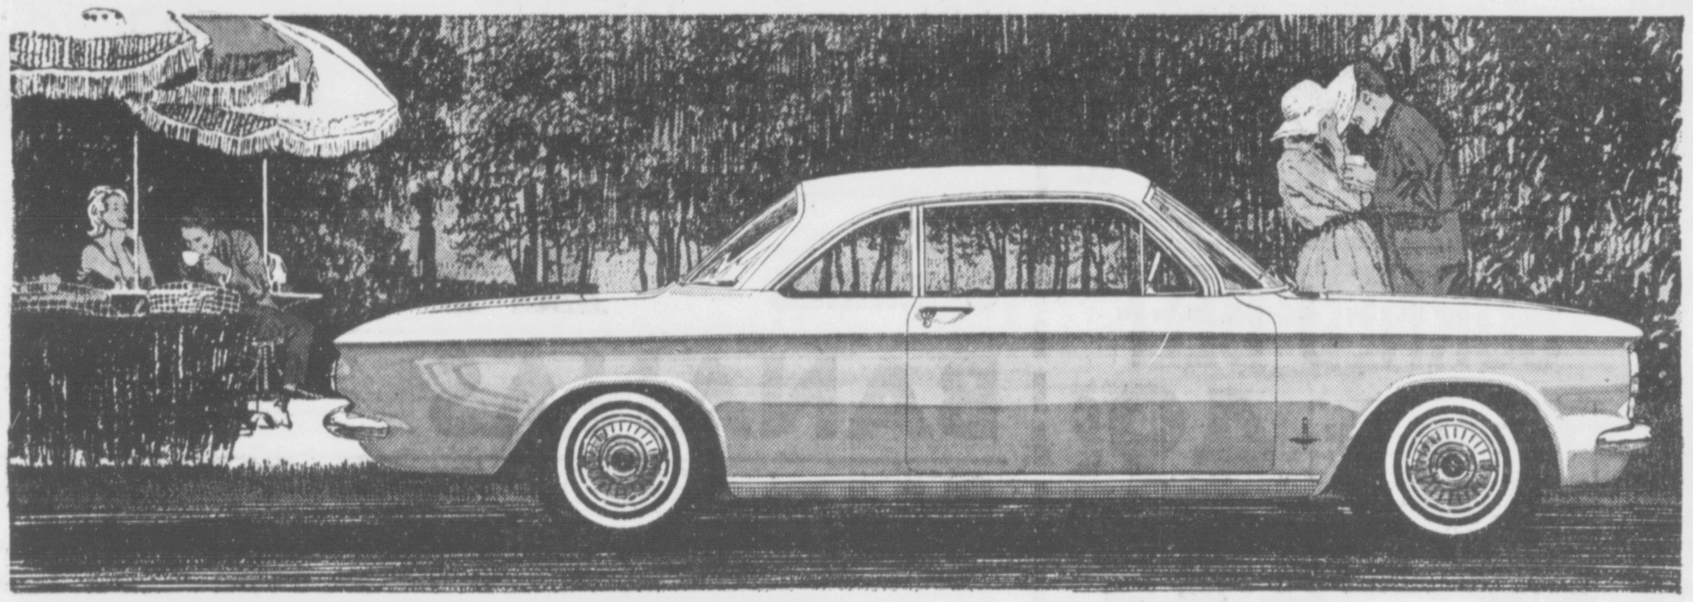
All applicants must be high school graduates or above and satisfactorily pass a rigid physical examination and eight aptitude tests in order to be qualified to submit an application to the Adjutant General, Department of the Army for a specific school.

If found qualified the applicant will receive a letter authorizing attendance at the school of his or her choice. In addition, the parents of each enlistee are notified by the Department of the Army of the school their son or daughter has been accepted for, where the school will be conducted, and where they will be taking basic training.

The sergeant emphasized that applicants are not obligated to Army until they have taken the the oath of enlistment which is the very last phase of this program. Testing and physicals do not in any way obligate an applicant to the service.

Vacancies in career fields and schools which may now be selected by the applicant include Electronics, Mechanics, Guided Missiles, Aviation, Army Security, Airborne, Military Police, and many others.

Interested applicants may contact SFC Malenski at the Municipal Auditorium, 467 Broadway.



CORVAIR MONZA—Everybody's talking July buys but nobody's delivering like Chevrolet. And that Corvair Monza Club Coupe above is just one reason more people are going Chevy than ever before. It's the sure-footed funster that serves up sports car spice without a sports car's price.

JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET—Here's top-down going at its breezy best. That elegant Impala Convertible at left has the clean-etched style, relaxing roominess and Jet-smooth ride that make Chevrolet America's favorite buy. You'd be hard pressed to find a reason for paying more for a car.

CHEVY II NOVA—How about a car that combines luxury, low cost and easy upkeep like nothing else around? The Chevy II Nova wagon below, for instance? You've ten other Chevy II models to choose from in the big selection of buys at your Chevrolet dealer's.

State to Promote Pleasure Boating

Pleasure boating, which has become a major recreation in New York State, is on the verge of another great development and expansion the State Department of Commerce predicts. The future of the sport, which since World War 2 has been the most rapidly growing outdoor activity, was discussed at a recent conference sponsored by the Department. The meeting was attended by representatives of the state departments of Commerce, Conservation, and Public Works, members of the Legislature, local organizations and members of boating organizations.

The conference was arranged by Ronald B. Peterson, Deputy Commissioner, New York State Department of Commerce, at the suggestion of Joseph Carlo, a director of the Schenectady County Chamber of Commerce.

"The boating opportunities in New York State are equalled in few other areas," Mr. Peterson told the conference. "In this state the ocean waters of the Long Island area, two of the Great Lakes, Lake Champlain, hundreds of inland lakes and more than 500 miles of the Barge Canal System are available for recreational boating."

The potential size of New York's boating market was pointed out by Mr. Carlo in explaining the work of his group in developing a marina at Schenectady. "Pleasure boat registrations are increasing at a terrific rate. A conservative estimate of two million boats within one hundred miles of our land borders is generally accepted."

Development of marina facilities and promotion of boating are both needed the conference agreed. Private enterprise will build additional service facilities as the traffic grows, several speakers suggested, and pointed out instances of recent marina development.

Steps for the development of a state program to promote recreational boating were outlined by Assemblyman Jerry M. Black of Trumansburg. Black is chairman of the Committee on the Barge Canal. Black's committee will hold a series of meetings across the state to discuss boating matters with local boating organizations.

Assemblyman Edward F. Crawford, Oswego, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on the Barge Canal, said that his committee welcomed the opportunity to cooperate in the promotion of recreational boating.

Others at Conference

Others at the conference included Edward C. Hudowalski, Assistant Superintendent of Operation and Maintenance (Canals), Department of Public Works; William J. Delaney, Canal Traffic Agent, Department of Public Works; Joseph J. Horan, Director, Travel Bureau, Department of Commerce; Warren M. Stout, Assistant Director, Division of Motor Boats, Conservation Department; Joseph Carlo, Board of Directors, Schenectady County Chamber of Commerce; Robert B. Gibert, Waterfront Development Group, Schenectady County Chamber of Commerce; Austin F. Loucks, Albany, Commodore, Mohawk-Hudson Yacht Club Council; Brainard C. Hatch, Rexford, past commander, Mohawk-Hudson Power Squadron.

No Transfer Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Air Force says it has no plans to transfer its air development center from Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome, N.Y., to the Boston area.

The statement was issued Tuesday in response to a report published in Boston that such a shift was being considered.

Three presidents of the United States have died on July 4: John Adams and Thomas Jefferson in 1826 and Monroe in 1831.

Two Sides Accept Rocky's Terms in Hospital Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller announced early today that both sides in a bitter hospital strike had agreed to terms of a settlement he recommended.

The prolonged walkout of nonmedical employes at Beth-El Hospital in Brooklyn and the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital had threatened to engulf a dozen other hospitals in the city.

Interrupts Tour

Rockefeller, who interrupted a tour of Long Island to personally intervene in the dispute, announced the settlement in a 2 a. m. news conference that came after seven hours of separate negotiations with both parties at his office here.

He said he would recommend to the State Legislature in January measures that would grant collective bargaining rights to workers in voluntarily hospitals and residential care institutions.

As private, non-profit institutions, the hospitals involved in the dispute are not required under present state labor laws to recognize labor unions representing their employes.

This was the main issue cited by Local 1199 of the Drug and Hospital Employes Union when it struck Beth-El Hospital last May 23 and Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat a few weeks later.

The union had threatened to call similar strikes at a number of other voluntary hospitals in the city. A voluntary hospital is one that takes patients cared for by the city at reduced fees, along with its own private patients.

No Reprisals

Under terms of the settlement, Rockefeller said, strikes at the two hospitals would be halted and the union would "refrain from further strikes. . ."

He said the hospital representatives had agreed, in return, that there would be no reprisals against striking employes of the two hospitals.

Rockefeller said he would recommend to the Legislature that the State Labor Relations Act be amended to grant collective bargaining rights to the hospital workers.

He said he would recommend legislation that would also "effectively bar strikes; provide for a cooling-off period, mediation, fact-finding and binding arbitration, and preserve the traditional power of the courts to enjoin illegal strikes."

The governor said he stepped into the dispute because the city had been taking part in negotiations for two months without a settlement and "I felt the situation was getting explosive."

GE Wants Dismissal Of Charge From FTC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Electric Co. is asking dismissal of a Federal Trade Commission charge that the company has restrained price competition illegally through its advertising payment program.

The Schenectady, N.Y., company said Tuesday there was nothing illegal in its program of making advertising allowances to dealers who agree to sell GE products at prices no lower than those GE specified.

GE said it was meeting a similar payment system offered by a competitor, which it did not identify.

The FTC charged last May that GE's program violated a federal ban against price discrimination. The ban forbids a supplier to discriminate among competing customers.

The complaint also charged that GE was inducing appliance dealers to eliminate competition.

JFK Sounds New Call For More Democrats After Medicare Loss

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's immediate reaction to Tuesday's defeat of his program of medical care for the aged—that killed it for 1962—was to make it an issue in this year's elections.

He blamed "nearly all the Republicans and a handful of Democrats" who joined them for defeat. This was the third time this year a major Kennedy program was massacred in Congress.

Should Destroy Illusion

True, Republicans have been ganging up to defeat or try to defeat one Kennedy program after another. But so have some of his own Democrats — particularly Southern Democrats.

The performance of these Southerners should destroy any illusion —an illusion nurtured by Democratic politicians—that the Democratic party is some kind of single party which can make good on its promises.

The Democrats in this Congress —where they outnumber Republicans 64 to 36 in the Senate and 263 to 174 in the House—have made a sorry showing so far in 1962. But Kennedy still won't get rough with them.

Instead, he is calling for even more Democrats to be elected to Congress in November. It seems fair to ask: If he can't win with his present overwhelming Democratic majorities in Congress, how many more Democrats does he need?

On the House side the medical care plan hasn't even gone before the full House for a vote. The Ways and Means Committee, with 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, won't let it out to be voted on. Why?

Because enough of those 15 Democrats have joined the 10 Republicans to keep it bottled up.

Finally the Kennedy administration — agreeing to compromises which greatly watered down the original medical care plan the President proposed—sought action in the Senate. It was killed there Tuesday by a 52-48 vote.

17 From Dixie

Twenty-one Democrats joined 21 Republicans to defeat it. Voting for it were 43 Democrats and only 5 Republicans.

Of the 21 Democrats who joined the 31 Republicans to repudiate the Kennedy program, 17 were Southern Democrats, some of them the same Democrats who have voted against Kennedy again and again.

Here, as in Kennedy's two other major defeats, Southerners made up a majority of the Democrats voting against the President.

When the House defeated his farm bill by a 215-205 vote, 48 Democrats and 167 Republicans voted against it while only one Republican and 204 Democrats voted for it.

Of those 48 Democrats who joined the Republicans against Kennedy, 29 were Southern Democrats.

Boxscore on Others

Still earlier Kennedy had asked Congress to approve creation of a new department of urban affairs and housing. He said he would appoint Robert C. Weaver, a Negro and administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, to head it. The House promptly killed it, 264 to 150.

In this one 111 Democrats—94 of them Southern Democrats—joined 153 Republicans to kill Kennedy's proposal. Voting for it were 137 Democrats and only 13 Republicans.

This year only three programs which might be considered major legislation have been enacted into law through approval by a majority of both houses.

They were: manpower training and development; continuance of the emergency excise and corporation tax rates; and an increase in the national debt to $308 billion.

Even on the debt program—approved in the Senate by a 55-34 vote—12 of the 14 Democrats who joined 20 Republicans in voting against it were Southern Democrats. It was approved by 43 Democrats and 12 Republicans.

Differences Remain

On the House side, where it was approved by a 211-192 vote, 33 of the 39 Democrats who joined 153 Republicans in voting against it were Southern Democrats. Voting for it were 202 Democrats and 9 Republicans.

Both houses have approved Kennedy's foreign aid program, but with differences that have to be ironed out before it can become law. All the other major bills are tied up in one house or the other.

Soblen Is Denied British Freedom, Right to Appeal

LONDON (AP) —Three high court justices refused today Dr. Robert Soblen's plea to be set free on British soil, but gave him permission to appeal the decision.

Court observers estimated the appeal—even if denied—would delay Soblen's deportation to the United States for perhaps six weeks. They estimated it would take that long to complete the process in the court of appeal.

If he loses the appeal, Dr. Soblen still would have pending a request to the Home Office for asylum as a political refugee. The Home Office has declined to give any inkling of its attitude toward this request, but it is thought unlikely it will be granted.

The high court turned down Soblen's plea to free from him detention by the Home Office under a writ of habeas corpus.

The court upheld the government contention that the 62-year-old fugitive, who fled from a life sentence in the United States as a Soviet spy, is an alien in transit who had been allowed to pause in Britain only long enough to recover from the stab wounds he inflicted on himself while en route from Israel to America.

Soblen, who jumped $100,000 bail when he fled from New York to Israel last month, is fighting for permission to remain in Britain or to go on to refuge in some other country.

A Home Office spokesman said that even if Soblen finally loses in the courts he would not be formally deported.

"The Home Office," the spokesman said, "Would simply hand him back to the airline which brought him here and the airline would have to remove him from Britain."

Kennedy Animals Give Cape Cod Police Workout

WEST BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP)—Part of the Kennedy menagerie—a mare and three ponies —is back in the stable today after giving Barnstable police and volunteers a workout.

The animals, owned by Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, escaped Tuesday from a farm where they are stabled for the family's use at the nearby Kennedy estate.

The mare was quickly tethered with a clothesline by a farmer who saw her chomping apples from a tree.

The ponies cavorted about the countryside for nearly three hours before police and nearby residents rounded them up.

Churchill Has Good Rest Again

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill had another good night's rest, Middlesex Hospital informants said today.

The 87-year-old wartime prime minister's recovery from a broken thigh with complications of phlebitis and bronchial infection was apparently continuing well. No formal medical bulletin is to be issued until Friday afternoon.

Decision Reserved

NEW YORK (AP) — A three-man U.S. Court of Appeals panel has reserved decision on a dairy employe union's appeal from a federal judge's refusal of a stay that would preserve jobs at a Middletown tank-truck garage.

Local 338 of the Milk Drivers Dairy Employes Union claimed in its appeal Tuesday that 21 of its members in the plant, operated by the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, worked under a contract that included job protection.

The contract was signed last November in connection with a Poughkeepsie plant agreement, the union said.

The dairymen's League claimed, however, that the contract applied only to the Poughkeepsie plant and that a separate contract permitted shutting down of the Middletown operation.

The league announced a layoff plan June 30. The union sought in federal court to compel arbitration, but the bid was turned down by Federal District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri.

Face Court for Blocks

Charged with setting up illegal road blocks on Town of Pawling highways, four youths have pleaded guilty and are awaiting sentencing on August 13. Justice of the Peace Fred Lates, Town of Pawling, said the youths were accused of using eight boulders and a highway sign to set up a roadblock on South White Rock Road, Pawling, and three rowboats taken from Whaley Lake to set up a roadblock on Denton Lake Road. The defendants were identified as: Bernard Wallen, 20, and William Russell Jr., 18, both of Holmes, who were charged with malicious mischief and disorderly conduct, and Carlos A. Mina, 18, and Arthur A. Adducci, 17, also of Holmes, who pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. Wallen and Russell were released in $100 bail. Mina and Adducci were paroled pending sentencing.

Innocent Plea Given

Accused of third degree burglary and petty larceny, Ernest James Ponessa, of Newburgh, pleaded innocent Tuesday before Acting Dutchess County Judge W. Vincent Grady. The case was adjourned until Tuesday and bail was set at $1,000 on recommendation of District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta.

Former Tax Man Dies

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Former State Tax Commissioner Harry E. Clinton, 81, died Tuesday night. He became commissioner in 1945 after resigning as Rensselaer County judge. He also had served as Rensselaer County district attorney and mayor of Troy.

Flags of six sovereign powers have flown over Texas: Spain, France, Mexico, Republic of Texas, Confederacy and the United States.

18 of 42 State Schools Give Minimum for Fitness Program

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 10,000 New York public school children were tested for the national physical-fitness report President Kennedy termed shocking.

The President's Council on Youth Fitness reported last week that only 74 per cent of the boys in the nation's public schools and 77 per cent of the girls between 10 and 17 years of age can pass a basic physical-fitness test.

Results of the council's survey, officials said, gave an accurate picture only at the national level. The survey, they added, was not designed to give a cross section of any particular state.

Some Without Tests

The council's records showed, however, that 42 New York schools returned questionnaires for the survey and of these, 18 said they gave the minimum physical-fitness test prescribed by the government.

Some schools gave two tests to the same pupils during the school year ended last month, some gave no tests while others said they gave a physical-fitness test recommended by the state.

The 18 schools that gave the federal test said about 10,000 youngsters took part in the program and a total of 14,440 tests were given—7,616 to boys and 6,824 to girls.

About 71 per cent of the boys and 63 per cent of the girls, passed the test, the questionnaires showed.

But the council officials warned this represents only the percentage for the particular schools and cannot be projected for the state as a whole.

Three Exercises

A preponderance of replies to the questionnaire from rural areas of one state, they said, may have been offset by replies from urban and suburban areas of another state to give a national, rather than a regional, picture.

The basic test included three exercises — pullups, situps and squat thrusts.

To pass the test each boy was required to do 14 situps, 4 squat thrusts in 10 seconds and from 1 to 3 pullups depending on age. For the girls, the minimum requirement was 8 modified pullups, 10 situps and 3 squat thrusts within 10 seconds.

One school—the council declined to make the names of schools public—reported 98 per cent of the 600 girls who took the test passed it. Another school said only 36 per cent of the 50 boys who took the test the first time passed it. A second test was given to 9 boys and 7 passed it, the school added.

The council said its survey included samplings from 1,980 public schools but only questionnaires from 1,266 schools were used to compile its figures.

The 63.8 million square miles of the Pacific Ocean could easily absorb all the continents of the world.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Like a coy maiden the economy still doesn't say yes and it doesn't say no.

The clear cut answer to what it's going to do, which could settle the question of a tax cut now or later, still eludes the statisticians—and apparently the policy makers.

Still Not Impressive

Business statistics for the most part continue to be higher than a year ago. Many are higher than the previous month. But the gains are far from impressive. And to many persons they are downright disappointing.

Part of the trouble is that just being better than last year doesn't satisfy the planners who have set higher goals for the economic growth rate. Business must expand faster to take care of unemployment and other ills. It's an American trait to be restless if everything isn't always bigger and better.

Part of the problem is the uncertainty among businessmen. A large portion believes that the year as a whole will be a good one, if not spectacular. But as large a group fears another recession is being forecast by the marked slowdown in the monthly increases of the chief business statistics.

And the break in stock prices—though variously explained—is looked upon by a large portion of the general public as a warning of possibly less prosperous times ahead.

Yet in June personal incomes rose to a record high. There were gains in retail, wholesale and service industry payrolls. The disturbing factor was a slight drop in manufacturing payrolls. And this made the increase from May to June the lowest for any month since January.

Gain Very Slight

Industrial production also rose to a high in June. But the gain over May was so slight as to be unnoticeable on most charts. Acting as brakes were the downturn in steel output and the Ford strike. Production of most other goods continued to rise.

The Ford work stoppage is over and auto production and sales still look quite healthy.

The steel downturn, although basic and disturbing, could be due to an earlier buildup of inventories as a hedge against a strike or price increase, followed by a cutback as users lived off these stocks.

A drop in retail sales in June from May also worries the soothsayers. But retail sales still are ahead of a year ago, and only a few see June as necessarily setting a trend.

New orders for heavy machinery and other capital goods have fallen—often a forerunner of a downturn in industry. Now businessmen are watching to see if new tax incentives, just granted or still pending in Congress, will revive this form of business spending.

But in all the present uncertainty these things seem clear:

Businessmen Uneasy

1. The economy hasn't ground to a halt, but it isn't growing fast enough to please most planners in or out of government.

2. Businessmen are uneasy and marking time—worried about the outlook, about the attitude of government toward them, about profit margins.

3. Europeans are now openly debating the future of the American economy—and the value of its dollar.

4. The upcoming congressional election makes tax cutting a political as well as an economic issue.

How to Blow Little Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Fred Karpin contends that slam contracts are variously well played, poorly played and horribly played. Here is an example of the last type.

South, who is nameless in Karpin's book, bid six hearts quickly and properly. He played the hand quickly, but not properly.

He won the opening spade, lead in his own hand and led a low heart. West played the three and dummy the jack. East showed out and South's slam had blown out the window.

Why was South's play horrible? Because South had not considered the possibility of 4-0 trump break. Had he done so, he would have noted that if East held all four trumps there would be no way to make the hand, but if West held all four there was a 100 per cent safety play at his disposal.

All South had to do was to lead the queen of hearts. West's best defense would be to capture the trick with the ace, but nothing would do him any good. Once East showed out South would lead hearts twice from his hand and win each trick with the lowest card in dummy that would handle the card played by West.

Former Tax Man Dies

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Former State Tax Commissioner Harry E. Clinton, 81, died Tuesday night. He became commissioner in 1945 after resigning as Rensselaer County judge. He also had served as Rensselaer County district attorney and mayor of Troy.

Flags of six sovereign powers have flown over Texas: Spain, France, Mexico, Republic of Texas, Confederacy and the United States.

18 of 42 State Schools Give Minimum for Fitness Program

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 10,000 New York public school children were tested for the national physical-fitness report President Kennedy termed shocking.

The President's Council on Youth Fitness reported last week that only 74 per cent of the boys in the nation's public schools and 77 per cent of the girls between 10 and 17 years of age can pass a basic physical-fitness test.

Results of the council's survey, officials said, gave an accurate picture only at the national level. The survey, they added, was not designed to give a cross section of any particular state.

Some Without Tests

The council's records showed, however, that 42 New York schools returned questionnaires for the survey and of these, 18 said they gave the minimum physical-fitness test prescribed by the government.

Some schools gave two tests to the same pupils during the school year ended last month, some gave no tests while others said they gave a physical-fitness test recommended by the state.

The 18 schools that gave the federal test said about 10,000 youngsters took part in the program and a total of 14,440 tests were given—7,616 to boys and 6,824 to girls.

About 71 per cent of the boys and 63 per cent of the girls, passed the test, the questionnaires showed.

But the council officials warned this represents only the percentage for the particular schools and cannot be projected for the state as a whole.

Three Exercises

A preponderance of replies to the questionnaire from rural areas of one state, they said, may have been offset by replies from urban and suburban areas of another state to give a national, rather than a regional, picture.

The basic test included three exercises — pullups, situps and squat thrusts.

To pass the test each boy was required to do 14 situps, 4 squat thrusts in 10 seconds and from 1 to 3 pullups depending on age. For the girls, the minimum requirement was 8 modified pullups, 10 situps and 3 squat thrusts within 10 seconds.

One school—the council declined to make the names of schools public—reported 98 per cent of the 600 girls who took the test passed it. Another school said only 36 per cent of the 50 boys who took the test the first time passed it. A second test was given to 9 boys and 7 passed it, the school added.

The council said its survey included samplings from 1,980 public schools but only questionnaires from 1,266 schools were used to compile its figures.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Like a coy maiden the economy still doesn't say yes and it doesn't say no.

The clear cut answer to what it's going to do, which could settle the question of a tax cut now or later, still eludes the statisticians —and apparently the policy makers.

Still Not Impressive

Business statistics for the most part continue to be higher than a year ago. Many are higher than the previous month. But the gains are far from impressive. And to many persons they are downright disappointing.

Part of the trouble is that just being better than last year doesn't satisfy the planners who have set higher goals for the economic growth rate. Business must expand faster to take care of unemployment and other ills. It's an American trait to be restless if everything isn't always bigger and better.

Part of the problem is the uncertainty among businessmen. A large portion believes that the year as a whole will be a good one, if not spectacular. But as large a group fears another recession is being forecast by the marked slowdown in the monthly increases of the chief business statistics.

And the break in stock prices—though variously explained—is looked upon by a large portion of the general public as a warning of possibly less prosperous times ahead.

Yet in June personal incomes rose to a record high. There were gains in retail, wholesale and service industry payrolls. The disturbing factor was a slight drop in manufacturing payrolls. And this made the increase from May to June the lowest for any month since January.

Gain Very Slight

Industrial production also rose to a high in June. But the gain over May was so slight as to be unnoticeable on most charts. Acting as brakes were the downturn in steel output and the Ford strike. Production of most other goods continued to rise.

The Ford work stoppage is over and auto production and sales still look quite healthy.

The steel downturn, although basic and disturbing, could be due to an earlier buildup of inventories as a hedge against a strike or price increase, followed by a cutback as users lived off these stocks.

A drop in retail sales in June from May also worries the soothsayers. But retail sales still are ahead of a year ago, and only a few see June as necessarily setting a trend.

New orders for heavy machinery and other capital goods have fallen—often a forerunner of a downturn in industry. Now businessmen are watching to see if new tax incentives, just granted or still pending in Congress, will revive this form of business spending.

But in all the present uncertainty these things seem clear:

Businessmen Uneasy

1. The economy hasn't ground to a halt, but it isn't growing fast enough to please most planners in or out of government.

2. Businessmen are uneasy and marking time—worried about the outlook, about the attitude of government toward them, about profit margins.

3. Europeans are now openly debating the future of the American economy—and the value of its dollar.

4. The upcoming congressional election makes tax cutting a political as well as an economic issue.

How to Blow Little Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Fred Karpin contends that slam contracts are variously well played, poorly played and horribly played. Here is an example of the last type.

South, who is nameless in Karpin's book, bid six hearts quickly and properly. He played the hand quickly, but not properly.

He won the opening spade, lead in his own hand and led a low heart. West played the three and dummy the jack. East showed out and South's slam had blown out the window.

Why was South's play horrible? Because South had not considered the possibility of 4-0 trump break. Had he done so, he would have noted that if East held all four trumps there would be no way to make the hand, but if West held all four there was a 100 per cent safety play at his disposal.

All South had to do was to lead the queen of hearts. West's best defense would be to capture the trick with the ace, but nothing would do him any good. Once East showed out South would lead hearts twice from his hand and win each trick with the lowest card in dummy that would handle the card played by West.

Paltz College Has Tokyo Art Exhibit

"Paintings and Pastels by Children of Tokyo," an exhibition made available by the New York-Tokyo Sister-City Affiliation, opened on July 16 in the Main Building at the State University College, New Paltz, and will remain on view through August 15.

The general public is invited to see the exhibit at any time.

These 50 paintings and pastels were selected by the Tokyo Society for Art in Education for the Affiliation's program of cultural exchange and are now being circulated by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

The paintings are especially interesting because the content varies and the perception of the world changes as seen and depicted progressively by children of five to adolescents of 14. One sees the private images of the five year olds whose invented picture symbols convey what is important to them. Thus, five year old Yoshihiro Ono's satellites in "Many Satellites are Launched" are little whirling suns with red rays. The younger children of five, six, and seven usually depict their immediate world taken from their story books, their pets, and their friends, or their daily concerns such as fishing, picking persimmons, or going to the dentist's office.

The older children have become concerned with depicting traditional Japanese life. One sees scenes of people hulling rice, making rice cakes, visiting their temples and shrines and dancing at the festivals. However, mixed with these scenes and representatives of complex machinery, as in "Motorcycle," "Working People," or "Glass Factory," which show the older child's attempt to grasp modern Japan.

Two One-Act Plays Are Scheduled by Summer Workshop

The Summer Drama Workshop of the State University College, New Paltz will present two one-act plays on Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the Gymnasium Arena Theatre.

Plays to be produced are "A Phoenix Too Frequent" by Christopher Fry and "I Rise in Flame, Cried the Phoenix" by Tennessee Williams. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Both plays on the bill take their titles from the legendary bird which lived for many years, consumed itself in a nest of flames, and rose again from its own ashes to begin another life.

The Fry play, an early bit of his poetic whimsey, was first produced in 1946 and presented in New York, in revised form, in 1950. The comedy concerns a woman who confines herself to her husband's tomb so that she can join him in the next life.

Director of the production is Norman Silverman. Director of the Workshop. Designer and Technical Director is Raymond Kurdt, whose other designs for the theatre will be on display. Featured in the cast are Michele O'Connell, Tom Vett, and Edith Evans.

The Williams play, directed by Elaine Berman and designed by Mr. Kurdt, was first presented in 1950. In the preface of his play about D. H. Lawrence, Williams writes: "Not long before Lawrence's death an exhibition was held of his paintings in London. Primitive in technique and boldly sensual in matter, this exhibition created a little tempest. The pictures were seized by the police and would have been burned if the authorities had not been restrained by an injunction. At this time Lawrence's great study of sexual passion, Lady Chatterly's Lover, was likewise under the censor's ban, as much of his work had been in the past."

The cast includes Michael Elias, Ada Finkelstein, and Princilla Harper.

On August 2 and 3 the Workshop will present "The Good Woman of Setzuan" by Bertolt Brecht. The production will be directed by Mr. Silverman, designed by Mr. Kurdt, and will feature Patricia Gillette and members of the Workshop, College, and Community.

Noted Amsterdam Trio Will Present Concert on July 24

The Nieuw Amsterdam Trio will present a concert at the State University College, New Paltz, Tuesday, July 24, at 8 p. m. in the Main Lounge of the College Union Building.

The general public is invited to attend free of charge.

Performers for the trio include Edith Mocsanyi, the pianist who is a native of Vienna and a graduate from the master class of the Viennese Academy of Music, who has performed in the United States as a soloist and as a pianist of many leading chamber music organizations; Herbert Sorkin, violinist, who studied with Louis Persinger at the Juilliard Graduate School, and has made many soloist appearances; and Jascha Bernstein, cellist, who was born in Lithuania, and received his first musical education from his mother and then continued his training under Professor von Glehn at the Moscow Conservatory.

After eight tours of the United States and Canada and more than 300 performances, the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio is said to be firmly established as one of the most distinguished and successful chamber ensembles before the public today. Included in the trio's performance at New Paltz, will be works of Brahms, Beethoven, and Mozart. This is one of the series of programs on the College Campus this summer as part of the summer artist concert.

Three-Way Exhibit At Paltz Gallery

Ilya Bolotowsky, Ben Johnson and Alice Terry offer a three-way show at the New Paltz Gallery through August 5th.

Bolotowsky, professor of art at the State University College of Education, at New Paltz, is showing recent oils, never before shown. Internatioinally known for his neo-plastic paintings, Bolotowsky is represented in New York by the Grace Borgenicht Gallery. He has exhibited in the Whitney annuals, the Museum of Modern Art, and the Guggenheim Museum in New York, at the Phillips, the Lyman Allyn Museum in New London, Conn., at Brandeis and Yale Universities, and he is represented in the permanent collections of Walter Chrysler, the Chase Manhattan Bank, Union Carbide, and G. G. Thompson. The recently built Cinema I in New York houses a mural of Bolotowsky's, recessed in the walls.

Ben Johnson of Woodstock is also showing recent oils, still-life and nude. He is represented in New York by the Kornblee Gallery, where he was shown just last month as one of several figurative painters. He has held one-man shows at the Advanced Gallery, the Zabriskie Gallery and the Cober Gallery, in New York. He has exhibited in Woodstock at the Mil-Jay Gallery and at the Zena Gallery and in Fort Worth, Texas, Los Angeles, and in Brooklyn, at Long Island University.

Alice Terry (in private life, Mrs. Ben Johnson), is showing drawings and constructions that are so unique that they constitute a new art form. Alice Terry is a self-taught artist. She has shown in New York City at the Independent Gallery, in the Whitney Museum Annuals, at the Martha Jackson Gallery, twice. She has also shown in the Museum of Modern Art Rental Service, at the Harry Salpeter Gallery and at the Terrain Gallery. She has held one-man shows at the Fleischman Gallery, the Hacker Gallery, and at the Krannert Art Museum, in Urbana, Illinois.

Teh New Paltz Gallery is located one quarter mile east of the Thruway Exit 18. Hours are 10:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily, 10:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Friday, and 1 to 6 on Sunday The gallery is closed on Monday.

Ladies' Auxiliary East Kingston Volunteers

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the East Kingston Volunteer Fire Co. will hold its regular meeting on Thursday at 8 p. m. at the firehouse.

All members are urgently requested to attend as plans for the firemen's bazaar will be discussed.

The first anniversary banquet, which will be held on August 16 at the SRS Home, will also be discussed.

The kitchen equipment purchased this month by the Ladies' Auxiliary will be on display.

Refreshments will be served. New members are always welcome.

Churchwell-Hoff Wedding Announced

Miss Vallery Ann Churchwell, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elting Churchwell of Kerhonkson, became the bride of Dennis Elwood Hoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood C. Hoff of Napanoch, on June 30 at St. Mary's and St. Andrew's, Ellenville, at 3 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Francis Budovic, S. J.

A lawn reception was held at the home of the bridegroom for about approximately 80 guests.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Raymond Churchwell of Kerhonkson, the bride wore a street length gown of satin with nylon net and lace overskirt. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline of scalloped lace, and long tapered sleeves of nylon and lace. Her shoulder length veil was gathered to a large white rose and tiny sprigs of lily of the valley. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and white rosebuds.

Miss Mary Ellen Callaghan of Ellenville, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street length green dress accented with pink and yellow flowers. Her headpiece consisting of a rosebud matching flirtation veil. She carried a basket arrangement of pink roses and hybrid daisies.

Nick Radenberg of Woodstock, cousin of the bridegroom was best man.

The bride attended Ellenville Central School and is now employed in the advertising department at Channel Master Corporation, Ellenville. Her husband attended Ellenville Central School and is employed by the Victory Chain in Ellenville.

The couple went on a wedding trip throughout New York State and are making their home in Napanoch.

Little Gardens Club

Hostesses at the Little Gardens Club of Kingston meeting set for Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the Nieuw Dorp in Hurley will be Miss Hazel Bloom and Mrs. C. Trombly.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. G. Nussbaum whose topic will be "Around the Garden."

Mrs. John Gill, president, will call upon Mrs. George Brown and her committee chairmen for progress reports on the fall flower show.

About the Folks

Dutchess Names Upstate Man as New Farm Head

A Washington County man has been selected as Dutchess County's agricultural agent by the executive committee of the Dutchess County Extension Service Agricultural Department.

Leslie J. Rollins, 34, associate agricultural agent in the upstate county, will succeed Oren A. Burbank, who will retire Dec. 31 after serving 14 years as agricultural agent in Dutchess county.

Norman E. Thomson, Red Hook, chairman of the executive committee, said five candidates had been interviewed.

Rollins is a graduate of the University of Vermont. He specialized in the fields of agronomy and dairy, dealing with the theory and practice of field-crop production and land management. In addition to handling dairy and agronomy work in Washington county, Rollins has done agricultural engineering work on an exchange basis with three neighboring counties.

Annual Bazaar Is Set By Volunteer Company

The East Kingston Volunteer Fire Company Inc., assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary, will hold its annual bazaar on Saturday and Sunday, July 21 and 22 at the firemen's field in East Kingston.

Public is invited.

Delaware County Will Have Second Home, Garden Tour

On August 25 Delhi will again open six homes and gardens to visitors during the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Lunch will be served by reservation only at the historic Second Presbyterian Church between the hours of 11:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. Reservations are to be made no later than August 23 by writing to Mrs. Edmund Clark.

Tickets for the tour may be purchased at the registration center at the Second Presbyterian Church which faces the Court House Square, where one will find ample parking space.

Delhi was first settled in 1780-84. The first settler was George Fisher, son of a Hessian soldier who escaped after landing in New York and made his way through the wilderness to where Hamden now stands. Samuel Sherwood, a noted lawyer, came in 1797. His home, Woodland House, was shown two years ago. A cottage, built by Samuel Sherwood for his law partner, Colonel Alton Parker, will be shown on this tour. This cottage stands next to Woodland House and is being restored by its present owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Burdick. Here can be seen the kitchen with its old fireplace and Eee Hive oven. (the oven a rarity) as well as a stairway with barrel ceiling and cherry rail. A collection of early utensils will be on display in the kitchen. Pieces of antique china and early doll's chair and dresser, belonging in Mrs. Burdick's family, are on the mantel in the living room. Here the restoration of the fireplace done by a former owner is not original but the old fire back may be seen.

General Erastus Root, another early settler (1796) was active in getting Delaware County created and was sent to the Legislature in 1798. He, with Judge Ebenezer Foote, is given credit for Delhi becoming the County Seat. General Root's home, presently owned by Horatio N. Buckley Adee, will be shown, as will Arbor Hill, home of Ebenezer Foote, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dent of Binghamton. Included in the tour will be the old kitchen and garden of Dana Hall, home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henderson; the Victorian Cottage of Miss Wilma Bramley; the MacDonald Farmhouse, built in 1842 by James MacDonald and presently occupied by his granddaughters, Miss Elizabeth, Miss Isabelle and Mrs. Catherine O'Dell; and the Second Presbyterian Church, the oldest church building in continuous use.

Doctors Soften Opposition to Medical Plan

SASKATOON, Sask. (AP)—Saskatchewan's striking doctors were reported softening their opposition to the provincial government's compulsory medical care plan today as they prepared to put their case before the ruling Socialist party's convention.

Dr. H. D. Dalgleish, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, was to spell out the doctors' views before the annual convention of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation (CCF).

His statement was scheduled late today.

Dalgleish declined to comment on what he would say, but he observed to newsmen that "there are other ways of instituting (medical care) insurance that have never been seriously considered by both parties."

It was learned Tuesday night that Dalgleish has been exchanging letters on the dispute with provincial Premier Woodrow Lloyd. Neither Dalgleish nor Lloyd would disclose what the letters said, but a senior official of the doctors' college attached great importance to the exchange.

A college spokesman said the medical organization had softened its position since the government put the medicare plan into effect July 1, touching off the doctors' strike.

He added, however, that the college still wants suspension of the plan, which provides prepaid compulsory medical care insurance financed by personal assessments and taxes. All citizens in the province are covered by the plan with the government setting the doctors' fees.

Retirement Off For Three Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little over two weeks ago Police Pvt. Charles B. Kadel turned in his gun and badge and made plans for retirement in Florida.

Today, Kadel, 50, returns to the police force, the victim of a miscalculation by himself and the District of Columbia Retirement Board.

District Auditor Arthur R. Pilkerson said Kadel and the board had counted the patrolman's 10 years in the Navy plus his 16 years and 7 months on the police force in figuring his retirement.

But, Pilkerson said, the law requires Kadel to be on the force for 20 years before he can apply his naval service to retirement benefits. So Kadel still has three years and five months to go.

"I didn't come out too bad," he said Tuesday. "I will get my old precinct back."

Riemer Appears Certain Foe of Rep. Leo O'Brien

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Albany County Republican Committee's executive committee endorsed Wolfgang J. Riemer of Schenectady Tuesday night for the GOP nomination for U.S. representative from the 29th congressional district.

The endorsement virtually assured Riemer of the nomination to oppose Rep. Leo O'Brien, Albany Democrat, in the November election.

Riemer, chairman of the Schenectady County Board of Supervisors, has the backing of Schenectady County Republicans and is almost certain to be endorsed by the 10 wards of Troy that complete the new 29th district. O'Brien likewise has been designated by the Albany and Schenectady Democratic Committees and is assured of Troy endorsement.

Wreckage Spotted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The wreckage of a U.S. Air Force transport, missing since Sunday with four Americans on board, was spotted today at the base of a 4,700-foot mountain 140 miles northeast of Saigon, U.S. authorities announced.

The wreckage of the twin-engine G123 was spotted by one of the 21 planes that had been searching.

There was no indication whether any of the four airmen had survived or what caused the crash.

2,780 Girl Scouts Arrive for 50th, 2,892 Are on Way

BUTTON BAY, Vt. (AP)—The culmination of three years of planning was reached today as 2,780 Girl Scouts poured into the encampment site at Button Bay for the 50th anniversary roundup.

Close behind them are 2,892 more girls who will arrive Thursday.

Most of the scouts left trains at Port Henry, N.Y., where a caravan of buses waited to carry them to the tent city on the shore of Lake Champlain.

A full Army field hospital unit from Fort Devens, Mass., has been established on the encampment. The commander of the hospital, Dr. Nathan Heard Jr., a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve, says the hospital can accommodate any or all emergencies.

The staff of 10 doctors 48 nurses and 42 other Army personnel are ready at the 100-bed hospital, with dental, pharmaceutical and surgical facilities.

Retired Judge Dies

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Morgan M. L. Ryan, 95, retired New York City judge, died Tuesday. He had returned to his native Genesee County after retirement.

He was appointed judge of the New York City Court of Special Sessions in 1907, and was the first Children's Court judge in New York State.

Rocky Will Urge End of Ceiling On Health Aid

WEST BRENTWOOD, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says he will recommend to the 1963 Legislature that the ceiling on state aid to local mental-health programs be lifted.

The governor made the statement in a talk to doctors at a luncheon at Pilgrim State Hospital during a tour of Long Island Tuesday.

Under the present setup, the state contributes up to 50 per cent toward a mental-health program but the aid is limited to $1.40 per capita of the population of the area served. Rockefeller said that, under his plan, the state would continue to contribute 50 per cent of the cost, but without the per capita limit.

The state is now contributing about half of the $28 million a year being spent in the state on local mental-health programs.

Refugee Flow Is Down From China

MACAO (AP)—The number of refugees from Communist China dropped sharply in the first 15 days of July in this Portuguese colony on the China coast. A spokesman of the Chinese Nationalist Mainland Refugees Relief Association said only 422 refugees registered with the association, compared to 1,552 in the corresponding period last month.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Ninety-nine refugees from Communist China arrived today by ship from Hong Kong for resettlement in Formosa.

More for Plattsburgh

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Nine B47 jet bombers and 280 military personnel are being added at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, a base spokesman said today.

There have been an estimated 45 B47s and approximately 4,000 military personnel.

The spokesman said the 4365th support squadron had been activated as part of the 820th combat division here by the Strategic Air Command.

The 2,900-mile Congo River is one of the world's longest and second in Africa only to the Nile. It drains a basin of 1,450,000 square miles.

Doctors Soften Opposition to Medical Plan

Brooklyn Woman, 5 Others Hurt in Cairo Mishap

Injured in a two-car collision on Route 23 at Main Street, Cairo, Miss Barbara Moeller, 19, of Brooklyn, was reported in satisfactory condition at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Leeds State Police said five other persons were injured but not admitted to the hospital.

Troopers J. W. Miller and T. R. Brown said Charles Fuerst, 57, of 704 Westover Street, Schenectady, was driving in a westerly direction on Route 23 and making a left turn into Main Street, Cairo, when the car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Vincent Shaw, 25, of 37 Park Place, Auburn.

Troopers said Fuerst was issued a summons for failing to keep to the right.

Others injured were: Shaw, and two passengers in his car, Roberta Tinkner, 18, of Sydney, and Roland Ciracello, 19, of Auburn, and Evelyn LaMontague, 49, of 64 Albany Avenue, Schenectady, a passenger in Fuerst's car. They were treated at the Catskill hospital for minor injuries and released.

Corporation Gets Permission to Up Utica Bus Fares

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Utica Transit Corp. had permission from the Public Service Commission today to raise its fares a total of $22,000 a year, effective ster 1.

Fall dult fares, now 20 cents, will Ron will to 25 cents on local routes. tomildren's fares will be increased Es om eight to 10 cents. cal The company told the commis- pli Kion its operating expenses were dincreasing despite cutbacks result- ng from a continuing loss of watronage.

S The PSC vote to approve the Tare increases was 5-1. Commissioner Theodore F. Bowes, the dissenter, recommended that a decision be postponed and a public hearing held. The vote was announced Tuesday.

In other action affecting bus lines, the commission today:

1. Authorized the D&F Transit Inc. of Fredonia to take over five Western New York routes from the Greyhound Corp. The routes are:

Buffalo - Westfield, via Silver Creek, Dunkirk and Fredonia; Buffalo-Lotus Bay; Buffalo-Mackey's Corners; Fredonia-Jamestown and Jamestown - Gowanda. Fares will remain the same. Greyhound is seeking to limit its primary operations to long-haul service, the PSC said.

2. Authorized Schenectady Transportation Corp. to acquire the New York State operating rights and some equipment of Saratoga Bus Service Inc., which operates in and near Saratoga Springs, and Whitehall Autobus Co. Inc., which operates between Whitehall and Glens Falls.

Schenectady Transportation has operated the routes involved for the past several months under lease. Saratoga Bus and Whitehall are affiliated companies.

Hollywood News, Views

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"How we start a new wave in Americ films?" asks a would-be yo movie maker. "We can't e start a ripple, because we ca get in the unions."

This is the kind of compla you hear over and over fr young hopefuls, fired with thusiasm as they emerge from cinema schools at local universities. Their hope and enthusiasm begin to die as they find studio doors locked to them for lack of a union card.

Give Up in Despair

Many work at low-paying non-union jobs on the fringes of the movie business. Many give up in despair and shift to other lines of work.

The loss of this new creative talent worries some in the movie world, among them Otto Preminger. Says he: "Only new blood can keep anything alive. The film industry is in danger of losing its vigor because it is difficult for new talent to get into some unions."

A cause celebre in this matter is a cinematographer named Haskell Wexler who photographed such well-regarded films as "Hoodlum Priest" and "Studs Lonigan." He has been unable to get work in Hollywood because he wasn't a member of the cameramen's local. He belonged to the Chicago local, and both those films were made in the Midwest. He is now reported making a film in Greece.

Business agent Herb Aller of the camera local says that union is divided into three geographical areas and members are not interchanged. He added that Wexler will be admitted to the Hollywood local as an assistant cameraman.

That is the complaint of many of the young film makers on the outside looking in: they can enter unions in some cases but must work in apprentice positions, even though they have proven their talent.

Helps to Be a Son

To get into the Directors Guild, it helps to be the son of a director. A new director needs only a job and $2,000 initiation fee, but assistant directors are admitted only a few at a time—one per studio per year. Preference is given to directors' sons.

The case against admittance of new members is offered by these figures from the guild: 200 of the 450 assistant directors are out of work.

... T. Dennison, business manager of the Electrical Technicians' local says "In 1943-46 we had 2,800 men working 5 million man-hours a year. Now we have 1,000 men working less than a million man-hours a year. Does anybody wonder why we discourage new members?"

What's being done?

Several leading film makers have proposed labor-management conferences to attempt some streamlining of production. So far the unions have shown no willingness to alter the status quo. Whether they will need to depends on whether Hollywood can

Brooklyn Woman, 5 Others Hurt in Cairo Mishap

Injured in a two-car collision on Route 23 at Main Street, Cairo, Miss Barbara Moeller, 19, of Brooklyn, was reported in satisfactory condition at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Leeds State Police said five other persons were injured but not admitted to the hospital.

Troopers J. W. Miller and T. R. Brown said Charles Fuerst, 57, of 704 Westover Street, Schenectady, was driving in a westerly direction on Route 23 and making a left turn into Main Street, Cairo, when the car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Vincent Shaw, 25, of 37 Park Place, Auburn.

Troopers said Fuerst was issued a summons for failing to keep to the right.

Others injured were: Shaw, and two passengers in his car, Roberta Tinkner, 18, of Sydney, and Roland Ciracello, 19, of Auburn, and Evelyn LaMontague, 49, of 64 Albany Avenue, Schenectady, a passenger in Fuerst's car. They were treated at the Catskill hospital for minor injuries and released.

Corporation Gets Permission to Up Utica Bus Fares

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Utica Transit Corp. had permission from the Public Service Commission today to raise its fares a total of $22,000 a year, effective ster 1.

Adult fares, now 20 cents, will to 25 cents on local routes. hildren's fares will be increased m eight to 10 cents.

The company told the commission its operating expenses were increasing despite cutbacks resulting from a continuing loss of patronage.

The PSC vote to approve the fare increases was 5-1. Commissioner Theodore F. Bowes, the dissenter, recommended that a decision be postponed and a public hearing held. The vote was announced Tuesday.

In other action affecting bus lines, the commission today:

1. Authorized the D&F Transit Inc. of Fredonia to take over five Western New York routes from the Greyhound Corp. The routes are:

Buffalo - Westfield, via Silver Creek, Dunkirk and Fredonia; Buffalo-Lotus Bay; Buffalo-Mackey's Corners; Fredonia-Jamestown and Jamestown - Gowanda. Fares will remain the same. Greyhound is seeking to limit its primary operations to long-haul service, the PSC said.

2. Authorized Schenectady Transportation Corp. to acquire the New York State operating rights and some equipment of Saratoga Bus Service Inc., which operates in and near Saratoga Springs, and Whitehall Autobus Co. Inc., which operates between Whitehall and Glens Falls.

Schenectady Transportation has operated the routes involved for the past several months under lease. Saratoga Bus and Whitehall are affiliated companies.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

Last of three articles

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"How we start a new wave in Americ films?" asks a would-be yo movie maker. "We can't ev start a ripple, because we ca get in the unions."

This is the kind of compla you hear over and over fr young hopefuls, fired with thusiasm as they emerge from cinema schools at local universities. Their hope and enthusiasm begin to die as they find studio doors locked to them for lack of a union card.

Give Up in Despair

Many work at low-paying non-union jobs on the fringes of the movie business. Many give up in despair and shift to other lines of work.

The loss of this new creative talent worries some in the movie world, among them Otto Preminger. Says he: "Only new blood can keep anything alive. The film industry is in danger of losing its vigor because it is difficult for new talent to get into some unions."

A cause celebre in this matter is a cinematographer named Haskell Wexler who photographed such well-regarded films as "Hoodlum Priest" and "Studs Lonigan." He has been unable to get work in Hollywood because he wasn't a member of the cameramen's local. He belonged to the Chicago local, and both those films were made in the Midwest. He is now reported making a film in Greece.

Business agent Herb Aller of the camera local says that union is divided into three geographical areas and members are not interchanged. He added that Wexler will be admitted to the Hollywood local as an assistant cameraman.

That is the complaint of many of the young film makers on the outside looking in: they can enter unions in some cases but must work in apprentice positions, even though they have proven their talent.

Helps to Be a Son

To get into the Directors Guild, it helps to be the son of a director. A new director needs only a job and $2,000 initiation fee, but assistant directors are admitted only a few at a time—one per studio per year. Preference is given to directors' sons.

The case against admittance of new members is offered by these figures from the guild: 200 of the 450 assistant directors are out of work.

... T. Dennison, business manager of the Electrical Technicians' local says "In 1943-46 we had 2,800 men working 5 million man-hours a year. Now we have 1,000 men working less than a million man-hours a year. Does anybody wonder why we discourage new members?"

What's being done?

Several leading film makers have proposed labor-management conferences to attempt some streamlining of production. So far the unions have shown no willingness to alter the status quo. Whether they will need to depends on whether Hollywood can

Doctors Soften Opposition to Medical Plan

SASKATOON, Sask. (AP)—Saskatchewan's striking doctors were reported softening their opposition to the provincial government's compulsory medical care plan today as they prepared to put their case before the ruling Socialist party's convention.

Dr. H. D. Dalgleish, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, was to spell out the doctors' views before the annual convention of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation (CCF).

His statement was scheduled late today.

Dalgleish declined to comment on what he would say, but he observed to newsmen that "there are other ways of instituting (medical care) insurance that have never been seriously considered by both parties."

It was learned Tuesday night that Dalgleish has been exchanging letters on the dispute with provincial Premier Woodrow Lloyd. Neither Dalgleish nor Lloyd would disclose what the letters said, but a senior official of the doctors' college attached great importance to the exchange.

A college spokesman said the medical organization had softened its position since the government put the medicare plan into effect July 1, touching off the doctors' strike.

He added, however, that the college still wants suspension of the plan, which provides prepaid compulsory medical care insurance financed by personal assessments and taxes. All citizens in the province are covered by the plan with the government setting the doctors' fees.

Retirement Off For Three Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little over two weeks ago Police Pvt. Charles B. Kadel turned in his gun and badge and made plans for retirement in Florida.

Today, Kadel, 50, returns to the police force, the victim of a miscalculation by himself and the District of Columbia Retirement Board.

District Auditor Arthur R. Pilkerson said Kadel and the board had counted the patrolman's 10 years in the Navy plus his 16 years and 7 months on the police force in figuring his retirement.

But, Pilkerson said, the law requires Kadel to be on the force for 20 years before he can apply his naval service to retirement benefits. So Kadel still has three years and five months to go.

"I didn't come out too bad," he said Tuesday. "I will get my old precinct back."

Riemer Appears Certain Foe of Rep. Leo O'Brien

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Albany County Republican Committee's executive committee endorsed Wolfgang J. Riemer of Schenectady Tuesday night for the GOP nomination for U.S. representative from the 29th congressional district.

The endorsement virtually assured Riemer of the nomination to oppose Rep. Leo O'Brien, Albany Democrat, in the November election.

Riemer, chairman of the Schenectady County Board of Supervisors, has the backing of Schenectady County Republicans and is almost certain to be endorsed by the 10 wards of Troy that complete the new 29th district. O'Brien likewise has been designated by the Albany and Schenectady Democratic Committees and is assured of Troy endorsement.

Wreckage Spotted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The wreckage of a U.S. Air Force transport, missing since Sunday with four Americans on board, was spotted today at the base of a 4,700-foot mountain 140 miles northeast of Saigon, U.S. authorities announced.

The wreckage of the twin-engine G123 was spotted by one of the 21 planes that had been searching.

There was no indication whether any of the four airmen had survived or what caused the crash.

2,780 Girl Scouts Arrive for 50th, 2,892 Are on Way

BUTTON BAY, Vt. (AP)—The culmination of three years of planning was reached today as 2,780 Girl Scouts poured into the encampment site at Button Bay for the 50th anniversary roundup.

Close behind them are 2,892 more girls who will arrive Thursday.

Most of the scouts left trains at Port Henry, N.Y., where a caravan of buses waited to carry them to the tent city on the shore of Lake Champlain.

A full Army field hospital unit from Fort Devens, Mass., has been established on the encampment. The commander of the hospital, Dr. Nathan Heard Jr., a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve, says the hospital can accommodate any or all emergencies.

The staff of 10 doctors 48 nurses and 42 other Army personnel are ready at the 100-bed hospital, with dental, pharmaceutical and surgical facilities.

Retired Judge Dies

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Morgan M. L. Ryan, 95, retired New York City judge, died Tuesday. He had returned to his native Genesee County after retirement.

He was appointed judge of the New York City Court of Special Sessions in 1907, and was the first Children's Court judge in New York State.

Rocky Will Urge End of Ceiling On Health Aid

WEST BRENTWOOD, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says he will recommend to the 1963 Legislature that the ceiling on state aid to local mental-health programs be lifted.

The governor made the statement in a talk to doctors at a luncheon at Pilgrim State Hospital during a tour of Long Island Tuesday.

Under the present setup, the state contributes up to 50 per cent toward a mental-health program but the aid is limited to $1.40 per capita of the population of the area served. Rockefeller said that, under his plan, the state would continue to contribute 50 per cent of the cost, but without the per capita limit.

The state is now contributing about half of the $28 million a year being spent in the state on local mental-health programs.

Refugee Flow Is Down From China

MACAO (AP)—The number of refugees from Communist China dropped sharply in the first 15 days of July in this Portuguese colony on the China coast. A spokesman of the Chinese Nationalist Mainland Refugees Relief Association said only 422 refugees registered with the association, compared to 1,552 in the corresponding period last month.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Ninety-nine refugees from Communist China arrived today by ship from Hong Kong for resettlement in Formosa.

More for Plattsburgh

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Nine B47 jet bombers and 280 military personnel are being added at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, a base spokesman said today.

There have been an estimated 45 B47s and approximately 4,000 military personnel.

The spokesman said the 4365th support squadron had been activated as part of the 820th combat division here by the Strategic Air Command.

The 2,900-mile Congo River is one of the world's longest and second in Africa only to the Nile. It drains a basin of 1,450,000 square miles.

Rocky Will Urge End of Ceiling On Health Aid

WEST BRENTWOOD, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says he will recommend to the 1963 Legislature that the ceiling on state aid to local mental-health programs be lifted.

The governor made the statement in a talk to doctors at a luncheon at Pilgrim State Hospital during a tour of Long Island Tuesday.

Under the present setup, the state contributes up to 50 per cent toward a mental-health program but the aid is limited to $1.40 per capita of the population of the area served. Rockefeller said that, under his plan, the state would continue to contribute 50 per cent of the cost, but without the per capita limit.

The state is now contributing about half of the $28 million a year being spent in the state on local mental-health programs.

Refugee Flow Is Down From China

MACAO (AP)—The number of refugees from Communist China dropped sharply in the first 15 days of July in this Portuguese colony on the China coast. A spokesman of the Chinese Nationalist Mainland Refugees Relief Association said only 422 refugees registered with the association, compared to 1,352 in the corresponding period last month.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Ninety-nine refugees from Communist China arrived today by ship from Hong Kong for resettlement in Formosa.

More for Plattsburgh

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Nine B47 jet bombers and 280 military personnel are being added at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, a base spokesman said today.

There have been an estimated 45 B47s and approximately 4,000 military personnel.

The spokesman said the 4365th support squadron had been activated as part of the 820th combat division here by the Strategic Air Command.

Brooklyn Woman, 5 Others Hurt in Cairo Mishap

Injured in a two-car collision on Route 23 at Main Street, Cairo, Miss Barbara Moeller, 19, of Brooklyn, was reported in satisfactory condition at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Leeds State Police said five other persons were injured but not admitted to the hospital.

Troopers J. W. Miller and T. R. Brown said Charles Fuerst, 57, of 704 Westover Street, Schenectady, was driving in a westerly direction on Route 23 and making a left turn into Main Street, Cairo, when the car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Vincent Shaw, 25, of 37 Park Place, Auburn.

Troopers said Fuerst was issued a summons for failing to keep to the right.

Others injured were: Shaw, and two passengers in his car, Roberta Tinkner, 18, of Sydney, and Roland Ciracello, 19, of Auburn, and Evelyn LaMontague, 49, of 64 Albany Avenue, Schenectady, a passenger in Fuerst's car. They were treated at the Catskill hospital for minor injuries and released.

Corporation Gets Permission to Up Utica Bus Fares

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Utica Transit Corp. had permission from the Public Service Commission today to raise its fares a total of $22,000 a year, effective Aug. 1.

Adult fares, now 20 cents, will go to 25 cents on local routes. Children's fares will be increased from eight to 10 cents.

The company told the commission its operating expenses were increasing despite cutbacks resulting from a continuing loss of patronage.

The PSC vote to approve the fare increases was 5-1. Commissioner Theodore F. Bowes, the dissenter, recommended that a decision be postponed and a public hearing held. The vote was announced Tuesday.

In other action affecting bus lines, the commission today:

1. Authorized the D&F Transit Inc. of Fredonia to take over five Western New York routes from the Greyhound Corp. The routes are:

Buffalo - Westfield, via Silver Creek, Dunkirk and Fredonia; Buffalo-Lotus Bay; Buffalo-Mackey's Corners; Fredonia-Jamestown and Jamestown - Gowanda. Fares will remain the same. Greyhound is seeking to limit its primary operations to long-haul service, the PSC said.

2. Authorized Schenectady Transportation Corp. to acquire the New York State operating rights and some equipment of Saratoga Bus Service Inc., which operates in and near Saratoga Springs, and Whitehall Autobus Co. Inc., which operates between Whitehall and Glens Falls.

Schenectady Transportation has operated the routes involved for the past several months under lease. Saratoga Bus and Whitehall are affiliated companies.

Last of three articles

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"How can we start a new wave in American films?" asks a would-be young movie maker. "We can't even start a ripple, because we can't get in the unions."

This is the kind of complaint you hear over and over from young hopefuls, fired with enthusiasm as they emerge from cinema schools at local universities. Their hope and enthusiasm begin to die as they find studio doors locked to them for lack of a union card.

Give Up in Despair

Many work at low-paying non-union jobs on the fringes of the movie business. Many give up in despair and shift to other lines of work.

The loss of this new creative talent worries some in the movie world, among them Otto Preminger. Says he: "Only new blood can keep anything alive. The film industry is in danger of losing its vigor because it is difficult for new talent to get into some unions."

A cause celebre in this matter is a cinematographer named Haskell Wexler who photographed such well-regarded films as "Hoodlum Priest" and "Studs Lonigan." He has been unable to get work in Hollywood because he wasn't a member of the cameramen's local. He belonged to the Chicago local, and both those films were made in the Midwest. He is now reported making a film in Greece.

Business agent Herb Aller of the camera local says that union is divided into three geographical areas and members are not interchanged. He added that Wexler will be admitted to the Hollywood local as an assistant cameraman.

That is the complaint of many of the young film makers on the outside looking in: they can enter unions in some cases but must work in apprentice positions, even though they have proven their talent.

Helps to Be a Son

To get into the Directors Guild, it helps to be the son of a director. A new director needs only a job and $2,000 initiation fee, but assistant directors are admitted only a few at a time—one per studio per year. Preference is given to directors' sons.

The case against admittance of new members is offered by these figures from the guild: 200 of the 450 assistant directors are out of work.

... T. Dennison, business manager of the Electrical Technicians' local says "In 1943-46 we had 2,800 men working 5 million man-hours a year. Now we have 1,000 men working less than a million man-hours a year. Does anybody wonder why we discourage new members?"

What's being done?

Several leading film makers have proposed labor-management conferences to attempt some streamlining of production. So far the unions have shown no willingness to alter the status quo. Whether they will need to depends on whether Hollywood can find some other way to halt the downward spiral of film production.

Give Up in Despair

Many work at low-paying non-union jobs on the fringes of the movie business. Many give up in despair and shift to other lines of work.

The loss of this new creative talent worries some in the movie world, among them Otto Preminger. Says he: "Only new blood can keep anything alive. The film industry is in danger of losing its vigor because it is difficult for new talent to get into some unions."

A cause celebre in this matter is a cinematographer named Haskell Wexler who photographed such well-regarded films as "Hoodlum Priest" and "Studs Lonigan." He has been unable to get work in Hollywood because he wasn't a member of the cameramen's local. He belonged to the Chicago local, and both those films were made in the Midwest. He is now reported making a film in Greece.

Business agent Herb Aller of the camera local says that union is divided into three geographical areas and members are not interchanged. He added that Wexler will be admitted to the Hollywood local as an assistant cameraman.

That is the complaint of many of the young film makers on the outside looking in: they can enter unions in some cases but must work in apprentice positions, even though they have proven their talent.

Helps to Be a Son

To get into the Directors Guild, it helps to be the son of a director. A new director needs only a job and $2,000 initiation fee, but assistant directors are admitted only a few at a time—one per studio per year. Preference is given to directors' sons.

The case against admittance of new members is offered by these figures from the guild: 200 of the 450 assistant directors are out of work.

... T. Dennison, business manager of the Electrical Technicians' local says "In 1943-46 we had 2,800 men working 5 million man-hours a year. Now we have 1,000 men working less than a million man-hours a year. Does anybody wonder why we discourage new members?"

What's being done?

Several leading film makers have proposed labor-management conferences to attempt some streamlining of production. So far the unions have shown no willingness to alter the status quo. Whether they will need to depends on whether Hollywood can find some other way to halt the downward spiral of film production.

King and His Court Set For Dietz Stadium Tilt

PRO GRIDDER SIDELINED—An attack of appendicitis brought on a quick trip to the hospital in Youngstown, Ohio, for John Nocera, a four-year veteran with the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL. Play Glasco 9 On August 1

The fabulous 4-man softball aggregation, the King and His Court, will make another appearance in Kingston on Wednesday night, Aug. 1, at Dietz Stadium.

Eddie Feigner and his sensational troupe, the greatest drawing card in softball history, will take on the Glasco Athletic Club, unbeaten leaders of the Saugerties softball league.

A long time favorite with local softball fans, Feigner, the master pitcher, comes to Kingston with a couple of new faces but with the same exciting routine that has thrilled fans around the world.

Appearing with Feigner will be Ron Cooper, Jerry Jones and Al Jackson. Cooper and Jackson replace Mike Meilicke and Meade Kinzer.

The King and His Court have been operating since 1946 when the team was organized by Feigner. Since then Feigner has fanned thousands of batters, the team has travelled 1,310,000 miles while playing before 700,000 spectators.

They Get Around

The most gruelling campaign for the "Court" was in 1953. Traveling to practically every corner of the United States and parts of East and West Canada, the four-man team played 179 games, losing only 16.

Feigner, who ranks with the greatest softball pitchers of history, once pitched in a 34-inning marathon. During that stretch 73 of the opposing batters either whiffed or were called out on strikes. Seventy-three strikeouts in one game is of course above Ed's average which is just a fraction over 18 per seven innings pitched.

In addition to their stellar softball, the Court has an amusing comedy routine that runs through the whole game. Feigner's routine includes pitching blindfolded and from second base.

This is easily the greatest softball show on earth.

Pirates Hope To Fatten Up Against Mets

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who suffered a relapse last season after winning the National League pennant in 1960, moved into town today seeking to fatten up on the futile Mets while continuing baseball's strongest surge.

"We're playing at a better clip than we did two years ago," said Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Yet, we're still in third place."

Pittsburgh has won 17 of its last 21 games and lifted its season's won-lost record to 57 victories and 35 defeats. This is two games better than the Pirates' 1960 gait after 92 games. Their record then was 55-37 and they led the league by a half game over Milwaukee.

The Pirates' comeback from sixth place in 1961 can be traced directly to the comebacks of Bob Skinner, Dick Groat and Vern Law plus the continued lusty hitting of Roberto Clemente.

Skinner, who hit 15 homers and drove in 86 runs in 1960, tailed off to only three home runs and 42 RBI last year. His 1962 totals are 10 homers and 47 runs batted in with a .328 average.

Groat, the NL batting champion two years ago with .325, dipped to .275 in 1961. He's back up to .316 this season. Clemente, the defending batting champion, is hitting .349.

Law, a 20-game winner in '60, was out most of last year with a sore arm. He won only three games. This year, the veteran right-hander already owns eight victories.

Rookie's Debut In Majors Ends On Happy Note

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Lock's major league debut with the Washington Senators was somewhat rocky. But it had a happy ending.

The first time at bat he struck out. The second time he took a called third strike. In the sixth inning he called for a pop fly in short left and shortstop Ken Hamlin let Lock take it. The ball dropped for a fluke double, leaving Lock a little red faced.

In the top of the seventh Chicago pitcher Juan Pizarro kept firing the fast ball and got two strikes on Lock. Then Lock slammed the next pitch into the stands for a home run and a 1-0 victory over the White Sox. Washington also won the second game of a twi-night doubleheader, 7-3.

That's the story of Lock's initiation to the majors, but behind it is another tale—one of futility. Lock, 25, has been knocking around the minors for several years.

The closest he came to the big leagues was in the New York Yankees' spring camp for rookies. "Two weeks a season, the last two seasons. That's it," said Lock. "I was never happier when I heard I was leaving Richmond to play with Washington. I didn't think I'd ever make it."

If Spahn's Sore, Who Could Blame Milwaukee Vet

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee pitchers, headed by southpaw great Warren Spahn, have plenty of grounds for a non-support suit against their hitters and fielders.

The Braves' give-way program is reaching new heights.

The San Francisco Giants combined homers by Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou with the weakness of the Braves in the field for a 3-2 victory Tuesday night to move within one game of National League leading Los Angeles, 7-5 loser to Cincinnati.

Spahn, who has been given only 19 runs by his mates in 11 losses, failed in a bid for his ninth triumph of the season and No. 318 of his brilliant career. However, he escaped the defeat.

The Giants scored the winning run in the ninth without a hit against reliever Claude Raymond. Cepeda drew a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored as rookie Amado Samuel let Harvey Kuenn's grounder go through his legs for a two-base error.

Spahn, the 41-year-old dean of the Milwaukee pitching staff, declined to criticize his lack of support, which included a misjudged line drive by center fielder Mack Jones just before Cepeda's 20th homer in the first inning. Willie Mays got a double as Jones watched the ball sail over his head.

"Any time a pitcher is given three runs he has no reason to complain," Spahn said philosophically. "I wanted to bounce the ball up to the plate to Cepeda, especially with first base open, but I got it over somehow and he belted it. Alou hit a changeup which hung waist high."

McBride Apple Of Rigney's Eye

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney has pointedly declined all year to single out any one performer in the astonishing play of Los Angeles' angry young Angels.

But Rigney could make an exception today in the case of his 26-year-old right-hander—Ken McBride.

The husky 6-footer has won nine straight games and Tuesday night pitched his third shutout of the year, 1-0 over Detroit.

McBride has hardly been overwhelmed by his supporting cast because all three shutouts were by 1-0 scores—at Chicago April 12, on four hits, and the White Sox here on seven hits, June 6.

Against the Tigers the Alabama-born Clevelander yielded only three singles.

Ken is one of the prime supports to the oft-made query, of what holds up the Angels. He now has hurled two complete-game wins in a row and has traveled the distance in five of his 21 starts. He is the idol of the Angels' bullpen and now has a scoreless string of 12 innings.

IT'S TIME for pro football . . and for gulping salt tablets as training camp opens . . . and here already is a capsule preview of the 1962 season: Green Bay a lock in the west (unless the Colts fill their blanks); the east wide open, with only Washington and Dallas out of it. . . . In the American Football League, there's nothing to head a third title game between Houston and San Diego. . . .

Isometic contraction has replaced weight-lifting as the body builder for the pros . . . with Joe Schmidt of the Lions and Jimmy Taylor of the Packers among the converts. . . .

Vince Lombardi used to complain he couldn't use his New York-developed theory of three deep backs on offense because he didn't have them available. . . . Now he's got to apply his genius to providing enough work for Paul Hornung, Taylor, Tom Moore, Elijah Pitts and a rookie who could be tougher than all of them—Earl Gros of LSU. . . .

We recently canvassed the all-pros for random observations . . . "Fat wallets," said Packer center and captain Jim Ringo, "make fat heads . . . our problem is to stay hungry." . . .

Vince Lombardi

Ambitions: "To play one year at 250 instead of 275," says Baltimore's Jim Parker, who weighs 300. . . . "To become the greatest defensive back that ever played the game," says Johnny Sample of the Pittsburgh Steelers. . . . "To catch one mile of football yardage," says Charley Hennigan of the Houston Oilers. . . .

Look for the color line to be broken in the upper echelons . . . since Night Train Lane's ambition is "to take a crack at coaching in the NFL" . . . when he stops intercepting passes for the Lions.

What does pro football mean to Chuck McMurtry, the huge tackle of the Buffalo Bills who claims to be the only man from Whittier, Calif., who never met Dick Dixon? . . . "To me," he says, "it's an institution, just like marriage . . . and I feel like a bigamist, being married to my wife, and also football." . . .

But to Tony Banfield, Houston's fine defensive back, "it's the same as having a Ph.D. or a doctor's degree in education. . . . It means being at the top of your profession." . . .

Now take some of the off-season pursuits: Dan Currie of the Packers listens to Frank Sinatra and Johhn Mathis records . . . but Billy Cannon, the No. 1 back in the AFL prefers "working with my cows" . . . and linebacker E. J. Holub of the Dallas Texans trains quarter horses for roping and cutting cattle — when he's not cavorting in rodeos. . . .

The silliest trade rumor of the winter had to be Baltimore peddling terrific Lenny Moore to the New York Giants for Sam Huff . . . not that the Giants would object. . . .

The toughest guy he ever faced, claims corner back Dick Harris of the San Diego Chargers, is Coach Sid Gillman . . . "at contract time." . . . Fuzzy Thurston, the come-lately guard of the Packers (he was released by three teams earlier and went to Valparaiso on a basketball scholarship), pins the toughest opponent label on Henry Jordan, the defensive tackle whom he blocked never on Sunday . . . because Jordan plays on the same club—"He gives me headaches every day, in practice." . . .

His running mate, Jerry Kramer, comes from a small logging town in Idaho . . . and says he was the only one of six kids in the family able to go to college—because of football. . . .

A little different viewpoint is presented by Ron Mix of San Diego, the most literate lineman in the AFL, and also the best: "Seeing the intellectual accomplishments of my friends has made me aware that athletic feats are not really all-important . . . but knowledge and how to use it is." . . .

Between you'n'me, the football you'll see in 1962 is the best in the history of the game . . . played by the best. . . .

Noel Captures 4th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four was Noel's lucky number Tuesday night. The 4-year-old mare trotter won her fourth-straight start by four lengths.

Don Larlee drove Noel to victory in the $3,000 Valatie Trot at Saratoga Raceway. The victor covered the mile in 2:06 4-5 and returned $2.70. Mike Clancy was second and Nixon third.

In the $2,020 Schaghticoke Pace at the track, Egyptian Pride, driven by Bill Bain, won easily by 11 lengths over Tallulah Wick in 2:08. Rifky Bee was third. The winner paid $2.80.

In other harness racing in New York State:

Yonkers—Dusty Pat ($7.60) won the $2,800 Clifton Pace in 2:03 1-5. Scotty Welch drove.

Vernon—Diamond Sam ($3) triumphed in the featured $1,500 pace for 2-year-olds in 2:04. Lou Huber Jr. drove.

Roberts, McBride Hurl Well; Phillies Top Houston Twice

Have 10 Straight Over New Entry; SF Gains Ground

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can get an argument on whether expansion was a good thing for the National League, but you won't get it from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phils, who tied a record for futility last year, are thriving on the expansion clubs. Tuesday night they took their ninth and tenth straight from the sagging Houston Colts, who have yet to beat them. The scores were 3-0 and 8-2. The twi-night doubleheader loss ran the Houston record to 20 losses in the last 23 games.

The Giants pushed over a run without a hit in the ninth inning to beat Milwaukee 4-3.

Ageless Stan Musial cracked a three-run homer to give the St. Louis Cardinals a victory over the Chicago Cubs, 8-6. The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Mets were not scheduled.

Blow to Dodgers

Koufax' difficulties dealt a blow to the Dodgers. The great left hander has been suffering from a mysterious numbness in his pitching hand for about a month. He has not been able to finish a game since July 4, when he beat the Phillies, 16-1.

The Braves were in a give-away mood against the Giants. With Warren Spahn on the mound, Mack Jones misplayed a line drive by Willie Mays into a double in the first inning and Orlando Cepeda followed with a two-out homer. Felipe Alou added a homer in the seventh.

Musial plastered his three-run homer in the sixth inning with the Cardinals trailing 5-4. It was the 13th of the season and 457th of his career. Larry Jackson, hurt by a leaky defense, got the victory although Lindy McDaniel worked the last three innings, giving up a homer to Ernie Banks, his 23rd.

Johnny Callison homered for the Phils as they shut out the Colts in the first game behind Jack Hamilton, who went the first seven, and Jack Baldschun. Frank Torre was the hitting star in the second game with two singles and a triple, as Cal McLish won his sixth game with relief help from Dennis Bennett.

Castoffs Make League Blush; Yanks Win, 1-0

By JOE EICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are some red faces in the American League today.

The causes of these embarrassing blushes are Robin Roberts of Baltimore and Ken McBride of Los Angeles, a pair of cast-off pitchers shunned by the rest of the league.

Roberts, former mainstay of the Philadelphia Phillies, was signed and then cut loose by the New York Yankees even before he had pitched a championship game. Only the Orioles were willing to gamble on him. The 35-year-old right-hander long since has rewarded their faith in him. Tuesday night the Orioles received extra dividends on their investment when Robbie pitched a seven-hitter to defeat Kansas City 3-2 for his fifth victory in eight decisions.

McBride was thrown into the grabbag by the White Sox in the American League player pool nearly two years ago and the Angels plucked him for $75,000. A 12-game winner in 1961, the 26-year-old right-hander shut out Detroit 1-0 for his ninth straight victory and tenth of the season. He has lost only three.

Still 3½ Behind

Th triumph gave the Angels undisputed possession of second place but left them still 3½ games behind the Yankees, who nipped Boston 1-0 for their fifth straight victory. Minnesota dumped Cleveland into third place with a 7-2 success over the Indians and Washington swept a doubleheader from the White Sox 1-0 and 7-5.

Ralph Terry pitched a four hitter for the Yankees and rookie shortstop Tom Tresh singled home the run in the Yankees' 1-0 triumph over the Red Sox. Gene Conley matched Terry's shutout pitching until the eighth when Hector Lopez and Clete Boyer singled and Tresh came through with his two-out blow.

In another 1-0 decision, Dave Stenhouse of Washington bested Juan Pizarro of the White Sox in the first game of their twi-night twin bill. Rookie Don Lock homered for the only run. Stenhouse pitched a three-hitter for his eighth victory. The Senators, blanked by Early Wynn with three hits through seven innings, erupted for six runs in the eighth for their two-game sweep. Tom Cheney was the winner.

Harmon Killebrew, emergi from a batting slump, drove four runs, three with his 22nd homer of the season, to lead the Twins to victory. Camilo Pascual went the route, holding the Indians to five hits for his 14th victory.

RV Cubs Notch Win Over Pirates

The Cubs scored six times in the fifth inning and nipped the Pirates, 10-8, in a Rondout Valley Little League game yesterday.

James Rowe and Jerry Petrone hit doubles during the contest which saw the winners get eight safeties by as many different players and the losers have six batters get as many hits.

The line score:

Pirates ..... 332 000—	8	8
Cubs ..... 110 26x—10		8

They Get Around

The most gruelling campaign for the "Court" was in 1953. Traveling to practically every corner of the United States and parts of East and West Canada, the four-man team played 179 games, losing only 16.

Feigner, who ranks with the greatest softball pitchers of history, once pitched in a 34-inning marathon. During that stretch 73 of the opposing batters either whiffed or were called out on strikes. Seventy-three strikeouts in one game is of course above Ed's average which is just a fraction over 18 per seven innings pitched.

In addition to their stellar softball, the Court has an amusing comedy routine that runs through the whole game. Feigner's routine includes pitching blindfolded and from second base.

This is easily the greatest softball show on earth.

Pirates Hope To Fatten Up Against Mets

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who suffered a relapse last season after winning the National League pennant in 1960, moved into town today seeking to fatten up on the futile Mets while continuing baseball's strongest surge.

"We're playing at a better clip than we did two years ago," said Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Yet, we're still in third place."

Pittsburgh has won 17 of its last 21 games and lifted its season's won-lost record to 57 victories and 35 defeats. This is two games better than the Pirates' 1960 gait after 92 games. Their record then was 55-37 and they led the league by a half game over Milwaukee.

The Pirates' comeback from sixth place in 1961 can be traced directly to the comebacks of Bob Skinner, Dick Groat and Vern Law plus the continued lusty hitting of Roberto Clemente.

Skinner, who hit 15 homers and drove in 86 runs in 1960, tailed off to only three home runs and 42 RBI last year. His 1962 totals are 10 homers and 47 runs batted in with a .328 average.

Groat, the NL batting champion two years ago with .325, dipped to .275 in 1961. He's back up to .316 this season. Clemente, the defending batting champion, is hitting .349.

Law, a 20-game winner in '60, was out most of last year with a sore arm. He won only three games. This year, the veteran right-hander already owns eight victories.

New Paltz Slates Net Tournament

Reservations are being accepted for the fifth annual New Paltz Tennis Tournament, scheduled from July 30 through Aug. 5 at the State University College in New Paltz. Dr. Loren D. Campbell is tournament director and he predicts a record number of entries this year.

Entry forms may be obtained in Kingston from Kaye Sportswair and Potter Bros. Competition this year will include women's singles, men's singles, men's senior singles and men's doubles.

The schedule has matches beginning at 5 p. m. on Monday through Friday, July 30-Aug. 3 with the semi-finals slated for Saturday, Aug. 4, 1 p. m. and the finals at 2 p. m. on Sunday, Aug. 5.

Rookie's Debut In Majors Ends On Happy Note

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Lock's major league debut with the Washington Senators was somewhat rocky. But it had a happy ending.

The first time at bat he struck out. The second time he took a called third strike. In the sixth inning he called for a pop fly in short left and shortstop Ken Hamlin let Lock take it. The ball dropped for a fluke double, leaving Lock a little red faced.

In the top of the seventh Chicago pitcher Juan Pizarro kept firing the fast ball and got two strikes on Lock. Then Lock slammed the next pitch into the stands for a home run and a 1-0 victory over the White Sox. Washington also won the second game of a twi-night doubleheader, 7-3.

That's the story of Lock's initiation to the majors, but behind it is another tale—one of futility. Lock, 25, has been knocking around the minors for several years.

The closest he came to the big leagues was in the New York Yankees' spring camp for rookies.

"Two weeks a season, the last two seasons. That's it," said Lock.

"I was never happier when I heard I was leaving Richmond to play with Washington. I didn't think I'd ever make it."

RV Babe Ruth Loop To Meet on Friday

Members of the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League will hold their monthly meeting on Friday, July 20, 8 p. m., at the Stone Ridge Fire House.

The meeting will be held for the purpose of evaluating and concluding a successful 1962 season and to prepare groundwork for the coming year.

Corbett Heads Field In Qualifying Round

GREAT NECK, N.Y. (AP) — Lawrence Corbett of Rockeville Centre, with a one-over-par 37-35 —72, led three metropolitan qualifiers today for the U.S. Golf Association Junior Championship at Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., Aug. 1-4.

Other qualifiers were Joe Smith, Kingston, N.Y., 38-37—75; and John Baldwin, Plandome, N.Y., 38-37—75.

If Spahn's Sore, Who Could Blame Milwaukee Vet

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee pitchers, headed by southpaw great Warren Spahn, have plenty of grounds for a non-support suit against their hitters and fielders.

The Braves' give-way program is reaching new heights.

The San Francisco Giants combined homers by Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou with the weakness of the Braves in the field for a 3-2 victory Tuesday night to move within one game of National League leading Los Angeles, 7-5 loser to Cincinnati.

Spahn, who has been given only 19 runs by his mates in 11 losses, failed in a bid for his ninth triumph of the season and No. 318 of his brilliant career. However, he escaped the defeat.

The Giants scored the winning run in the ninth without a hit against reliever Claude Raymond. Cepeda drew a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored as rookie Amado Samuel let Harvey Kuenn's grounder go through his legs for a two-base error.

Spahn, the 41-year-old dean of the Milwaukee pitching staff, declined to criticize his lack of support, which included a misjudged line drive by center fielder Mack Jones just before Cepeda's 20th homer in the first inning. Willie Mays got a double as Jones watched the ball sail over his head.

"Any time a pitcher is given three runs he has no reason to complain," Spahn said philosophically. "I wanted to bounce the ball up to the plate to Cepeda, especially with first base open, but I got it over somehow and he belted it. Alou hit a changeup which hung waist high."

McBride Apple Of Rigney's Eye

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney has pointedly declined all year to single out any one performer in the astonishing play of Los Angeles' angry young Angels.

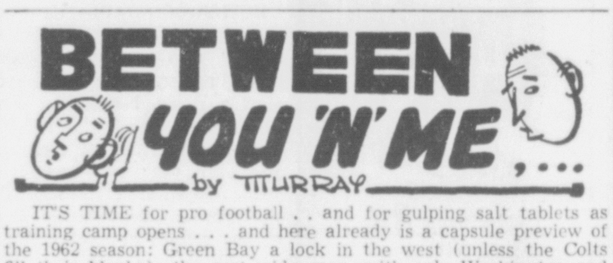
But Rigney could make an exception today in the case of his 26-year-old right-hander—Ken McBride.

The husky 6-footer has won nine straight games and Tuesday night pitched his third shutout of the year, 1-0 over Detroit.

McBride has hardly been overwhelmed by his supporting cast because all three shutouts were by 1-0 scores—at Chicago April 12, on four hits, and the White Sox here on seven hits, June 6.

Against the Tigers the Alabama-born Clevelander yielded only three singles.

Ken is one of the prime supports to the oft-made query, of what holds up the Angels. He now has hurled two complete-game wins in a row and has traveled the distance in five of his 21 starts. He is the idol of the Angels' bullpen and now has a scoreless string of 12 innings.



IT'S TIME for pro football . . and for gulping salt tablets as training camp opens . . . and here already is a capsule preview of the 1962 season: Green Bay a lock in the west (unless the Colts fill their blanks); the east wide open, with only Washington and Dallas out of it. . . . In the American Football League, there's nothing to head a third title game between Houston and San Diego. . . .

Isometic contraction has replaced weight-lifting as the body builder for the pros . . . with Joe Schmidt of the Lions and Jimmy Taylor of the Packers among the converts. . . .

Vince Lombardi used to complain he couldn't use his New York-developed theory of three deep backs on offense because he didn't have them available. . . . Now he's got to apply his genius to providing enough work for Paul Hornung, Taylor, Tom Moore, Elijah Pitts and a rookie who could be tougher than all of them—Earl Gros of LSU. . . .

We recently canvassed the all-pros for random observations . . . "Fat wallets," said Packer center and captain Jim Ringo, "make fat heads . . . our problem is to stay hungry." . . .

Ambitions: "To play one year at 250 instead of 275," says Baltimore's Jim Parker, who weighs 300. . . . "To become the greatest defensive back that ever played the game," says Johnny Sample of the Pittsburgh Steelers. . . . "To catch one mile of football yardage," says Charley Hennigan of the Houston Oilers. . . .

Look for the color line to be broken in the upper echelons . . . since Night Train Lane's ambition is "to take a crack at coaching in the NFL" . . . when he stops intercepting passes for the Lions.

What does pro football mean to Chuck McMurtry, the huge tackle of the Buffalo Bills who claims to be the only man from Whittier, Calif., who never met Dick Dixon? . . . "To me," he says, "it's an institution, just like marriage . . . and I feel like a bigamist, being married to my wife, and also football." . . .

But to Tony Banfield, Houston's fine defensive back, "it's the same as having a Ph.D. or a doctor's degree in education. . . . It means being at the top of your profession." . . .

Now take some of the off-season pursuits: Dan Currie of the Packers listens to Frank Sinatra and Johhn Mathis records . . . but Billy Cannon, the No. 1 back in the AFL prefers "working with my cows" . . . and linebacker E. J. Holub of the Dallas Texans trains quarter horses for roping and cutting cattle — when he's not cavorting in rodeos. . . .

The silliest trade rumor of the winter had to be Baltimore peddling terrific Lenny Moore to the New York Giants for Sam Huff . . . not that the Giants would object. . . .

The toughest guy he ever faced, claims corner back Dick Harris of the San Diego Chargers, is Coach Sid Gillman . . . "at contract time." . . . Fuzzy Thurston, the come-lately guard of the Packers (he was released by three teams earlier and went to Valparaiso on a basketball scholarship), pins the toughest opponent label on Henry Jordan, the defensive tackle whom he blocked never on Sunday . . . because Jordan plays on the same club—"He gives me headaches every day, in practice." . . .

His running mate, Jerry Kramer, comes from a small logging town in Idaho . . . and says he was the only one of six kids in the family able to go to college—because of football. . . .

A little different viewpoint is presented by Ron Mix of San Diego, the most literate lineman in the AFL, and also the best: "Seeing the intellectual accomplishments of my friends has made me aware that athletic feats are not really all-important . . . but knowledge and how to use it is." . . .

Between you'n'me, the football you'll see in 1962 is the best in the history of the game . . . played by the best. . . .

Noel Captures 4th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four was Noel's lucky number Tuesday night. The 4-year-old mare trotter won her fourth-straight start by four lengths.

Don Larlee drove Noel to victory in the $3,000 Valatie Trot at Saratoga Raceway. The victor covered the mile in 2:06 4-5 and returned $2.70. Mike Clancy was second and Nixon third.

In the $2,020 Schaghticoke Pace at the track, Egyptian Pride, driven by Bill Bain, won easily by 11 lengths over Tallulah Wick in 2:08. Rifky Bee was third. The winner paid $2.80.

In other harness racing in New York State:

Yonkers—Dusty Pat ($7.60) won the $2,800 Clifton Pace in 2:03 1-5. Scotty Welch drove.

Vernon—Diamond Sam ($3) triumphed in the featured $1,500 pace for 2-year-olds in 2:04. Lou Huber Jr. drove.

Roberts, McBride Hurl Well; Phillies Top Houston Twice

Have 10 Straight Over New Entry; SF Gains Ground

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can get an argument on whether expansion was a good thing for the National League, but you won't get it from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phils, who tied a record for futility last year, are thriving on the expansion clubs. Tuesday night they took their ninth and tenth straight from the sagging Houston Colts, who have yet to beat them. The scores were 3-0 and 8-2. The twi-night doubleheader loss ran the Houston record to 20 losses in the last 23 games.

At the other end of the league standings, the leading Los Angeles Dodgers had their troubles, too.

Sore-handed Sandy Koufax lasted only an inning against the Cincinnati Reds and gave up two runs before he retired with a blister on the forefinger of his left hand. The Reds went on to a 7-5 victory, cutting the Dodgers' lead over the San Francisco Giants to one game.

The Giants pushed over a run without a hit in the ninth inning to beat Milwaukee 4-3.

Ageless Stan Musial cracked a three-run homer to give the St. Louis Cardinals a victory over the Chicago Cubs, 8-6. The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Mets were not scheduled.

Blow to Dodgers

Koufax' difficulties dealt a blow to the Dodgers. The great left hander has been suffering from a mysterious numbness in his pitching hand for about a month. He has not been able to finish a game since July 4, when he beat the Phillies, 16-1.

The Braves were in a give-away mood against the Giants. With Warren Spahn on the mound, Mack Jones misplayed a line drive by Willie Mays into a double in the first inning and Orlando Cepeda followed with a two-out homer. Felipe Alou added a homer in the seventh.

Musial plastered his three-run homer in the sixth inning with the Cardinals trailing 5-4. It was the 13th of the season and 457th of his career. Larry Jackson, hurt by a leaky defense, got the victory although Lindy McDaniel worked the last three innings, giving up a homer to Ernie Banks, his 23rd.

Johnny Callison homered for the Phils as they shut out the Colts in the first game behind Jack Hamilton, who went the first seven, and Jack Baldschun. Frank Torre was the hitting star in the second game with two singles and a triple, as Cal McLish won his sixth game with relief help from Dennis Bennett.

Castoffs Make League Blush; Yanks Win, 1-0

By JOE EICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are some red faces in the American League today.

The causes of these embarrassing blushes are Robin Roberts of Baltimore and Ken McBride of Los Angeles, a pair of cast-off pitchers shunned by the rest of the league.

Roberts, former mainstay of the Philadelphia Phillies, was signed and then cut loose by the New York Yankees even before he had pitched a championship game. Only the Orioles were willing to gamble on him. The 35-year-old right-hander long since has rewarded their faith in him. Tuesday night the Orioles received extra dividends on their investment when Robbie pitched a seven-hitter to defeat Kansas City 3-2 for his fifth victory in eight decisions.

McBride was thrown into the grabbag by the White Sox in the American League player pool nearly two years ago and the Angels plucked him for $75,000. A 12-game winner in 1961, the 26-year-old right-hander shut out Detroit 1-0 for his ninth straight victory and tenth of the season. He has lost only three.

Still 3½ Behind

Th triumph gave the Angels undisputed possession of second place but left them still 3½ games behind the Yankees, who nipped Boston 1-0 for their fifth straight victory. Minnesota dumped Cleveland into third place with a 7-2 success over the Indians and Washington swept a doubleheader from the White Sox 1-0 and 7-5.

Ralph Terry pitched a four hitter for the Yankees and rookie shortstop Tom Tresh singled home the run in the Yankees' 1-0 triumph over the Red Sox. Gene Conley matched Terry's shutout pitching until the eighth when Hector Lopez and Clete Boyer singled and Tresh came through with his two-out blow.

In another 1-0 decision, Dave Stenhouse of Washington bested Juan Pizarro of the White Sox in the first game of their twi-night twin bill. Rookie Don Lock homered for the only run. Stenhouse pitched a three-hitter for his eighth victory. The Senators, blanked by Early Wynn with three hits through seven innings, erupted for six runs in the eighth for their two-game sweep. Tom Cheney was the winner.

Harmon Killebrew, emerging from a batting slump, drove in four runs, three with his 22nd homer of the season, to lead the Twins to victory. Camilo Pascual went the route, holding the Indians to five hits for his 14th victory.

RV Cubs Notch Win Over Pirates

The Cubs scored six times in the fifth inning and nipped the Pirates, 10-8, in a Rondout Valley Little League game yesterday.

James Rowe and Jerry Petrone hit doubles during the contest which saw the winners get eight safeties by as many different players and the losers have six batters get as many hits.

The line score:

	R	H
Pirates	332 000—	8
Cubs	110 26x—10	8

Bob Urisk, Chris Schoonmaker and Pat Garland; Stephen Markle, Marty Brown and Dirk Snyder.

BLAA! BLAA! BLAA!—This is baseball at its noisiest. Plate umpire Bobby Haack is ignoring the ire of Tulsa catcher Hank Kuhlmann after he was ejected from a game against El Paso for protesting Haack's calls on balls and strikes. The El Paso Sun Kings, despite the beef, went on to beat the Oilers and take first place in the Texas League.

Allen to Defend State Golf Title

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Don Allen of Rochester put his title on the line today in first-round play in the New York State Amateur Golf Championship.

There were 127 aspirants for Allen's crown, which he took last year from John P. Konsek II.

Allen was paired against Thomas Tolfa of Utica on the rolling, drought-baked Glens Falls Country Club course. The prolonged dry spell has parched fairways, improving conditions for long rolls and lower scores.

However, pro Danny Williams said about half the fairways had been kept watered with sprinklers and the greens were fast.

Today's field included one member of the Konsek family. John P. Konsek Jr., father of the three-time titlist, was pitted against Henry Ryer of Glens Falls.

The newer hopefuls included 17-year-old Bill Snyder of Troy, former State Boys' champion, and Peter Famiano of Schenectady, the 1961 State Junior champion.

The match-play tournament continues through Sunday.

District Little League Tourney Starts Thursday

Kerbonkson and Woodstock will meet at the Town of Ulster diamond; Highland plays Fallsburgh at Kerbonkson; Rondout Valley and Pine Bush will meet at Ellenville; Kingston National faces Town of Esopus at the Kingston American field and Kingston Jaycees play the Town of Ulster at the Kingston National League diamond.

Action continues on Friday with semi-finals slated for Saturday and the finals for Tuesday, July 24.

Cramer's 78 Low In Northeastern

Margaret (Sis) Cramer of Antlers (Amsterdam) carded a 37-41-78 to score her third Northeastern Women's Golf Association victory of the season, Tuesday at Onteora CC in Tannersville.

The current district champion finished one stroke ahead of Mrs. Gerald Hallenbeck, Catskill, who shot 40-39-79. She was the only other in the field breaking 80. Gail Sykes, Ballston, took the net award with 71, her handicap being 13.

Class B gross winner was Mrs. Robert Baker, Normanside, with 91. The net winner was Mrs. Glenn Ryder, Edison, 93-24-69.

Mrs. Henry Blatner, association president, has announced that entries close next Tuesday for the district championship, Aug. 6-10, at Troy C.C. Mrs. Douglas Coupe, Schuyler Meadows, is the chairman.

Next week's event will take place at Stockbridge.

RENO, Nev.—Mills Lane, 139, Reno, stopped Al Carroll, 138, Sacramento, Calif., 5.

Elks Club Gets 6-4 BRL Win

Eddie Mills pitched a five-hitter and the Elks Club nipped the Masons, 6-4, in a Babe Ruth game last night at Dietz Stadium.

The winners scored the clinching runs in the fifth frame on five straight singles. The Masons came back with three in the sixth but they weren't enough.

Mills walked four and struck out eight. Loser Brian Bach gave up eight hits, walked three and fanned seven.

Palmer Rules Heavy Choice In PGA Play

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP) —Arnold Palmer, the one big Injun chief on this golf course where every hole has an Indian name, faces 171 little Indians Thursday in the opening round of the 44th PGA championship.

Some could qualify as chiefs in their own right—National Open champion Jack Nicklaus, for example, or defending champion Jerry Barber, Gary Player, Billy Casper, Gene Littler, Jay Hebert or a dozen or so others who could win almost any tournament.

But no one in recent years has dominated professional golf to the extent that Palmer does. He has to be tabbed as favorite every time he starts. So far this year Palmer has won the British Open title—only last week—the Masters and five other U.S. tournaments and lost the U.S. Open title in a playoff to Nicklaus.

An oddity of the pairings sends these two out together for the first two rounds over the 7,045-yard, par 35-35—70 Aronomink course in Philadelphia's "Main Line" suburban area. They also played together in the National Open and in the Western Open. Nicklaus, who had an unhappy week in Scotland while Palmer was registering his latest victory, professes to be delighted.

"If you can play with Palmer and stay even with him or ahead of him, you know you're doing pretty well. He's never far behind," said the blond Ohio youngster.

Scheffel Scores Win at Accord

Bill Scheffel was the winner of the feature limited sportsmen race Sunday at Accord Speedway. Donnie Smith was the stock feature winner.

Heat winners in the stock division were Herbert Budd, Floyd Curry and Donnie Smith. Limited sportsmen heat winners were Bill Scheffel, Clayton Barringer and Harold Montanye Jr.

Consolation stock winners were Floyd Rose and Harold Wood. Limited sportsmen consolation winners were Ben Stephens and Gordon Aldrich.

Scheffel's winning time was 60 miles per hour.

BLAA! BLAA! BLAA!—This is baseball at its noisiest. Plate umpire Bobby Haack is ignoring the ire of Tulsa catcher Hank Kuhlmann after he was ejected from a game against El Paso for protesting Haack's calls on balls and strikes. The El Paso Sun Kings, despite the beef, went on to beat the Oilers and take first place in the Texas League.

Allen to Defend State Golf Title

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Don Allen of Rochester put his title on the line today in first-round play in the New York State Amateur Golf Championship.

There were 127 aspirants for Allen's crown, which he took last year from John P. Konsek II.

Allen was paired against Thomas Tolfa of Utica on the rolling, drought-baked Glens Falls Country Club course. The prolonged dry spell has parched fairways, improving conditions for long rolls and lower scores.

However, pro Danny Williams said about half the fairways had been kept watered with sprinklers and the greens were fast.

Today's field included one member of the Konsek family. John P. Konsek Jr., father of the three-time titlist, was pitted against Henry Ryer of Glens Falls.

Among the familiar faces in the first-round scramble are John Ward of Syracuse, twice runner-up but never the champion, and veteran Lloyd Ribner of White Plaints.

The newer hopefuls included 17-year-old Bill Snyder of Troy, former State Boys' champion, and Peter Famiano of Schenectady, the 1961 State Junior champion.

The match-play tournament continues through Sunday.

Fights Last Night

READING, Pa.—Len Matthews, 137¾, Philadelphia, knocked out Jimmy McMillan, 142, Trenton, N.J., 3.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—Bob Young, 170, Providence, R.I., outpointed Floyd McCoy, 172, New York, 10.

Mohawks Topple Iroquois, 8-1

Scoring all their runs in the second and third innings, the Mohawks rapped the Iroquois, 8-1, in a Metropolitan Knothole League game yesterday.

Chico Greenige was the winning hurler and Gene Wagner took the loss.

	R	H
Iroquois	001 000—1	5
Mohawks	062 00x—8	7

Gene Wagner, Gary Lucas and Mike Mayone; Chick Greenige, Billy Pluegh and John Gumaer.

District Little League Tourney Starts Thursday

District Little League playoff action is scheduled to start Thursday night with five games listed.

Kerbonkson and Woodstock will meet at the Town of Ulster diamond; Highland plays Fallsburgh at Kerbonkson; Rondout Valley and Pine Bush will meet at Ellenville; Kingston National faces Town of Esopus at the Kingston American field and Kingston Jaycees play the Town of Ulster at the Kingston National League diamond.

Action continues on Friday with semi-finals slated for Saturday and the finals for Tuesday, July 24.

Cramer's 78 Low In Northeastern

Margaret (Sis) Cramer of Antlers (Amsterdam) carded a 37-41-78 to score her third Northeastern Women's Golf Association victory of the season, Tuesday at Onteora CC in Tannersville.

The current district champion finished one stroke ahead of Mrs. Gerald Hallenbeck, Catskill, who shot 40-39-79. She was the only other in the field breaking 80. Gail Sykes, Ballston, took the net award with 71, her handicap being 13.

Class B gross winner was Mrs. Robert Baker, Normanside, with 91. The net winner was Mrs. Glenn Ryder, Edison, 93-24-69.

Mrs. Henry Blatner, association president, has announced that entries close next Tuesday for the district championship, Aug. 6-10, at Troy C.C. Mrs. Douglas Coupe, Schuyler Meadows, is the chairman.

Next week's event will take place at Stockbridge.

RENO, Nev.—Mills Lane, 139, Reno, stopped Al Carroll, 138, Sacramento, Calif., 5.

Elks Club Gets 6-4 BRL Win

Eddie Mills pitched a five-hitter and the Elks Club nipped the Masons, 6-4, in a Babe Ruth game last night at Dietz Stadium.

The winners scored the clinching runs in the fifth frame on five straight singles. The Masons came back with three in the sixth but they weren't enough.

Mills walked four and struck out eight. Loser Brian Bach gave up eight hits, walked three and fanned seven.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainnard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

I'm an impressive 70' brick ranch, affording beauty in Woodstock. I'm situated on a 1 acre site with trees and expensive landscaping. I contain 1700 square ft. of better workmanship, divided into 8 well proportioned rooms including a glass enclosed family room overlooking a secluded yard. I also have a brick walled living room fireplace and wood paneling. For something out of the ordinary in a luxury home I say "Buy Me." I am expensive but do not cost much. My owner wants $26,250, and take my word I'M WORTH IT.

BUY ME

I'm an impressive 70' brick ranch, affording beauty in Woodstock. I'm situated on a 1 acre site with trees and expensive landscaping. I contain 1700 square ft. of better workmanship, divided into 8 well proportioned rooms including a glass enclosed family room overlooking a secluded yard. I also have a brick walled living room fireplace and wood paneling. For something out of the ordinary in a luxury home I say "Buy Me." I am expensive but do not cost much. My owner wants $26,250, and take my word I'M WORTH IT.

HRSH Is Taking Steps to Transfer Proper to Beacon

Requests have been made to the State Department of Mental Hygiene to take immediate steps to transfer Jack Proper, 19-year-old Hudson River State Hospital patient, to the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Beacon.

Proper was accused by State Police of driving a stolen car involved in a fatal highway crash at Rhinebeck the night of July 7. Herman Springhorn, Hyde Park, driver of another involved in the collision, was killed.

Dr. Robert C. Hunt, director of the HRSH, said that although Proper is certified to be insane in a civil sense, it is possible that he could stand trial if indicted by a grand jury.

Dr. Hunt noted that the next step is for the Department of Mental Hygiene to make application to Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, or County Judge W. Vincent Grady for appointment of a commission to examine Proper.

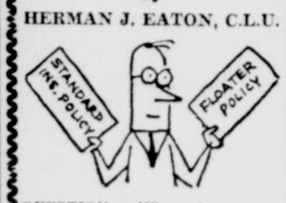
If the commission should find Proper dangerously mentally defective, the court could sign an order transferring him to the Beacon institution.

Asks Money for Subway

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transit Authority has asked the city for money to build a $197 million high-speed, nonstop subway line from Manhattan to the Bronx.

Now you Know!

The answers to everyday insurance problems* by HERMAN J. EATON, C.L.U.



QUESTION: Why do people buy what they call Floater insurance for furs and cameras and jewelry? Can't things like that be included in other insurance?

ANSWER: Yes, they can but insurance companies have designed special forms of insurance which protects things like the items you mentioned from many kinds of loss—not just fire and theft. Usually it's so inexpensive it pays to buy it.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Shower Outlook Good by 21st

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Pleasantly moderate temperatures and mostly fair weather is expected during the next three or four days. Conditions for scattered showers will be more favorable by Saturday or Sunday. Temperatures will continue to average a degree or two below normal.

Western New York — Temperatures will average 5-10 degrees below normal. Little day-to-day variation in temperature. Precipitation will be light with total rainfall generally less than one-tenth inch as isolated showers.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 78-84. Nighttime lows 59-63.

Pleas Mounting As NE Drought Enters 4th Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A northeastern drought that is drying up farm land and toasting pastures brown has entered its fourth week with mounting pleas for governmental assistance.

Some showers were predicted for parts of the afflicted area today, but many farmers insisted that even excessive rainfall could not undue damage already done.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has designated 22 counties in Pennsylvania as federal disaster areas and is considering the plight of 18 other counties in that state.

Eight New Jersey counties have been declared federal disaster areas. Farmers in a 24-county area of New York State are clamoring for similar treatment. The 24 counties represent more than seven million acres and include 38,000 of New York State's 80,000 farms.

A federal disaster area declaration makes it possible for affected farmers to obtain aid in the form of low-interest loans and permission to use lands retired in the soil bank.

Several small towns in New Jersey have placed mild controls on domestic water use because of low reservoirs. No community, however, is reported to have a dangerously low water supply.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes awaited federal action aimed at relieving a drought-caused feed shortage that he says is swelling hay prices to black market proportions.

In New England, the drought situation eased somewhat last week when showers and cooler weather moved in.

However, the threat of forest fires remained constant throughout the northeast, and in many sections planes stood by with water bombs.

Defeat of 12 GOPers Big Aim

Congress Coalition Sure To Be Target of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appears almost certain to hit the campaign trail this fall with a drive aimed at breaking up the coalition bent on scuttling his program in Congress.

A Republican-Southern Democratic federation flexed its muscles in the Senate Tuesday and knocked into the ash can by a 52-48 vote the Kennedy program for health care of the elderly financed through Social Security.

More Angered by Senate

The crucial countdown showed 31 Republicans and 21 Democrats —17 of them Southerners—against the Kennedy proposal. It got the support of 43 Democrats and five Republicans.

Because he had tabbed this as the top issue in this year's elections, Kennedy obviously was more angered by the Senate action than previous defeats by a House coalition which killed his tight-controls farm bill and his plan to set up a department of urban affairs.

The President read to reporters at the White House a statement in which he said rejection of his health care plan was "a most serious defeat for every American family."

He added significantly: "We have to decide in the congressional election whether we want to stand still or support this legislation for the benefit of the people."

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota translated this to mean that Kennedy personally will carry the fight to the people.

Seen as Major Issue

"This will become the major issue of the 1962 campaign and I expect the President will redouble his efforts for it," Humphrey said.

Chairman John M. Bailey of the Democratic National Committee accused the Republicans of "reckless partisan obstruction."

He said in a statement: "This obstruction will be an important issue in this fall's campaign. The Republicans have shown clearly that they want this country to stop. President Kennedy and the Democrats want it to go.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he doesn't fear the results of any such Democratic drive. He is a candidate for re-election.

Nobody expected Kennedy to campaign against any Democrat. His sights, then, would be set on the defeat of a dozen Republicans who opposed his plan and are seeking election.

This list includes Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont, Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Joseph S. Bottum Jr. of South Dakota, Homer Capehart of Indiana, Frank Carlson and James B. Pearson of Kansas, Norris Cotton and Maurice J. Murphy of New Hampshire, Dirksen, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

HRSH Is Taking Steps to Transfer Proper to Beacon

Requests have been made to the State Department of Mental Hygiene to take immediate steps to transfer Jack Proper, 19-year-old Hudson River State Hospital patient, to the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Beacon.

Proper was accused by State Police of driving a stolen car involved in a fatal highway crash at Rhinebeck the night of July 7. Herman Springhorn, Hyde Park, driver of another involved in the collision, was killed.

Dr. Robert C. Hunt, director of the HRSH, said that although Proper is certified to be insane in a civil sense, it is possible that he could stand trial if indicted by a grand jury.

Dr. Hunt noted that the next step is for the Department of Mental Hygiene to make application to Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, or County Judge W. Vincent Grady for appointment of a commission to examine Proper.

If the commission should find Proper dangerously mentally defective, the court could sign an order transferring him to the Beacon institution.

Asks Money for Subway

QUESTION: Why do people buy what they call Floater insurance for furs and cameras and jewelry? Can't things like that be included in other insurance?

ANSWER: Yes, they can but insurance companies have designed special forms of insurance which protects things like the items you mentioned from many kinds of loss—not just fire and theft. Usually it's so inexpensive it pays to buy it.

Shower Outlook Good by 21st

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Pleasantly moderate temperatures and mostly fair weather is expected during the next three or four days. Conditions for scattered showers will be more favorable by Saturday or Sunday. Temperatures will continue to average a degree or two below normal.

Western New York — Temperatures will average 5-10 degrees below normal. Little day-to-day variation in temperature. Precipitation will be light with total rainfall generally less than one-tenth inch as isolated showers.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 78-84. Nighttime lows 59-63.

Pleas Mounting As NE Drought Enters 4th Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A northeastern drought that is drying up farm land and toasting pastures brown has entered its fourth week with mounting pleas for governmental assistance.

Some showers were predicted for parts of the afflicted area today, but many farmers insisted that even excessive rainfall could not undue damage already done.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has designated 22 counties in Pennsylvania as federal disaster areas and is considering the plight of 18 other counties in that state.

Eight New Jersey counties have been declared federal disaster areas. Farmers in a 24-county area of New York State are clamoring for similar treatment. The 24 counties represent more than seven million acres and include 38,000 of New York State's 80,000 farms.

A federal disaster area declaration makes it possible for affected farmers to obtain aid in the form of low-interest loans and permission to use lands retired in the soil bank.

Several small towns in New Jersey have placed mild controls on domestic water use because of low reservoirs. No community, however, is reported to have a dangerously low water supply.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes awaited federal action aimed at relieving a drought-caused feed shortage that he says is swelling hay prices to black market proportions.

In New England, the drought situation eased somewhat last week when showers and cooler weather moved in.

However, the threat of forest fires remained constant throughout the northeast, and in many sections planes stood by with water bombs.

Defeat of 12 GOPers Big Aim

Congress Coalition Sure To Be Target of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appears almost certain to hit the campaign trail this fall with a drive aimed at breaking up the coalition bent on scuttling his program in Congress.

A Republican-Southern Democratic federation flexed its muscles in the Senate Tuesday and knocked into the ash can by a 52-48 vote the Kennedy program for health care of the elderly financed through Social Security.

More Angered by Senate

The crucial countdown showed 31 Republicans and 21 Democrats —17 of them Southerners—against the Kennedy proposal. It got the support of 43 Democrats and five Republicans.

Because he had tabbed this as the top issue in this year's elections, Kennedy obviously was more angered by the Senate action than previous defeats by a House coalition which killed his tight-controls farm bill and his plan to set up a department of urban affairs.

The President read to reporters at the White House a statement in which he said rejection of his health care plan was "a most serious defeat for every American family."

He added significantly: "We have to decide in the congressional election whether we want to stand still or support this legislation for the benefit of the people."

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota translated this to mean that Kennedy personally will carry the fight to the people.

Seen as Major Issue

"This will become the major issue of the 1962 campaign and I expect the President will redouble his efforts for it," Humphrey said.

Chairman John M. Bailey of the Democratic National Committee accused the Republicans of "reckless partisan obstruction."

He said in a statement: "This obstruction will be an important issue in this fall's campaign. The Republicans have shown clearly that they want this country to stop. President Kennedy and the Democrats want it to go.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he doesn't fear the results of any such Democratic drive. He is a candidate for re-election.

Nobody expected Kennedy to campaign against any Democrat. His sights, then, would be set on the defeat of a dozen Republicans who opposed his plan and are seeking election.

This list includes Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont, Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Joseph S. Bottum Jr. of South Dakota, Homer Capehart of Indiana, Frank Carlson and James B. Pearson of Kansas, Norris Cotton and Maurice J. Murphy of New Hampshire, Dirksen, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

HRSH Is Taking Steps to Transfer Proper to Beacon

Requests have been made to the State Department of Mental Hygiene to take immediate steps to transfer Jack Proper, 19-year-old Hudson River State Hospital patient, to the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Beacon.

Proper was accused by State Police of driving a stolen car involved in a fatal highway crash at Rhinebeck the night of July 7, Herman Springhorn, Hyde Park, driver of another involved in the collision, was killed.

Dr. Robert C. Hunt, director of the HRSH, said that although Proper is certified to be insane in a civil sense, it is possible that he could stand trial if indicted by a grand jury.

Dr. Hunt noted that the next step is for the Department of Mental Hygiene to make application to Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, or County Judge W. Vincent Grady for appointment of a commission to examine Proper.

If the commission should find Proper dangerously mentally defective, the court could sign an order transferring him to the Beacon institution.

Asks Money for Subway

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transit Authority has asked the city for money to build a $197 million high-speed, nonstop subway line from Manhattan to the Bronx.

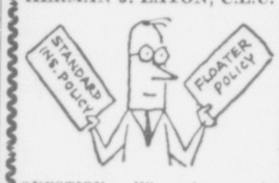
The answers to everyday insurance problems* by HERMAN J. EATON, C.L.U.



QUESTION: Why do people buy what they call Floater insurance for furs and cameras and jewelry? Can't things like that be included in other insurance?

ANSWER: Yes, they can but insurance companies have designed special forms of insurance which protects things like the items you mentioned from many kinds of loss—not just fire and theft. Usually it's so inexpensive it pays to buy it.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Shower Outlook Good by 21st

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Pleasantly moderate temperatures and mostly fair weather is expected during the next three or four days. Conditions for scattered showers will be more favorable by Saturday or Sunday. Temperatures will continue to average a degree or two below normal.

Western New York — Temperatures will average 5-10 degrees below normal. Little day-to-day variation in temperature. Precipitation will be light with total rainfall generally less than one-tenth inch as isolated showers.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 78-84. Nighttime lows 59-63.

Pleas Mounting As NE Drought Enters 4th Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A northeastern drought that is drying up farm land and toasting pastures brown has entered its fourth week with mounting pleas for governmental assistance.

Some showers were predicted for parts of the afflicted area today, but many farmers insisted that even excessive rainfall could not undue damage already done.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has designated 22 counties in Pennsylvania as federal disaster areas and is considering the plight of 18 other counties in that state.

Eight New Jersey counties have been declared federal disaster areas. Farmers in a 24-county area of New York State are clamoring for similar treatment. The 24 counties represent more than seven million acres and include 38,000 of New York State's 80,000 farms.

A federal disaster area declaration makes it possible for affected farmers to obtain aid in the form of low-interest loans and permission to use lands retired in the soil bank.

Several small towns in New Jersey have placed mild controls on domestic water use because of low reservoirs. No community, however, is reported to have a dangerously low water supply.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes awaited federal action aimed at relieving a drought-caused feed shortage that he says is swelling hay prices to black market proportions.

In New England, the drought situation eased somewhat last week when showers and cooler weather moved in.

However, the threat of forest fires remained constant throughout the northeast, and in many sections planes stood by with water bombs.

Defeat of 12 GOPers Big Aim

Congress Coalition Sure To Be Target of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appears almost certain to hit the campaign trail this fall with a drive aimed at breaking up the coalition bent on scuttling his program in Congress.

A Republican-Southern Democratic federation flexed its muscles in the Senate Tuesday and knocked into the ash can by a 52-48 vote the Kennedy program for health care of the elderly financed through Social Security.

More Angered by Senate

The crucial countdown showed 31 Republicans and 21 Democrats —17 of them Southerners—against the Kennedy proposal. It got the support of 43 Democrats and five Republicans.

Because he had tabbed this as the top issue in this year's elections, Kennedy obviously was more angered by the Senate action than previous defeats by a House coalition which killed his tight-controls farm bill and his plan to set up a department of urban affairs.

The President read to reporters at the White House a statement in which he said rejection of his health care plan was "a most serious defeat for every American family."

He added significantly: "We have to decide in the congressional election whether we want to stand still or support this legislation for the benefit of the people."

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota translated this to mean that Kennedy personally will carry the fight to the people.

Seen as Major Issue

"This will become the major issue of the 1962 campaign and I expect the President will redouble his efforts for it," Humphrey said.

Chairman John M. Bailey of the Democratic National Committee accused the Republicans of "reckless partisan obstruction."

He said in a statement: "This obstruction will be an important issue in this fall's campaign. The Republicans have shown clearly that they want this country to stop. President Kennedy and the Democrats want it to go.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he doesn't fear the results of any such Democratic drive. He is a candidate for re-election.

Nobody expected Kennedy to campaign against any Democrat. His sights, then, would be set on the defeat of a dozen Republicans who opposed his plan and are seeking election.

This list includes Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont, Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Joseph S. Bottum Jr. of South Dakota, Homer Capehart of Indiana, Frank Carlson and James B. Pearson of Kansas, Norris Cotton and Maurice J. Murphy of New Hampshire, Dirksen, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.
